An illustration of a content creator's workspace. On the left, a man with a beard is seen from the back, holding a smartphone to take a photo. In the center, a woman in a purple athletic outfit is standing behind a wooden table, holding two small blue dumbbells. On the table are a red bowl of fruit, a blue water bottle, and a glass of water. To the right of the woman is a large green rectangular light source on a stand. In the foreground, a laptop on the floor displays a bar chart with three bars of increasing height, and a white mug sits next to it. In the background, a large smartphone graphic shows a social media profile with a circular progress indicator and the text '3M'. Alexander, Elizabeth Butler Breese, Maria

Luengo,2016-06-13 This collection of original essays brings a dramatically different perspective to bear on the contemporary crisis of journalism Rather than seeing technological and economic change as the primary causes of current anxieties The Crisis of Journalism Reconsidered draws attention to the role played by the cultural commitments of journalism itself Linking these professional ethics to the democratic aspirations of the broader societies in which journalists ply their craft it examines how the new technologies are being shaped to sustain value commitments rather than undermining them Recent technological change and the economic upheaval it has produced are coded by social meanings It is this cultural framework that actually transforms these objective changes into a crisis The book argues that cultural codes not only trigger sharp anxiety about technological and economic changes but provide pathways to control them so that the democratic practices of independent journalism can be sustained in new forms Resources in Education ,1994 Entrepreneurship Heidi M.
