Deflating Information From Science Studies To Documentation:

Deflating Information Bernd Frohmann, 2004-01-01 In Deflating Information Bernd Frohmann draws on recent work in the social studies of science finding the most significant material in the coordination of research work the stabilization of matters of fact and the manufacture of objectivity Handbook on Information Sciences Peter Heisig, 2024-12-09 The Handbook on Information Sciences provides a comprehensive overview of the core themes within the discipline including the organisation of information and how to manage data and outlines avenues for future research Discussions on the methodological evolution of the field are enriched by an in depth evaluation of the use of experimental methods in information sciences

Using Documents Gerald Hartung, Frederik Schlupkothen, Karl-Heinrich Schmidt, 2022-09-20 Using Documents presents an interdisciplinary discussion of human communication by means of documents e.g. letters Cultural scientists together with researchers from media science and media engineering analyze questions of document modeling including a document's contexts of use on the basis of cultural theory The research also concerns the debate on the material turn in the fields of cultural studies and media studies Looking back on existing work texts on written communication by the philosopher and sociologist Georg Simmel and by an interdisciplinary French group of authors under the pseudonym Roger T. P. dauque are taken as a starting point and presented afresh A look ahead to the future is also attempted Whereas the modeling including technical modeling of documents has to date largely been limited to the description of output forms and specific content the foundations are laid here for including documents contexts of use in models that are grounded in cultural theory

Handbook of Qualitative Organizational Research Kimberly D. Elsbach, Roderick M. Kramer, 2015-11-19 This handbook provides a comprehensive overview of state of the art innovative approaches to qualitative research for organizational scholars Individual chapters in each area are written by experts in a variety of fields who have contributed some of the most innovative studies themselves in recent years An indispensable reference guide to anyone conducting high impact organizational research this handbook includes innovative approaches to research problems data collection data analysis and interpretation and application of research findings The book will be of interest to scholars and graduate students in a wide variety of disciplines including anthropology organizational behavior organizational theory social psychology and sociology

Information Cultures in the Digital Age Matthew Kelly, Jared Bielby, 2016-08-08 For several decades Rafael Capurro has been at the forefront of defining the relationship between information and modernity through both phenomenological and ethical formulations In exploring both of these themes Capurro has re-vivified the transcultural and intercultural expressions of how we bring an understanding of information to bear on scientific knowledge production and intermediation Capurro has long stressed the need to look deeply into how we contextualize the information problems that scientific society creates for us and to re-incorporate a pragmatic dimension into our response that provides a balance to the cognitive turn in information science With contributions from 35 scholars from 15 countries Information Cultures in the Digital Age focuses on the culture and philosophy of information information ethics the relationship of information to message the historic and semiotic understanding of information the relationship of information to power and the future of information education This Festschrift seeks to celebrate Rafael Capurro s important contribution to a global dialogue on how information conceptualisation use and technology impact human culture and the ethical questions that arise from this dynamic relationship

Bibliographic Classification Joacim Hansson,2025-11-18 A novel analysis that understands bibliographic classification systems as autonomous documents and not just as information retrieval tools Bibliographical classification systems are developed as tools for the retrieval of documents and information in libraries or bibliographical catalogs Traditionally they have also served as organizing principles for library shelving As with most kinds of classification bibliographic classification systems are products of their time encoding the beliefs and values of the cultures in which they are created In Bibliographic Classification Joacim Hansson addresses the connection between classification and society in a new way by analyzing bibliographic classification systems not just as information retrieval tools but as autonomous documents using a theoretical foundation from Document Studies Information Science and Organizational Theory The book advances its argument in three case studies the Universal Decimal Classification read as part of progressive social movements in early twentieth century Belgium the Swedish SAB system developed in the late 1910s read as a formulation of cultural integrity and nationalist reformulation and Jewish bibliographic classification practice with specific focus on how to address historical Jewish identity and the Holocaust in Judaica collections

Exploring Education for Digital Librarians Sue Myburgh,Anna Maria Tammamro,2013-04-17 Exploring Education for Digital Librarians provides a refreshing perspective on the discipline and profession of Library and Information Science LIS with a focus on preparing students for careers as librarians who can deal with present and future digital information environments A re examination of the knowledge base of the field combined with a proposed theoretical structure for LIS provide the basis for this work which also examines competencies for practice as well as some of the international changes in the nature of higher education The authors finally suggest a model that could be used internationally to educate librarians for their new roles and social responsibilities in a digitised networked world The twelve chapters of this book cover key issues in education for digital librarians including the necessity of regenerating the profession current contexts previous research on education for digital librarians understanding the dimensions of the discipline and profession of librarianship and the distinctions between them the social purpose of librarianship as a profession and the theoretical framework which supports the practice of the profession a brief analysis of curriculum design pedagogies and teaching methods and a glimpse of the proactive and important future role of librarianship in society Considers the ubiquitous misunderstanding that technology can replace libraries and librarians Provides a theoretical view of the field which can contribute awareness of dimensions of the dilemmas which the discipline profession currently faces Presents a broad international perspective which provides a basis for a new model for LIS education European Modernism and the Information Society W. Boyd Rayward, 2017-05-15 Uniting a team of international and interdisciplinary scholars this volume considers the views of early twentieth century European thinkers on the creation dissemination and management of publicly available information Interdisciplinary in perspective the volume reflects the nature of the thinkers discussed including Otto Neurath Patrick Geddes the English Fabians Paul Otlet Wilhelm Ostwald and H G Wells The work also charts the interest since the latter part of the nineteenth century in finding new ways to think about and to manage the growing body of available information in order to achieve aims such as the advancement of Western civilization the alleviation of inequalities across classes and countries and the promotion of peaceful coexistence between nations In doing so the contributors provide a novel historical context for assessing widely held assumptions about today's globalized post modern information society This volume will interest all who are curious about the creation of a modern networked information society Encyclopedia of Library and Information Sciences John D. McDonald, Michael Levine-Clark, 2017-03-15 The Encyclopedia of Library and Information Sciences comprising of seven volumes now in its fourth edition compiles the contributions of major researchers and practitioners and explores the cultural institutions of more than 30 countries This major reference presents over 550 entries extensively reviewed for accuracy in seven print volumes or online The new fourth edition which includes 55 new entries and 60 revised entries continues to reflect the growing convergence among the disciplines that influence information and the cultural record with coverage of the latest topics as well as classic articles of historical and theoretical importance Culture and Identity in Knowledge Organization Clément Arsenault, Joseph T. Tennis, 2008 This volume contains Proceedings of the Tenth International ISKO Conference 5-8 August 2008 Montreal Canada Annual Review of Information Science & Technology Blaise Cronin, 2006-10 ARIST published annually since 1966 is a landmark publication within the information science community It surveys the landscape of information science and technology providing an analytical authoritative and accessible overview of recent trends and significant developments The range of topics varies considerably reflecting the dynamism of the discipline and the diversity of theoretical and applied perspectives While ARIST continues to cover key topics associated with classical information science e.g. bibliometrics information retrieval editor Blaise Cronin is selectively expanding its footprint in an effort to connect information science more tightly with cognate academic and professional communities Aslib Proceedings, 2007

Localizing the Internet Rafael Capurro, Johannes Frühbauer, Thomas Hausmanninger, 2007 a selection of papers presented at the symposium organized by the International Center for Information Ethics ICIE in October 2004

Revue Canadienne Des Sciences de L'information Et de Bibliothéconomie, 2005-03 Library & Information Science Abstracts, 2005 The Social Transcript Charles B. Osburn, 2009 Many glimpses into what might be called library philosophy are scattered throughout the literatures of library history and library and information science but none has coalesced as yet Conversely theories relative to the operation of libraries rather than relative to why their operations are necessary in the first place are exceedingly abundant At the heart of both resides function On the one hand the concept of a library reflects a rational social process its genesis and survival the result of each succeeding generation embracing the same core values as the one before At the same time practice in the library is bounded by both the experiences and expectations of the public and our choice and treatment of topic in our scholarly and professional literature Not surprisingly fundamental misunderstandings are shared among public scholar and librarian about what the library is and why it exists Adapting the work of Kenneth Boulding Charles Osburn presents a cogent well substantiated explanation of why the library refuses to cede its position as a cultural icon and how it not only continues but flourishes throughout the trials and errors of civilization
