Democracy In Divided Societies Electoral Engineering For Conflict Management:

Democracy in Divided Societies Ben Reilly, 2001-09-13 Democracy is inherently difficult in societies divided along deep ethnic cleavages Elections in such societies will often encourage centrifugal politics which reward extremist ethnic appeals zero sum political behaviour and ethnic conflict and which consequently often lead to the breakdown of democracy Reilly examines the potential of electoral engineering as a mechanism of conflict management in divided societies He focuses on the little known experience of a number of divided societies which have used preferential vote pooling electoral systems such as Papua New Guinea Sri Lanka Northern Ireland and Fiji Examination of these cases shows that electoral systems which encourage bargaining between rival political actors which promote the development of broad based aggregative political parties and which present campaigning politicians with incentives to attract votes from a range of ethnic groups can under certain conditions encourage the development of moderate accommodatory political competition in divided societies

Democracy in Divided Societies Benjamin Reilly, 2001 Democracy is inherently difficult in societies divided along deep ethnic cleavages Elections in such societies will often encourage centrifugal politics which reward extremist ethnic appeals zero sum political behaviour and ethnic conflict and which consequently often lead to the breakdown of democracy Reilly examines the potential of electoral engineering as a mechanism of conflict management in divided societies He focuses on the little known experience of a number of divided societies which have used preferential vote pooling electoral systems such as Papua New Guinea Sri Lanka

Electoral Systems and Conflict in Divided Societies National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on International Conflict Resolution, Andrew Reynolds, Ben Reilly, 1999-05-20 This paper is one of a series being prepared for the National Research Council's Committee on International Conflict Resolution The committee was organized in late 1995 to respond to a growing need for prevention management and resolution of violent conflict in the international arena a concern about the changing nature and context of such conflict in the post Cold War era and a recent expansion of knowledge in the field The committee's main goal is to advance the practice of conflict resolution by using the methods and critical attitude of science to examine the effectiveness of various techniques and concepts that have been advanced for preventing managing and resolving international conflicts The committee's research agenda has been designed to supplement the work of other groups particularly the Carnegie Corporation of New York's Commission on Preventing Deadly Conflict which issued its final report in December 1997 The committee has identified a number of specific techniques and concepts of current interest to policy practitioners and has asked leading specialists on each one to carefully review and analyze available knowledge and to summarize what is known about the conditions under which each is or is not effective These papers present the results of their work with empirically rich illustrations to provide a state of the art overview of the contemporary debates on one of the most pervasive international security challenges today Fully updated for the second edition the book includes a new section which offers detailed analyses of contemporary cases of conflict such as in Ukraine Kosovo the African Great Lakes region and in the Kurdish areas across the Middle East thus providing accessible examples that bridge the gap between theory and practice The contributors offer a 360 degree perspective on ethnic conflict from the theoretical foundations of nationalism and ethnicity to the causes and consequences of ethnic conflict and to the various strategies adopted in response to it Without privileging any specific explanation of why ethnic conflict happens at a particular place and time or why attempts at preventing or settling it might fail or succeed The Routledge Handbook of Ethnic Conflict enables readers to gain a better insight into such defining moments in post Cold War international history as the disintegration of the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia and their respective consequences the genocide in Rwanda and the relative success of conflict settlement efforts in Northern Ireland By contributing to understanding the varied and multiple causes of ethnic conflicts and to learning from the successes and failures of their prevention and settlement the Handbook makes a powerful case that ethnic conflicts are neither unavoidable nor unresolvable but rather that they require careful analysis and thoughtful and measured responses

The Routledge Handbook of Ethnic Conflict Karl Cordell, Stefan Wolff, 2016-01-22 A definitive global survey of the interaction of ethnicity nationalism and politics this handbook blends rigorous theoretically grounded analysis

Diplomatic Counterinsurgency Philippe Leroux-Martin, 2013-12-26 War does not stop when the armed conflict ends This compelling eyewitness account of a key political crisis in Bosnia and Herzegovina in 2007 demonstrates how interventions from foreign powers to end armed conflict can create new forms of conflict that are not only as determined and resilient but can lead groups to challenge the power of fragile states through political and legal means Countering such challenges is an integral but often ignored part of peace processes How do these nonviolent wars evolve How can the power of fragile states be challenged through nonviolent means in the aftermath of armed conflict And what is the role of diplomacy in countering such challenges This book offers key insights for policy makers dealing with fragile states who seek answers to such questions

Routledge Handbook of Ethnic Conflict Karl Cordell, Stefan Wolff, 2010-10-18 A definitive global survey of the interaction of race ethnicity nationalism and politics this handbook blends theoretically grounded rigorous analysis with empirical illustrations to provide a state of the art overview of the contemporary debates on one of the most pervasive international security challenges today The contributors to this volume offer a 360 degree perspective on ethnic conflict from the theoretical foundations of nationalism and ethnicity to the causes and consequences of ethnic conflict and to the various strategies adopted in response to it Without privileging any specific explanation of why ethnic conflict happens at a specific place and time or why attempts at preventing or settling it might fail or succeed the Routledge Handbook of Ethnic Conflict enables readers to gain better insights into such defining moments in post Cold War international history as the disintegrations of the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia and their respective consequences and the genocide in Rwanda as well as the relative success of conflict settlement efforts in Northern Ireland Macedonia and Aceh By contributing to understanding the varied and multiple causes of ethnic conflicts and to learning from the successes and failures of its prevention and settlement the Handbook makes a powerful case that ethnic conflicts are neither unavoidable nor unresolvable but rather that they require careful analysis and thoughtful and measured responses

Institutional Reforms and Peacebuilding Nadine Ansorg, Sabine Kurtenbach, 2016-09-13 This book deals with the question how institutional reform can contribute to peacebuilding in post war and divided societies In the context of armed conflict and widespread violence two important questions shape political agendas inside and outside the affected societies How can we stop the violence And how can we prevent its recurrence Comprehensive negotiated war terminations and peace accords recommend a set of mechanisms to bring an end to war and establish peace including institutional reforms that promote democratization and state building Although the role of institutions is widely recognized their specific effects are highly contested in research as well as in practice This book highlights the necessity to include path dependency pre conflict institutions and societal divisions to understand the patterns of institutional change in post war societies and the ongoing risk of civil war recurrence It focuses on the general question of how institutional reform contributes to the establishment of peace in post war societies This book comprises three separate but interrelated parts on the relation between institutions and societal divisions on institutional reform and on security sector reform The chapters contribute to the understanding of the relationship between societal cleavages pre conflict institutions path dependency and institutional reform This book will be of much interest to students of peacebuilding conflict resolution development studies security studies and IR

Constitutional Law and the Politics of Ethnic Accommodation Bashir Mobasher, 2023-12-29 This book explores whether the legal and political institutions of Afghanistan were able to incorporate diverse ethnic groups into the political process Ethnic accommodation has gained central stage in the literature on institutional design and democratic consolidation However some divided societies are more explored than others and Afghanistan is one understudied country that is critically important for testing and improving our theories of institutional design in a democratizing plural society This work examines the Constitution of 2004 and those provisions of electoral laws and political party laws that together devised Afghan political institutions including those of the presidential system unitary government electoral systems as well as the party system It argues that due to their incongruence in design and effects the Afghan political institutions failed to fully accommodate ethnic groups in the political process This book adopts a holistic approach while also paying careful attention to the details of each of the individual pieces of political institutions designed by the Constitution of 2004 Taken together this approach yields insights into the boundaries and interactions of institutional design and how their interactions hinder or advance ethnic accommodation in varying contexts The book will be essential reading for academics researchers and policy makers interested in constitutional law and politics

Deliberative Democracy and Divided Societies Ian O'Flynn, 2006 In a world where the impact of internal conflicts is spreading ever wider there is a real need to rethink how democratic ideals and institutions can best be implemented This book responds to this challenge by showing that deliberative democracy has crucial but largely untapped normative implications for societies deeply divided along ethnic lines Its central claim is that deliberative norms and procedures can enable the citizens of such societies to build and sustain a stronger sense of common national identity More specifically it argues that the deliberative requirements of reciprocity and publicity can enable citizens and representatives to strike an appropriate balance between the need to recognise competing ethnic identities and the need to develop a common civic identity centred on the institutions of the state Although the book is primarily normative it supports its claims with a broad range of empirical examples drawn from cases such as Bosnia and Herzegovina Lebanon Macedonia Northern Ireland and South Africa It also considers the normative implications of deliberative democracy for questions of institutional design It argues that power sharing institutions should be conceived in a way that allows citizens as much freedom as possible to shape their own relation to the polity Crucially this freedom can enable them to reconstruct their relationship to each other and to the state in ways that ultimately strengthen and sustain the transition from ethnic conflict to democracy

Routledge Handbook of Comparative Political Institutions Jennifer Gandhi, Rubén Ruiz-Rufino, 2015-04-10 The Routledge Handbook of Comparative Political Institutions HCPI is designed to serve as a comprehensive reference guide to our accumulated knowledge and the cutting edge of scholarship about political institutions in the comparative context It differs from existing handbooks in that it focuses squarely on institutions but also discusses how they intersect with the study of mass behaviour and explain important outcomes drawing on the perspective of comparative politics The Handbook is organized into three sections The first section consisting of six chapters is organized around broad theoretical and empirical challenges affecting the study of institutions It highlights the major issues that emerge among scholars defining measuring and analyzing institutions The second section includes fifteen chapters each of which handles a different substantive institution of importance in comparative politics This section covers traditional topics such as electoral rules and federalism as well as less conventional but equally important areas including authoritarian institutions labor market institutions and the military Each chapter not only provides a summary of our current state of knowledge on the topic but also advances claims that emphasise the research frontier on the topic and that should encourage greater investigation The final section encompassing seven chapters examines the relationship between institutions and a variety of important outcomes such as political violence economic performance and voting behavior The idea is to consider what features of the political sociological and economic world we understand better because of the scholarly attention to institutions Featuring contributions from leading researchers in the field from the US UK Europe and elsewhere this Handbook will be of great interest to all students and scholars of political institutions political behaviour and comparative politics Jennifer Gandhi is Associate Professor Department of Political Science Emory University Rub n Ruiz Rufino is Lecturer in International Politics Department of Political Economy King s College London Asia-Pacific Issues ,2002 Electoral Conflict Management in Kenya
