Das War Heinz Ruehmann:

Popular Cinema of the Third Reich Sabine Hake, 2010-01-01 Too often dismissed as escapist entertainment or vilified as mass manipulation popular cinema in the Third Reich was in fact sustained by well established generic conventions cultural traditions aesthetic sensibilities social practices and a highly developed star system not unlike its Hollywood counterpart in the 1930s This pathfinding study contributes to the ongoing reassessment of Third Reich cinema by examining it as a social cultural economic and political practice that often conflicted with contradicted and compromised the intentions of the Propaganda Ministry Nevertheless by providing the illusion of a public sphere presumably free of politics popular cinema helped to sustain the Nazi regime especially during the war years Rather than examining Third Reich cinema through overdetermined categories such as propaganda ideology or fascist aesthetics Sabine Hake concentrates on the constituent elements shared by most popular cinemas famous stars directors and studios movie audiences and exhibition practices popular genres and new trends in set design the reception of foreign films the role of film criticism and the representation of women She pays special attention to the forced coordination of the industry in 1933 the changing demands on cinema during the war years and the various ways of coming to terms with these filmic legacies after the war Throughout Hake's findings underscore the continuities among Weimar Third Reich and post 1945 West German cinema They also emphasize the codevelopment of German and other national cinemas especially the dominant Hollywood model Ministry of Illusion Eric Rentschler, 1996-10-01 Eric Rentschler argues that cinema in the Third Reich emanated from a Ministry of Illusion and not from a Ministry of Fear His analysis of the sophisticated media culture of this period demonstrates in an unprecedented way the potent and destructive powers of fascination and fantasy Hitler's Last Witness Rochus Misch, 2014-08-30 This memoir of Hitler's personal bodyguard presents convincing first person testimony of the dictator's final desperate months days and hours Huffington Post After being seriously wounded in the 1939 Polish campaign Rochus Misch was invited to join Hitler's SS bodyguard There he served until the war's end as Hitler's bodyguard courier orderly and finally as Chief of Communications On the Berghoff terrace he watched Eva Braun organize parties observed Heinrich Himmler and Albert Speer and monitored telephone conversations from Berlin to the East Prussian Headquarters on July 20 1944 after the attempt on Hitler's life As the Allied forces closed in Misch was drawn into the Führerbunker with the last of the faithful He remained in charge of the bunker switchboard as his duty required even after Hitler committed suicide Misch knew Hitler the private man His memoirs offer an intimate view of life in close attendance to Hitler and of the endless hours deep inside the bunker They also provide new insights into military events such as Hitler's initial feeling that the 6th Army should pull out of Stalingrad Shortly before he died Misch wrote a new introduction for this English language edition Hitler and Film Bill Niven, 2018-04-24 An exposé of Hitler's relationship with film and his influence on the film industry A presence in Third Reich cinema Adolf Hitler also personally financed ordered and censored films and newsreels and engaged in complex relationships with their stars and directors Here Bill Niven offers a powerful argument for reconsidering Hitler's fascination with film as a means to further the Nazi agenda In this first English language work to fully explore Hitler's influence on and relationship with film in Nazi Germany the author calls on a broad array of archival sources Arguing that Hitler was as central to the Nazi film industry as Goebbels Niven also explores Hitler's representation in Third Reich cinema personally and through films focusing on historical figures with whom he was associated and how Hitler's vision for the medium went far beyond straight propaganda He aimed to raise documentary film to a powerful art form rivaling architecture in its ability to reach the masses Heinz Rühmann und seine Filme Gregor Ball,Eberhard Spiess,1982 Das war Heinz Rühmann

Hans-Ulrich Prost,1994 The Film Minister Felix Moeller,2000 Goebbels film programme his propaganda strategies the planning of perfidious anti Semitic feature films and suggestive war newsreels are reflected in these pages and so is Hitler's influence and the way in which famous film stars co-operated with the Nazi leadership Cultural History Through a
