Development of the Redundant Defence Estate Fuller Peiser, 1999 This report is the result of an extensive study that was undertaken to review the existing policy context of Ministry of Defence MOD disposals in England and to advise Government on how it should seek to obtain value for money whilst having regard to the wider interest of Government The research process involved five main areas of work a literature search a review of all relevant policy guidance interviews and written consultations seminars for property professionals and nine detailed case studies

Exploding the Myth? Derek Braddon, 2014-02-25 From a cold war peak of some 1000 billion per annum world military expenditure has declined by about 40% since 1990 reaching its lowest level for thirty years With such significant decline in global public expenditure commitments to the defence sector a substantial and lasting peace dividend was anticipated Most governments believed that market forces left more or less to their own devices would deal effectively with this major exogenous shock and generate sufficient new economic activity to allow increased public expenditure on health education and welfare The approach of this book is to challenge the fundamental but flawed belief that a substantial and lasting peace dividend could be secured through market solution alone The principal assertion is that market adjustment by itself cannot deliver such a dividend The book focuses on the major aspects of the economic business and security consequences of post Cold War defence expenditure reduction Key problems obstructing optimal market response are identified and possible remedial action by government and others is considered

Industrial Development Through Small-firm Cooperation Frank Pyke, 1992 Based upon the experiences of a diverse set of countries including Denmark Egypt Germany Ghana Indonesia Italy Japan and the United States this analysis describes the elements of a model small firm network and sets out the conditions institutions and policies conducive to a successful strategy of upgrading industrial sectors It is a valuable source of ideas and experience on this innovative approach to industrial development

Arms Industry Limited Herbert Wulf, 1993 Arms Industry Limited is an empirical account of the size and structure of the world arms industry with special case studies of the United States the former Soviet Union Canada countries in both Western and Central Europe and countries in the less developed world and in the Asia Pacific region The book describes the various strategies which arms producing companies have adopted in order to meet the challenges and commitments of the post cold war world Governments are in the process of restructuring national armed forces and revising military equipment procurement plans Military budgets are tighter in many parts of the world affecting national arms production and arms exports The most common company strategies are to reduce the size of the firm and lay off employees to mothball production facilities to transnationalize firms and to convert firms to non military production While there are counter pressures to a decrease in the production and export of arms in the future companies will probably have to reduce their production capacities and number of employees even further The strong international pressure on governments to regulate arms exports particularly since the 1991 Persian Gulf War is also examined by the international group of experts who have contributed the case studies in the volume The Economist ,1878 Catalogue of ILO Publications in Print International Labour Office,1994 International Labour Review ,1991 The World Today ,1945 OECD Working Papers ,1994 国防省 (Japan),1900 Asian Bibliography ,1992 The Economic and Social Impact of Reductions in Defence Spending and Military Forces on the Regions of the Community Economists Advisory Group,1992 Recoge 1 Introduction 2 Overview of defense expenditure 3 Defense industries 4 Military bases 5 Regional dependence 6 Regional impact and response 7 References and data sources Library Acquisitions List Martin P.
