Gesundheitssysteme Stellen Sich Der Armut World Health Organization. Regional Office for Europe, 2003-08-20 Health care systems across the WHO European Region have done and are doing much to tackle the complex and daunting problem of poverty and health This book describes 12 initiatives already undertaken in 10 WHO Member States It documents WHO's preliminary findings on how health care systems can help to alleviate poverty and reaches three main conclusions health care systems can indeed take effective action to improve the health of the poor sometimes health care systems can actually represent an additional barrier for the poor and there is an urgent need for more knowledge training and capacity building in this area It is hoped that the information presented here will contribute to the efforts to improve health and increase equity by tackling poverty and its effects on health across the length and breadth of Europe

Global Education of Health Management William Edson Aaronson, Connie J. Evashwick, 2019-06-12 The purpose of this special issue is to provide insights about how healthcare executives and managers are educated around the world As globalization becomes the standard for all industries healthcare executives must be able to manage effectively with populations financial arrangements and technologies that cross geographic boundaries Education of upcoming students and continuing education of working executives must be broad and encompass a global perspective Students are increasingly eager to study abroad our educational programs must include opportunities for students to study in other countries and to have the information in advance that is necessary to make the experience meaningful Throughout the world health systems are grappling with the need to deliver high value healthcare and high quality services despite rapidly increasing costs The need for effective management to achieve these ends is well documented However healthcare management education is nascent or non-existent in many countries especially low and middle income countries that could benefit most from educating healthcare managers in the art and science of management and leadership This special issue strives to provide insights that might guide universities in developing healthcare management programs in their respective countries
