Automotive Paint from Prep to Final Coat JoAnn Bortles, 2014-07-15
Solvent based paints have been used in automotive applications since the days when automobiles were called buggies and the horsepower was provided by well horses. But recent EPA regulations have restricted solvent based paints for use only in approved professional paint booths meaning that do it yourselfers can no longer use them and it won't be long before their use is banned entirely. Paint manufacturers have raced to develop water based paints as a replacement for the solvent based paints previously used. These new water based automotive paints are of very high quality but they require different methods and techniques for proper application virtually rendering previous automotive paint books obsolete.
Automotive Paint from Prep to Final Coat is the first book to provide instruction in these new paints. In addition to this critical information, author and top professional painter JoAnn Bortles covers all the techniques necessary to get the great results your car deserves. From initial body panel preparation to troubleshooting common problems to application of the final coat and all steps in between, this book is the only reference you will need to ensure your DIY automotive paint job is done right the first time.

Colour and Light in the Ocean, volume II Shubha Sathyendranath, Gemma Kulk, Astrid Bracher, Jamie Shutler, Victor Martinez-Vicente, Tiit Kutser, Javier A. Concha, Marie-Helene Rio, Heather Bouman, 2024-11-12
Marine ecosystems are open and dissipative systems that rely on an external energy source, light, for their sustenance. The magnitude of the light flux and the spectral quality of the light field, which determines colour, determine the rate of marine photosynthesis by phytoplankton in the ocean and the types of phytoplankton communities that flourish in different parts of the ocean and in different seasons. Ocean colour, determined by the spectral quality of light scattered out of the sea and back into the atmosphere, can be monitored using satellite sensors and used to map the distribution of the major phytoplankton pigment, chlorophyll a, at global scales. Remote sensing of ocean colour, first realised in 1977, has revolutionised the field of biological oceanography. Over the years, the quality of satellite products has continued to improve and the range of products available has extended beyond chlorophyll concentration to encompass many variables of interest to biological oceanography and ocean biogeochemistry. However, it is well recognized that satellite observations have to be integrated with and complemented by field measurements and modelling to obtain the full picture. The research topic proposed will cover a range of recent developments in ocean colour remote sensing and allied fields.
