Democratic Experiments in Africa Michael Bratton, Nicolas Van de Walle, 1997-08-13 Appendix The Data Set

Secularism Confronts Islamism Mohammad Affan, 2022-01-31 This book provides in depth examination of the recent confrontation between Islamists and secularists in Egypt and Tunisia Presenting a new approach to understand Islamism and secularism the research addresses the variables that could affect the outcome of transitional negotiations The secularist Islamist conflict proved to be a major hindrance for democratisation and a main source of political instability in the Middle East During the Arab Spring disputes between both political trends sparked shortly after getting rid of their common enemy the autocratic rulers First they disagreed on how to lead the transitional period Then polarisation grew deeper with the political competition in the parliamentary and presidential elections and the ideological disagreements during the drafting of the constitution Eventually this conflict put Tunisia at a verge of civil strife in the summer of 2013 and led to collapse of the transitional process in Egypt after the military coup Examining the causes of the conflict between the secularists and the Islamists during the transitional period the work provides new insights from the Arab Spring experience Updating the transition literature the book is a key resource to academics and students interested in democratization theory and Middle East politics

An Introduction to African Politics Alex Thomson, 2016-04-28 The fourth edition of An Introduction to African Politics is an ideal textbook for those new to the study of this fascinating continent It gets to the heart of the politics of this part of the world How is modern Africa still influenced by its colonial past How do strong ethnic and religious identities on the continent affect government Why has the military been so influential How does African democracy differ from democracy in the West These are the sorts of question tackled by the book The result is a textbook that identifies the essential features of African politics allowing students to grasp the recurring political patterns that have dominated this continent since independence Key features include Thematically organised with individual chapters exploring issues such as colonialism ethnicity nationalism religion social class ideology legitimacy authority sovereignty and democracy Identifies key recurrent themes such as the competitive relationships between the African state its civil society and external interests Contains useful boxed case studies at the end of each chapter including Kenya Tanzania Nigeria Botswana Cote d'Ivoire Uganda Somalia Ghana Democratic Republic of the Congo and Zimbabwe Each chapter concludes with key terms and definitions as well as questions and advice on further reading This textbook is essential reading for students seeking an accessible introduction to the complex social relationships and events that characterise the politics of post colonial Africa

The Politics of Institutional Failure in Madagascar's Third Republic Richard R. Marcus, 2016-02-10 Madagascar's constitution of August 19 1992 brought hope to a population exhausted by economic failures associated with a failed experiment in scientific socialism and years of mismanagement The repetition of transparent elections and the promulgation of good governance in the years that followed appeared to serve as an indicator of institutional strengthening and by extension progress Unfortunately a broader institutional analysis points toward a series of shocks to the political system by way of legal but highly detrimental juridical and constitutional shifts to the system These shocks were meant to serve particularized political networks with long clientalistic roots and were made possible by the narrow vision of institutionalism that did not take careful stock of those networks or the leaders at the top of them Little effort was made to look beyond a legislature brought in by careful elections but producing legislation serving individuals the ways in which inchoate political parties distort institutional outcomes and the potential for institutionalization the weakness of civil society to offer opportunities for popular engagement or the use of donor funded decentralization programs to build ministries that served as powerful and rapid proxies for leadership centralization By the time the celebrated president Marc Ravalomanana was overthrown in March 2009 it became clear that there were few opportunities to seed political opposition and such limited space between individual leaders and primary institutions of public management that critical state functions immediately began to unravel In this book the author considers the institutions of the Third Republic how they formed and why they looked like models for democratic change before turning to consider how the institutions themselves have been manipulated in plain sight by leaders looking to champion their own networks He concludes that the rise of the Fourth Republic in 2010 did little to address these underlying concerns and argues that a new agenda is in order to consider not just the way in which institutions form but the way in which networks of power and leaders at the top of those networks grow and change malleable institutions in young democracies with few avenues of accountability

Revolts and the Military in the Arab Spring Sean Burns, 2018-01-30 Through detailed exploration of events in Tunisia Egypt Bahrain Libya Syria and Yemen Sean Burns here breaks down the concept of professionalism within the armed forces into its component parts and demonstrates how variation in military structures determines their behaviour In so doing and by emphasising historical context and drawing on a wide range of political science theory Burns sheds fresh light onto the ways in which military structure affects the potential for democratic transition or the course of civil war With this book he presented a wide ranging study of the Middle East which provides key tools to understanding the opportunities for democratisation both during the Arab Spring and beyond and which is therefore essential reading for anyone working on the Middle East popular uprisings and the politics of repression

Public Opinion, Democracy, and Market Reform in Africa Michael Bratton, Robert Mattes, E. Gyimah-Boadi, 2004-09-27 Based on the Afrobarometer a survey research project this examination of public opinion in sub Saharan Africa reveals what ordinary Africans think about democracy and market reforms subjects on which almost nothing is otherwise known The authors reveal that widespread support for democracy in Africa is shallow and that Africans consequently feel trapped between state and market Although they are learning about reform through knowledge and experience it is assumed that few countries are likely to attain full fledged democratic market status anytime soon

Presidential Elections in Mexico Reynaldo Yunuen Ortega Ortiz, 2017-07-06 This book analyzes the transformation of the Mexican political system during the last four decades focusing on its presidential elections As the country has shifted away from an authoritarian political system ruled by a hegemonic party it has become a more moderate pluralistic society marked by electoral competition between contestant parties Using a mixed methodology including historical and statistical analysis the author argues that the fight for clean and fair elections in Mexico has a long history of contestation and conflict entailing at once movements towards democracy yet also processes of de democratization div Trade Unions and the Coming of Democracy in Africa Jon Kraus,2007-12-15 This book uniquely depicts the preeminent role that African trade unions played in ousting dictatorships and bringing democracy to many African countries in the 1990s In the analytical introduction and case studies of major African countries leading scholars relate how democratic trade unions were critical in launching and sustaining democratization Working with other societal groups and parties unions continue to represent the popular classes and invigorate democratic life in these otherwise elite dominated countries Democratisation in the 21st Century Mohammad-Mahmoud Ould Mohamedou,Timothy D. Sisk,2016-10-04 The 2010 s was a critical period in the continuing established trend of the spread of democracy worldwide from the Arab Spring countries of Tunisia Libya Egypt and Yemen to the unfolding turmoil of Myanmar and Ukraine by way of the upheavals in Burkina Faso Senegal and Ivory Coast social mobilisation against autocratic corrupt or military regimes has precipitated political transitions that are characteristic of democratisation This book examines the state of democratisation theory and practice that reopens and revives the democratic transition debate exploring the factors that lead to the demise of autocracy the pathways and processes of change and the choice for an eventual consolidation of democracy For all its insights and shortcomings the framework of transitology a body of literature that has comparatively and through case study analysis examined common patterns sequences crises and outcomes of transitional periods has been largely eschewed The essays written by international democratisation specialists tackle the series of questions raised by a body of literature that remains highly useful to understand contemporary political turbulence and transformation considering numerous crucial issues This work will be of key interest to scholars students and practitioners of governance democratisation comparative politics international relations political science and more broadly history Neighbourhood Politics in Transition Sara Monaco,2008 Rethinking the Humanities in Africa ,2007 The Politics of Transition in Kenya W.
