nationalists and Christian evangelists to reshape Sri Lanka's religious economic and political landscapes. She considers theological and political impasses between Buddhism's vast timescales of karma and Christians' promises of the immediacy of their God's salvific grace. While Christian missions spread the Good News, subsets of Buddhists produced bad press, sting operations, and disparaging media to impede born-again churches from taking root. In gripping detail, Mahadev recounts how modernist and traditionalist Theravada Buddhists, Pentecostal newcomers, long-established Christian denominations, local deity and spirit cults, and the innovations of mavericks intermingle in a multireligious public sphere. Even amid trenchant conflicts, Karma and Grace demonstrates that social proximity between rivals is also conducive to religious experimentation and the ambiguities of identity that allow Sri Lankans to live with difference. Europe Old and New Ray Taras, 2008-07-31

Is Europe indeed uniting or instead falling apart as a result of anti-immigrant prejudices, a massive Islamic influx, and ancient intra-European hatreds? This innovative and engaging book explores this key question by examining the national and religious phobias and prejudices, antipathies and sympathies, stereotypes and heterotypes of Europe west and east. Considering the sources of Europe's culture-based divide, Ray Taras argues that the idea of two Europes is grounded both in reality and myth. The accession process that brought a dozen new members into the European Union after 2004 highlighted the persisting gulf between old and new Europe. While many concrete borders between east and west were removed, commercial, legal, passport regimes, many remained. Absence of a single Euro currency zone, labor market, and security community. Virtual borders too were invented or reimagined. The postmaterialist, inclusionary, tolerant values supposedly found in old Europe versus the materialist, nationalistic, xenophobic ones of new Europe. After reviewing the two Europes' contrasting historical legacies, Taras examines the EU institutions designed to overcome the historical European divide. He considers the treaties, political rhetoric, citizen attitudes, and literary narratives of belonging and separation that both bind and fray the fabric of Europe. Throughout this interdisciplinary work, he provides a comprehensive, hard-hitting, and unabashed review of how enlarged Europe embraces contrasting understandings of its political home and of who belongs and who does not. Millennial monuments for the past and the future Eszter Gábor, Albert Schickedanz, Szépművészeti Múzeum (Hungary), 1996 Middle East Report, 1992 Screen, 2000 Compilation of Information on the Situation in Algeria, 1995 Home Office Life Lisa Kanarek, 2001 Shows and describes home offices in a variety of settings and styles and suggests ideas for storage, lighting, work surfaces, and ergonomic support.
