Defense Of History And Class Consciousness Tailism And The Dialectic:

A Defence of History and Class Consciousness György Lukács, 2000 Georg Lukács was dubbed the philosopher of the October Revolution and his masterpiece History and Class Consciousness 1923 is commonly held to be the foundational text for the tradition known as Western Marxism which includes the work of Theodor Adorno Walter Benjamin Ernst Bloch Max Horkheimer and Herbert Marcuse As the liberating energies of the Russian Revolution were sapped by Stalinism Lukács was subjected to ferocious attack for deviations from the party line in History and Class Consciousness In the mid 1920s he wrote Talism and the Dialectic a sustained and passionate response to this onslaught Unpublished at the time Lukács himself thought the text had been destroyed However a group of researchers recently found the manuscript gathering dust in the newly opened archives of the CPSU in Moscow Now for the first time this fascinating polemical and intense text is available in English in an accomplished translation by Esther Leslie and published here with an introduction from John Rees and a postface by Slavoj Žižek It is a crucial part of a hidden intellectual history and will transform interpretations of Lukács's oeuvre Some critiques of my book History and Class Consciousness have appeared written by Comrades Rudas and Deborin which I simply cannot let pass without a response It is certainly not my intention to defend the book itself I would be only too glad if I could regard it as completely redundant if I could see that its purpose had been fully accomplished What is this purpose To demonstrate methodologically that the organisation and tactics of Bolshevism are the only possible consequence of Marxism to prove that of necessity the problems of Bolshevism follow logically that is to say logically in a dialectical sense from the method of materialist dialectics as implemented by its founders But my critics move instead in the opposite direction They use their polemics to smuggle Menshevik elements into Marxism and Leninism I have to retaliate I am not defending my book I am attacking the poen Menshevism of Deborin and the tail ending of Rudas A Defence of History and Class Consciousness Lukács György, 2000 The Dialectics of Ecology John Bellamy Foster, 2024-04 Today the fate of the earth as a home for humanity is in question and yet contends John Bellamy Foster the reunification of humanity and the earth remains possible if we are prepared to make revolutionary changes As with his prior books The Dialectics of Ecology is grounded in the contention that we are now faced with a concrete choice between ecological socialism and capitalist exterminism and rooted in insights drawn from the classical historical materialist tradition In this latest work Foster explores the complex theoretical debates that have arisen historically with respect to the dialectics of nature and society He then goes on to examine the current contradictions associated with the confrontation between capitalist extractivism and the financialization of nature on the one hand and the radical challenges to these represented by emergent visions of ecological civilization and planned degrowth on the other Slavoj Žižek and Dialectical Materialism Agon Hamza, Frank Ruda, 2016-01-26 This book is the first volume to bring together the most prominent scholars who work on Slavoj Žižek's philosophy examining and interrogating his understanding of dialectical materialism It deserves to be thoroughly and systematically elaborated because it attempts to propose a new foundation for dialectical materialism Toward a Critical Theory of Nature Carl Cassegård, 2021-01-28 Challenging the normalization of a capitalist reality in which environmental destruction and catastrophe have become second nature Towards a Critical Theory of Nature offers a bold new theoretical understanding of the current crisis via the work of the Frankfurt School Focusing on key notions of dialectics natural history and materialism a critical theory of nature is outlined in favor of a more traditional Marxist theory of nature albeit one which still builds on core Marxist concepts to confirm humanity's central place in manufacturing environmental misery Pre eminent thinkers of the Frankfurt school including Georg Lukács Ernst Bloch Theodor Adorno and Alfred Schmidt are highlighted for their potential to diagnose the interpenetration of capitalism and nature in a way that neither absolutizes nor obliterates the boundary between the social and natural Further theoretical claims and practical consequences of a critical theory of nature challenge other contemporary theoretical approaches like eco Marxism social constructivism and new materialism to situate it as the only approach with genuinely radical potential The possibility of utopian idealism for understanding and responding to the current climate crisis is carefully measured against the dangers of false hope in setting out realistic goals for change Environmental change in turn is seen through the prism of recent cultural currents and movements situating the power of a critical theory of nature in relation to understandings of the Anthropocene concepts of apocalypse and postapocalypse This book culminates in a powerful tool for an anti capitalist critique of society's painfully extractive relationship to a deceptively abstracted natural world Modern Critical Thought Drew Milne, 2008-04-15 This anthology presents a series of texts in which major twentieth century thinkers engage in dialogue with their predecessors Presents a series of texts in which major twentieth century thinkers engage in dialogue with their predecessors Offers an innovative way into understanding modern critical thought Spans the period from Marx to the present day A conversation of ideas emerges between one generation and the next Editorial material defines key terms and maps out contested terrain Each piece is prefaced by contextualising notes and suggestions for further reading Capitalism in the Anthropocene John Bellamy Foster, 2022-08-23 Over the last 11 700 years during which human civilization developed the earth has existed within what geologists refer to as the Holocene Epoch Now science is telling us that the Holocene Epoch in the geological time scale ended replaced by the onset of a new more dangerous Anthropocene Epoch which began around 1950 The Anthropocene Epoch is characterized by an anthropogenic rift in the biological cycles of the Earth System marking a changed reality in which human activities are now the main geological force impacting the earth as a whole generating at the same time an existential crisis for the world's population What caused this massive shift in the history of the earth In this comprehensive study John Bellamy Foster tells us that a globalized system of capital accumulation has induced humanity to foul its own nest The result is a planetary emergency that threatens all present and future generations throwing into question the continuation of civilization and ultimately the very survival of humanity itself Only by addressing the social aspects of the current planetary emergency exploring the theoretical historical and practical dimensions of the capitalism's alteration of the planetary environment is it possible to develop the ecological and social resources for a new journey of hope Dialectics for the New Century Bertell Ollman, T. Smith, 2008-02-27 This anthology contains some of the more important Marxist thinkers now working on dialectics As a whole the book is an unusual Introduction to Dialectics a systematic restatement of what it is and how to use it a survey of most of the main debates in the field and a good picture of the current state of the art of dialectics Negativity and Revolution John Holloway, Fernando Matamoros, Sergio Tischler, 2008-11-20 How can activists combat the political paralysis that characterises the anti dialectical Marxism of Foucault Derrida and Deleuze without reverting to a dogmatic orthodoxy This book explores solutions in the negative dialectics of Theodor Adorno The poststructuralist shift from dialectics to difference has been so popular that it becomes difficult to create meaningful revolutionary responses to neoliberalism The contributors to this volume come from within the anti capitalist movement and close to the concerns expressed in Negri and Hardt's Empire and Multitude However they argue forcefully and persuasively for a return to dialectics so a real world radical challenge to the current order can be constructed This is a passionate call to arms for the anti capitalist movement It should be read by all engaged activists and students of political and critical theory Confronting Mass Democracy and Industrial Technology John P. McCormick, 2002 With a groundbreaking interdisciplinary approach to German political and social theory Confronting Mass Democracy and Industrial Technology provides fresh insight into the thought of many of the most influential intellectual figures of the twentieth century Its essays detail the manner in which a wide range of German intellectuals grappled with the ramifications and implications of democracy technology knowledge and control from the late Kaiserreich to the Weimar Republic from the Third Reich and the Federal Republic through recently unified Germany Scholars representing the fields of political science philosophy history law literature and cultural studies devote essays to the work of Nietzsche Weber Heidegger Lukács Schmitt Marcuse Adorno and Habermas They also discuss the writings of such figures as Brecht and Freud who are not primarily thought of as political theorists and explore the thought of Helmut Plessner and reformist theorists from East Germany who have been little studied in the English language In the process of debating the nature and responsibilities of the modern state in an era of mass politics unparalleled military technology capacity for surveillance and global media presence the contributors question whether technology is best understood as an instrument of human design and collective control or as an autonomous entity that not only has a will and life of its own but one that forms the very fabric of modern humanity Contributors Seyla Benhabib Richard J Bernstein Peter C Caldwell Richard Dienst David Dyzenhaus Andrew Feenberg Nancy S Love John P McCormick Jan Werner Müller Gia Pascarelli William E Scheuerman Steven B Smith Tracy B Strong Richard Wolin Zizek's Ontology Adrian Johnston, 2008-03-19 By taking this avowal seriously Adrian Johnston finally clarifies the philosophical project underlying Žižek's efforts The Johns Hopkins Guide to Literary Theory and Criticism Michael Groden, Martin Kreiswirth, Imre Szeman, 2005 Publisher Description New

Left Review ,2000 Jameson on Jameson Fredric Jameson,2007-12-26 A collection of interviews with Fredric Jameson over a 20 year period The History of the Left from Marx to the Present Darrow Schechter,2007 Focuses on Marx s theories and the diverse struggles for human emancipation that have characterized European and world history since the French Revolution This title explores the crucial question of how to institutionalize the relation between humanity and nature in a free society of fully humanized individuals Uneven Reification Justin Paulson,2005 Tripwire ,2000 Hypatia ,2008 Translation & Revolution Ramon Guillermo,2009 This is the first comprehensive study of Jose Rizal s 1886 Tagalog translation of Friedrich Schiller s last and most famous play Wilhelm Tell 1804 It introduces new computer aided methods and techniques of discursive and textual analysis to the broad field of translation analysis and attempts to answer how Schiller s play described as the Agit prop play of German Idealism could have been translated into a language so distant from its original socioeconomic context and so alien from the distinctively German intellectual culture that had produced it In addition to its methodological contributions this study is of interest insofar as it may give insight into some of the ideological dynamics constitutive of nineteenth century nationalism in the Philippines the implications of which may extend up to the present day Economic and Political Weekly ,2001-11
