Discov Democracy Civics Citizenship Ed:

Activist Citizenship Education Keith Heggart, 2021-01-02 This book explores alternative models of civics and citizenship education. Specifically, it uses Justice Citizens, a participatory research and film making project, as a tool to examine young people's ideas about active citizenship and participation in public spaces. It introduces a framework that seeks to explore the diverse and apparently contradictory nature of young people's active citizenship. The framework draws on complexity theory combined with critical pedagogy and democratic education to formulate an approach to developing active citizenship among young people. This approach extends theories of both critical pedagogy and education for citizenship and by doing so seeks to explain the variegated nature of young people's engagement with civil society. This book contains a valuable repository of ideas and resources for application for teachers to use in schools and classrooms. Academics engaged in initial teacher education at both primary and secondary levels will find the framework of use when describing the importance and new approaches to civics and citizenship education within the current school and policy environments.

Civic Education and Competences for Engaging Citizens in Democracies Murray Print, Dirk Lange, 2013-02-11 Civic Education and Competences for Engaging Citizens in Democracies. Murray Print, University of Sydney and Dirk Lange, Leibniz University of Hannover. What competences do young citizens need to be considered as active and engaged in the context of a modern Europe? In 2011, an invited research symposium of leading civic and political educators, social scientists, and educational administrators from Europe met in Hannover, Germany, to consider this key concern facing Europe today. In examining the above question, the symposium addressed two significant issues: 1. Identify key competencies required for active citizenship of young people in Europe of the future. 2. Translate those competencies to school-based activities in the form of curricular and pedagogical strategies. The group addressed these questions through discussion in the symposium and through previously prepared papers. Subsequently, the group participated in a modified Delphi Technique to identify the key competences, and the final competences are presented in this book. The chapters of this book represent the contribution of the participants before, during, and after the symposium, with opportunities for review and reflection. Murray Print and Dirk Lange are professors from the University of Sydney and Leibniz University of Hannover, respectively, and are national leaders in civics and citizenship education in their respective countries. They have brought together a group of leading European civic and citizenship educators from different academic fields to explore the key issue and to identify the competences for young people to become active and engaged European citizens.

Citizenship and Citizenship Education in Australia Joan Geralyn DeJaeghere, 2002
Young Citizens of the World Marilynne Boyle-Baise, Jack Zevin, 2009-03-03 This text takes a clear stance. Social studies is about citizenship education: citizenship not only as a noun but as a verb, something one DOES. Based on this clear curricular and pedagogical purpose, it lays out a holistic and multicultural three-part process for civic preparation: becoming informed, thinking it through, and taking action. Six outstanding teaching strategies and teaching
