Discrepant Dislocations Feminism Theory And Postcolonial Histories:

Discrepant Dislocations Mary E. John, 2023-04-28 Discrepant Dislocations Feminism Theory and Postcolonial Histories explores the evolving intersections of feminist theory with postcolonial histories offering a critical examination of the challenges that shape feminist thought across different geopolitical contexts The book spans a range of intellectual and political landscapes particularly focusing on the tensions between feminist scholarship in the United States and India Drawing from the insights of third world intellectuals who have engaged with Western theories like poststructuralism it interrogates the complexities of the postcolonial as both a term and a concept Rather than resolving its varied meanings the book engages with the tensions and discrepancies inherent in these theories particularly how they manifest within the power dynamics between the West and the postcolony By focusing on the experiences of Western domination the author highlights how these intellectual and political forces continue to shape feminist thought globally even as feminist agendas seek to challenge these very systems of power The essays within this collection examine a wide array of issues from the position of third world feminists in the West to the challenges of translating feminist theory into diverse cultural contexts The study critically engages with the rise of feminist theory in the U S particularly in the eighties and nineties and its connection to race class and gender debates These discussions are framed within a historical and genealogical perspective showing how these terms have been shaped and constrained by Western academic practices Transitioning from the U S to India the book also explores the national location of feminist movements examining how postindependence Indian feminism navigates the complexities of global and local power relations Ultimately the book calls for a more self reflexive and international feminist theory that acknowledges the unequal power dynamics between nations and fosters a more accountable and nuanced global feminist discourse This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1996 The Pre-occupation of Postcolonial Studies Fawzia

Afzal-Khan, Kalpana Seshadri-Crooks, 2000 The Pre Occupation of Postcolonial Studies contains essays by both leading figures and younger scholars engaged in the field of postcolonial studies In this state of the field reader editors Fawzia Afzal Khan and Kalpana Seshadri Crooks have created a dynamic forum for contributors from a variety of theoretical and disciplinary vantage points to question both the limits and the limitations of postcolonial thought Since it burst on the academic scene as the hot new disciplinary field during the final decade of the twentieth century postcolonial studies has faced criticism from those who question its troubling trajectories its sometimes suspect epistemological and pedagogical methods and its relatively narrow focus With diverse essays that emerge from such disciplines as South Asian Latin American Arab and Jewish studies this volume responds to skeptics and adherers alike addressing not only the broad theoretical issues at stake within the field but also the position of the field itself within the academy as well as its relationship to modern postmodern and Marxist discourses Contributors offer critiques on ahistorical and universalizing tendencies in postcolonial work and confront the need for scholars to attend to issues of class ideology and the effects of neocolonial practices Seeking to broaden the field's traditionally literary spectrum of methodologies these essayists take up large thematic issues to examine specific sites of colonial activities with all of their historical political and cultural significance Closing the volume is an insightful interview with Homi Bhabha in which he discusses postcolonial studies in the context of contemporary cultural politics and theory The Pre Occupation of Postcolonial Studies not only offers an overview of the discipline but also pushes and pulls at the edges of postcolonial studies offering a comprehensive view of the field's diversity of thought and envisioning clear pathways for its future Contributors Fawzia Afzal Khan Ali Behdad Homi Bhabha Daniel Boyarin Neil Larsen Saree Makdisi Joseph Massad Walter D. Mignolo Hamid Naficy Ngugi Wa Thiong'o Timothy B. Powell R. Radhakrishnan Bruce Robbins Kalpana Seshadri Crooks Ella Shohat Rajeswari Sunder Rajan

Feminisms and Internationalism Mrinalini Sinha, Donna Guy, Angela Woollacott, 1999-08-25 This book addresses the theme of the history of internationalism in feminist theory and praxis covering such topics as the historical concept of internationalism within feminism and women's movements the nature of historical shifts within feminist movements and challenges to internationalism within feminism by women of colour and by women from colonised or formerly colonised countries
