Data Quality Problems In Army Logistics:

Data Quality Problems in Army Logistics Lionel A. Galway, Christopher H. Hanks, United States. Army, Arroyo Center, Rand Corporation, 1996 There is a widespread agreement that the data in Army logistics information systems have severe quality problems This study develops a classification scheme for data quality problems and applies it to several problem logistics data elements primarily the End Item Code EIC a key data element in the Central Demand Data Base

Data Quality Problems in Army Logistics, Classification, Examples, and Solutions, 1996 Implicit in the Army Force XXI concept is the idea that information and data are assets as important in their own right as the Army's physical assets of personnel vehicles and materiel The Army's Velocity Management initiative which is focused on logistics recognizes the central importance of using performance data to inform the reengineering and management of logistics processes To truly qualify as an asset however data must have the requisite quality Unfortunately much logistics data in the Army is widely perceived to be of poor quality This perception is based on personal experience anecdotes and numerous examples of failed analyses and modeling efforts that were unable to overcome data problems The purpose of this project was to examine quality problems in Army logistics data and to recommend solutions To focus the project we selected a small group of data elements generated by the retail Army that are transmitted to and used by centralized logistics activities in the wholesale Army Our working definition of bad data is based on the current data quality literature which links the idea of data quality to the uses to which data are put if a given set of reported data cannot provide the information needed for decisions a data quality problem exists Our discussion of logistics data problems is grounded in the uses of the data Management of Data Quality in Enterprise Resource Planning Systems Michael Röthlin, 2010 Originally presented as the author's thesis doctoral Universitat Bern 2010 Statistics, Testing, and Defense Acquisition National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on National Statistics, Panel on Statistical Methods for Testing and Evaluating Defense Systems, 1998-05-08 For every weapons system being developed the U S Department of Defense DOD must make a critical decision Should the system go forward to full scale production The answer to that question may involve not only tens of billions of dollars but also the nation's security and military capabilities In the milestone process used by DOD to answer the basic acquisition question one component near the end of the process is operational testing to determine if a system meets the requirements for effectiveness and suitability in realistic battlefield settings Problems discovered at this stage can cause significant production delays and can necessitate costly system redesign This book examines the milestone process as well as the DOD's entire approach to testing and evaluating defense systems It brings to the topic of defense acquisition the application of scientific statistical principles and practices Advances in Conceptual Modeling - Theory and Practice John F. Roddick, Richard Benjamins, Samira Si-Said Cherfi, Roger Chiang, Ramez Elmasri, Hyoil Han, Martin Hepp, Miltiadis Lystras, Vojislav Misic, Geert Poels, Il-Yeol

Song,Christelle Vangenot,2006-11-21 This book constitutes the refereed joint proceedings of seven international workshops held in conjunction with the 25th International Conference on Conceptual Modeling ER 2006 in Tucson AZ USA in November 2006 The 39 revised full papers presented together with the outlines of three tutorials were carefully reviewed and selected from 95 submissions The United States Army George D. Congress. House. Committee on Armed Services. Panel on Defense Financial Management and Auditability Reform,2012 Evaluating Five Proposed Price and Credit Policies for the Army Marygail K. Brauner,2000 To streamline its financial management system for spare parts the Army is planning to implement a major initiative called Single Stock Fund SSF As part of this implementation important decisions must be made on the adoption of new price and credit policies for spare parts The purpose of stock funding is to set up a buyer supplier relationship between operating units and the Army s wholesale supply system Logistics customers in operating units receive an Operations and Maintenance Army OMA budget to buy spare parts from the wholesale supply system and they receive credits when they return parts to the wholesale supply system for repair and or restocking The Army s wholesale supply system is financed by the Army Working Capital Fund AWCF It must cover the cost of maintaining wholesale inventories with the income it receives from sales of parts to logistics customers and maintain a positive cash balance Thus price and credit policies affect the supply and repair decisions of logistics customers as well as the financial health of the wholesale supply system In the spring of 1998 the Army established a Credit Pricing Integrated Product Team CPIPT to recommend several alternative pricing and credit policies and a set of criteria by which to assess how these alternatives would affect key Army processes RAND Arroyo Center was asked to conduct the assessment of these alternatives This documented briefing presents the results of RAND s analysis of the CPIPT price and credit policy alternatives We focus on two quantitative criteria First the new price and credit policy should enable logistics customers to maintain their current operating tempo OPTEMPO without significantly increasing their OMA budget for spare parts Second the new policy should not significantly increase the AWCF s costs to replenish wholesale inventories through repair and procurement MR ,1997 Supporting Expeditionary Aerospace Forces Patrick Mills,Amatzia Feinberg,2001 In the years to come the effectiveness of the Expeditionary Aerospace

Force will pivot largely on the support system that underlies it termed the Agile Combat Support ACS system One key component of the ACS system is the electronic countermeasure ECM pod system Accordingly this documented briefing outlines the findings of a study that assessed the utility of the Reliability Availability and Maintainability of Pods RAMPOD database as an analytical tool in support of the ECM pod system The study found that RAMPOD has significant potential for supporting ECM pod analysis particularly in the tracking and displaying of trends for pod removal repair times and in shop queue The study also found a significant number of missing data elements that could adversely affect the efficacy of the RAMPOD system In addition the RAMPOD data warehouse was found to contain data that couldn t be readily accessed through the current web based tool
