Related Categories Julia Nintemann, Maja Robbers, Nicole Hober, 2020-07-20 As a follow up study to the global comparison of spatial interrogatives Studia Typologica 20 the present book examines the spatial declarative counterparts which are provided by the expression class of spatial deictic adverbs In a functionally motivated typological approach equivalents of Early Modern English here hither hence and there thither thence are identified across a sample of 250 languages from all macro areas These are also quantitatively assessed to extrapolate areal and global trends of coding patterns The formal relationships between spatial interrogative and spatial declarative paradigms are analyzed with a focus on the syncretism of categories and of individual cells Qualitative discussions of patterns precede in depth treatments of problematic cases and other relevant issues related to the research topic The quantitative results strongly point to areal linguistic trends concerning the distribution of distinct and non distinct coding of the three spatial relations Place Goal and Source Additional aspects such as quantitative evaluations of constructional complexity are addressed subsequently Atlas of the World's Languages R.E. Asher, Christopher Moseley, 2018-04-19 Before the first appearance of the Atlas of the World's Languages in 1993 all the world's languages had never been accurately and completely mapped The Atlas depicts the location of every known living language including languages on the point of extinction This fully revised edition of the Atlas offers up to date research some from fieldwork in early 2006 a general linguistic history of each section an overview of the genetic relations of the languages in each section statistical and sociolinguistic information a large number of new or completely updated maps further reading and a bibliography for each section a cross referenced language index of over 6 000 languages Presenting contributions from international scholars covering over 6 000 languages and containing over 150 full colour maps the Atlas of the World's Languages is the definitive reference resource for every linguistic and reference library Compendium of the World's Languages George L. Syllable Weight Matthew Gordon, 2007-05-07 The book is the first systematic exploration of a series of phonological phenomena previously thought to be unified under the rubric of syllable weight Drawing on a typological survey of 400 languages it is shown that the traditional conception that languages are internally consistent in their weight criteria across weight based processes is not corroborated by the cross linguistic survey Rather than being consistent across phenomena within individual languages weight turns out to be sensitive to the particular processes involved such that different phenomena display different distributions in weight criteria The book goes on to explore the motivations behind the process specific nature of weight showing that phonetic factors explain much of the variation in weight criteria between phenomena and also the variation in criteria between languages for a single process The book is unlike other studies in combining an extensive typological survey with detailed phonetic analysis of many languages The finding that the widely studied phenomenon of syllable weight is not a unified phenomenon contrary to the established view is a significant result for the field of theoretical phonology The book is also an important contribution to the field of phonetically driven phonology since it establishes a close link between the phonology of weight and various quantitative phonetic parameters

Spatial Interrogatives in Europe and Beyond Thomas Stolz, Nataliya Levkovych, Aina Urdze, Julia Nintemann, Maja Robbers, 2017-08-07 The extant generalizations about the grammar of space rely heavily on the analyses of declarative sentences There is a need to check whether these generalizations also hold in the domain of interrogation To this end this book analyzes data from some 450 languages including non standard varieties The focus is on paradigms of spatial interrogatives such as English where whither and whence and their internal organization These paradigms are checked for recurrent patterns of morphological mismatches such as syncretism and different degrees of complexity e.g. the number of segments The data base consists of a large parallel literary corpus Le petit prince and translations thereof which is complemented by further sources of information such as descriptive grammars The data are analyzed from a synchronic perspective However diachronic issues are addressed unsystematically too It is shown that the distribution of phenomena which characterize paradigms of spatial interrogatives are subject to areal linguistic factors This is the first typological study of spatial interrogatives It provides new insights for students of the grammar of space morphological paradigms and language typology

Survey on a Shoestring Frank Blair, 1990 Shows how to conduct sociolinguistic surveys on a small scale without access to funding sometimes available to national language planners Prepares to train people with little background in social research methodology Spells out how those primarily concerned with local languages can learn to make informed decisions about language choice at local levels Provides invaluable background on bilingualism and language use and attitudes Shows how bilingualism develops and is maintained in different situations Describes several methods for testing dialect comprehensibility in considerable detail and gives advantages and disadvantages of each It combines academic sophistication with realism and is a major contribution for conducting sociolinguistic surveys in general      Can Literacy
