Fred C Pampel, Fred C. Pampel, 2009 Praise for the previous edition Tobacco Counters Health (Vol. 4) A.K. Verma (ed. By), 2006 The book entitled Tobacco Counters Health edited by A K Verma gives a detailed account of the proceedings of World Assembly on Tobacco Counters Health held from 5 9 December 2005 in New Delhi India Volume 4 includes selected manuscripts from the scientific deliberations of the 4th World Assembly They cover a large field of tobacco related problems related to public health spread over fields like oncology cardiology pulmonology Social and Moral Research and their Management thus stressing the difficulties in and laying stress on prevention Realising that one fourth lung cancer deaths are due to the use of tobacco the volume aims at carrying the message to the widest section of the Public The book is essential for not only those engaged in medical sciences but even for the general public Public Health Branding W Douglas Evans, Gerard Hastings, 2008-09-11 Brands are designed to build relationships between consumers and the products services or organizations they represent by providing added value to their objects Through brand promotion consumers form associations with brands which can become established and lead to a long term relationship between the product service or organization and consumer Similarly public health brands are the associations that individuals hold for health behaviours or lifestyles Public health branding building positive associations with healthy behaviours and lifestyle choices is the primary strategy by which commercial marketing is applied in health communication and social marketing This book examines theory and best practices of branding and its application in public health programs Through a series of reviews and case studies the book argues that branding is an emerging public health strategy that needs resources and continued development of innovative methodologies to effect lasting population level change In recent years public health branding has been successfully applied across a wide range of chronic and infectious disease issues and behaviours from tobacco control to HIV AIDS and globally across the developed and developing world Branding is an important strategy for public health because it can address multiple behaviours simultaneously and most health risks stem from multiple behaviours and complex lifestyle choices Promoting healthy lifestyles is the key outcome for public health thus making the development of improved branding strategies a critical objective for the field Interventions For Addiction Annette Kaufman, Yvonne Hunt, 2013-05-20
Pediatric Prevention of Atherosclerotic Cardiovascular Disease Ronald M. Lauer, Trudy L. Burns, Stephen R. Daniels, 2006 Most epidemiologic studies of risk factors for atherosclerosis have been conducted in adult populations yet there is now evidence that the vascular disease process begins at a young age This book reviews recent findings that allow physicians to identify and manage children and adolescents who are at the highest risk for the development of premature cardiovascular disease in later life It covers cholesterol levels blood pressure body size obesity coronary artery calcification and carotid artery thickness and discusses the identification familial aggregation tracking and management of each of these risk factors

Children at Risk Arthur V. Carrington, 2002 There was a day when society shielded its children from the often cruel world At least in the so called developed countries the exposure of children to the worst perversions society can conjure up has never been greater Children have reached the exalted level of being treated seduced and targeted to as a market This bibliography brings together the literature providing access by subject groupings as well as author and title indexes An

Up in Smoke Martha Derthick, 2005 In a landmark report by the U S Surgeon General in 1964 the government warned its citizens of the adverse effects of smoking on their health and took a series of steps to discourage smoking These steps stemmed from ordinary politics that is actions taken or authorized by legislatures 1994 heralded a new era in tobacco politics of adversarial legalism wherein state attorneys general sued leading cigarette manufacturers for the harm they had done to public health These law suits culminated in the Master Settlement Agreement MSA that directed an estimated 250 billion to state governments over the next 25 years and imposed new marketing and advertising restrictions In her second edition Martha Derthick introduces new evidence from 5 years of experience under the MSA to show that the states were more interested in raising revenue than in improving tobacco control that the enrichment of wealthy tort lawyers violated the legal profession's ethics and that the agreement ironically spawned the rise of small upstart cigarette manufacturers able to undersell the major companies. In this clearly written fast-paced case study Derthick concludes that the tobacco lawsuits not only produced flawed public policy that flouted the American system of checks and balances but has done little to improve or better safeguard public health. Health Affairs, 2002 American Journal of Public Health, 2008 BMJ, 2001

Health Program Planning: An Educational and Ecological Approach Lawrence Green, Marshall Kreuter, 2005 This classic text by the creators of the PRECEDE PROCEED model provides a comprehensive overview of the principles and processes of health promotion planning. It is an invaluable up-to-date resource for students and practitioners in any discipline whose programs will include a significant health education or health promotion component. Each chapter includes references and extensive endnotes from the most current literature and is backed by the authors' reputations as leading researchers and practitioners in the field. The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2004 Preventing Harmful Substance Use Tim Stockwell, 2005 The prevention of harm from drug use, both legal and illegal, is a major concern to government departments and clinicians throughout the world. Recently much new research has been conducted regarding global levels and patterns of drug-related harm on common risk factors with other social problems, e.g. mental health, crime, and on the effectiveness of a wide range of intervention strategies. There is a need to summarise and synthesise this new knowledge for use in a range of disciplines. Preventing Harmful Substance Use offers the most comprehensive and up-to-date advice available on the prevention of drug and alcohol abuse. Contributors provide authoritative science-based reviews of knowledge on their areas of expertise and make clear recommendations for the future of prevention policy and practice. A final section draws the work together and offers a framework for an integrated science of prevention.
