Competition Regulation And Convergence:

Competition, Regulation, and Convergence Sharon E. Gillett, Ingo Vogelsang, 1999-09-01 The telecommunications industry has experienced dynamic changes over the past several years and those exciting events and developments are reflected in the chapters of this volume The Telecommunications Policy Research Conference TPRC holds an unrivaled place at the center of national public policy discourse on issues in communications and information TPRC is one of the few places where multidisciplinary discussions take place as the norm The papers collected here represent the current state of research in telecommunication policy and are organized around four topics competition regulation universal service and convergence The contentious competition issues include bundling as a strategy in software competition combination bidding in spectrum auctions and anticompetitive behavior in the Internet Regulation takes up telephone number portability decentralized regulatory decision making versus central regulatory authority data protection restrictions to the flow of information over the Internet and failed Global Information Infrastructure initiatives Universal service addresses the persistent gap in telecommunications from a socioeconomic perspective the availability of competitive Internet access service and cost modeling The convergence section concentrates on the costs of Internet telephony versus circuit switched telephony the intertwined evolution of new services new technologies and new consumer equipment and the politically charged question of asymmetric regulation of Internet telephony and conventional telephone service Competition Law and Regional

Economic Integration Damien Geradin, 2004 Competition Law's Innovation Factor Viktoria H S E Robertson, 2020-02-06 In recent years market definition has come under attack as an analytical tool of competition law Scholars have increasingly questioned its usefulness and feasibility That criticism comes into sharper relief in dynamic innovation driven markets which do not correspond to the static markets on which the concept of the relevant market was modelled This book explores that controversy from a comparative legal perspective taking into account both EU competition and US antitrust law It examines the manifold ways in which courts and competition authorities in the EU and US have factored innovation related considerations into market delineation covering innovative product markets product differentiation future markets issues going beyond market definition proper such as innovation competition innovation markets and potential competition intellectual property rights innovative aftermarkets and multi sided platforms This book finds that going forward the role of market definition in dynamic contexts needs to focus on its function of market characterisation rather than on the assessment of market power Competition Or Convergence Gunter Weick, Günter Weick, 1999 The inspiration for this volume of essays is a British German conference held in 1998 in Rauischholzhausen Castle near Giessen Germany 15 authors from the United Kingdom and Germany deal with problems of competition and convergence of European legal systems in the context of important fields of law for example Constitutional Law and the law of ethnic minorities Criminal Law Telecommunication Law Contract Law Securities Law of Employment Law of Procedure and Health Law The Evolution of European

Competition Law Hanns Ullrich, 2006-01-01 Professor Ullrich is thoughtful and attracted star scholars from many countries so the papers and discussion are provocative and introduce recent economic thinking although many are written by lawyers The text is lucid and interesting the thought innovative and anyone seriously interested in competition policy should read these papers and the comments with pleasure Valentine Korah World Competition This collection of papers and comments deserves to be widely read and it should appeal to academics and practitioners alike The great mix of topics and the variety of views offered make this a very stimulating contribution to the discussion of the new paradigm of EC competition law the more economic approach and its implications for the application and interpretation of the various EU antitrust rules Thomas Eilmansberger European Law Journal The editor should be congratulated for bringing together this diverse group of scholars whose spirited disagreements remind one of the many challenges faced in exploring the role and function of competition law Giorgio Monti European Review of Contract Law With contributions from leading scholars from all over Europe and the US this book covers the major areas of substantive competition law from an evolutionary perspective The leitmotiv of the book has been to assess the dividing line between safeguarding and regulating competition which it does by reviewing the following subjects foundations of competition policy in the EU and the US strategic competition policy the evolution of European competition law from a national Italian perspective the block exemption of vertical agreements after four years the new Technology Transfer Block Exemption cooperative networking mergers in the media sector abuse of market power concepts of competition in sector specific regulation competition regulation and systems coherence efficiency claims in EU competition law and sector specific regulation The Evolution of European Competition Law will be of great interest to lawyers economists academics judges and public officials working in the fields of competition law and policy OECD

Journal of Competition Law and Policy, 2001 Convergence of Competition Laws and Policies in the European Community Michaela Drahos, 2001-02-20 Scholars have observed a gradual convergence of national European cartel laws towards EC competition law in recent years Furthermore most writers ascribe an important role in this convergence process to the influence of and pressure from the European Community This is a remarkable conclusion considering the diversity that could be noticed only decades ago and the fact that the European Community has taken no direct legal action to harmonise national competition laws These observations give rise to two questions First what is the extent of this convergence process and on which aspects do differences persist Secondly what have been the driving forces behind this development and especially what has been the role of the European Community in it The study concentrates on three countries namely Germany Austria and the Netherlands which represented different models only some decades ago The book aims at providing more insight into the development of competition policy in the EC and into the adaptation of national regulatory policy to EC law in general This book is of interest to lawyers political scientists and economists working in the field of competition policy as well as to scholars interested in European integration in general Competition Regulation and Policy at the World

Trade Organisation Fiona Marshall, 2010 Governmental barriers to trade have gradually been reduced and eliminated initially under the General Agreements on Tariffs and Trade GATT and now under the World Trade Organisation WTO leading to freer fairer and more competitive international trade However private barriers to trade still exist and are not currently addressed by any international agreement As a result the realisation of the goals of free and fair trade aims of the WTO have not completely come to fruition This work analyses the question of whether an international competition agreement to address private barriers should be negotiated from a competition perspective and a trade perspective Competition Law and Regional Economic Integration Damien Geradin, 2004 Dealing with the interface between competition law and economic integration in the context of the Euro Mediterranean partnership this study maps out key policy issues that should be addressed for successfully implementing or strengthening competition law regimes in Mediterranean Partner countries This regional study is prepared by the joint World Bank European Commission Programme on Private Participation in Mediterranean Infrastructure PPMI An Introductory Guide to EC Competition Law and Practice Valentine Korah, 1994 International Competition Enforcement Law Between Cooperation and Convergence Jörg Philipp Terhechte, 2011-03-24 The international dimensions of competition law and policy are most often examined at the level of substantive law In this legal area both intentional and spontaneous assimilation and harmonization trends can be recognized which manifest themselves e g in comparable approaches to combating particularly harmful restraints so called hardcore cartels However the complex terrain of enforcement law has been mainly ignored up to date Are there common approaches in this field as well How are the various competition laws linked with each other in respect to procedural norms This book conceptualizes International Competition Enforcement Law against the backdrop of these issues and at the level of comparative law The ciphers cooperation and convergence will serve as the two principle ideas for this book OECD Journal of Competition Law and Policy Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 1999 Convergence and Its Discontents Thomas K. Cheng, 2012 This Article examines the recent phenomenon of the convergence of competition law regimes across the globe The increasing harmonization of competition law at both the procedural and substantive levels has been widely discussed and applauded in recent years This Article casts doubt on the conventional wisdom that convergence necessarily constitutes a positive development in global competition law After analyzing the causes of the phenomenon this Article argues that there should be limits to the pursuit of convergence First the costs of convergence should not be overlooked The most important of such costs is the loss of national regulatory prerogative Second the multitude of goals that are pursued by different jurisdictions in their competition laws poses serious obstacles to convergence Finally the need to incorporate economic development considerations and cultural variations in market behavior further cautions against wholesale harmonization of competition laws Javnost, 2002 University of Toronto Faculty of Law Review, 1999 Annual Proceedings of the Fordham Competition Law Institute, 2010 Competition & Consumer Law Journal, 2000
