Dated & Datable English Manuscript Borders, C. 1395-1499 Kathleen L. Scott, 2002 Apart from illustrations borders are the most important and most frequent element of decoration in late medieval English manuscripts Borders alter in style at a quicker chronological pace than the work of scribes and systematic analysis and comparison allow a researcher more accuracy in dating a manuscript than other means At the same time a sense of the hierarchy of borders is advantageous to the scholar who is seeking to understand the medieval response to a given text Yet up until now borders have received little detailed study this work offers a presentation of a century of English manuscripts illustrated with 50 key images Opening Up Middle English Manuscripts Kathryn Kerby-Fulton, Maidie Hilmo, Linda Olson, 2024-05-15 Deeply informed and lavishly illustrated Opening Up Middle English Manuscripts is a comprehensive introduction to the modern study of Middle English manuscripts It is intended for students and scholars who are familiar with some of the major Middle English literary works such as The Canterbury Tales Gawain and the Green Knight Piers Plowman and the romances mystical works or cycle plays but who may not know much about the surviving manuscripts The book approaches these texts in a way that takes into account the whole manuscript or codex its textual and visual contents physical state readership and cultural history Opening Up Middle English Manuscripts also explores the function of illustrations in fashioning audience response to particular authors and their texts over the course of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries Kathryn Kerby Fulton Linda Olson and Maidie Hilmo scholars at the forefront of the modern study of Middle English manuscripts focus on the writers most often taught in Middle English courses including Geoffrey Chaucer William Langland the Gawain Poet Thomas Hoccleve Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe highlighting the specific issues that shaped literary production in late medieval England Among the topics they address are the rise of the English language literacy social conditions of authorship early instances of the Alliterative Revival women and book production nuns libraries patronage household books religious and political trends and attempts at revisionism and censorship As of 2024 Opening Up Middle English Manuscripts is available as an ebook ideal for instructors teaching the book in courses The fully searchable PDF ebook version is available through most digital textbook platforms and library ebook aggregation platforms Dated & Datable English Manuscript Borders, C. 1395-1499 Kathleen L. Scott, 2002 The present handbook is a sourcebook and vade mecum for comparing dated styles of borders with undated borders and for helping to estimate the period at least to a quarter century and sometimes less in which a late medieval English manuscript was produced and decorated In some instances the handbook also provides a locale or probable locale in which the border originated All things great and small from texts to paraffs come together to reveal the history of a medieval book BOOK JACKET The Cambridge Companion to Medieval British Manuscripts Orietta Da Rold, Elaine Treharne, 2020-12-17 The scholarship and teaching of manuscript studies has been transformed by digitisation rendering previously rarefied documents accessible for study on a vast scale The Cambridge Companion to Medieval British

Manuscripts orientates students in the complex multidisciplinary study of medieval book production and contemporary display of manuscripts from c 600 1500 Accessible explanations draw on key case studies to illustrate the major methodologies and explain why skills in understanding early book production are so critical for reading editing and accessing a rich cultural heritage Chapters by leading specialists in manuscript studies range from explaining how manuscripts were stored to revealing the complex networks of readers and writers which can be understood through manuscripts to an in depth discussion on the Wycliffite Bible

Medieval Manuscripts, Readers and Texts Misty Schieberle, 2024-10 Examines manuscripts of Langland Chaucer Gower Nicholas Love and Arthurian tales alongside other devotional works and archival evidence Professor Kathryn Kerby-Fulton's scholarship has transformed the study of medieval manuscripts and readers particularly in the areas of devotional literature professional scribal production and clerical writing The essays collected here celebrate and reflect her influence and practice of giving careful attention to material contexts and archival sources when reading literature produced in late medieval England They offer new interpretations of scribal practices professional readers activities documentary evidence and challenging material and cultural contexts They also reconsider scholarly practices and assumptions while demonstrating how manuscript and archival studies can energize scholarship on such varied topics as authority reader reception modern editorial perspectives gender and religious activities

Making Books in Fifteenth-Century Cambridge Ann Eljenholm Nichols, 2025-03-04 Richly illustrated venture into book production in Cambridge William Dyngley Peterhouse 1393 1441 known for his personal library of at least 29 manuscripts was primarily an editor In the second decade of the fifteenth century he began a major patristic project that ultimately comprised eight volumes of Augustine of Hippo anthologies of Origin Ambrose and Jerome and a patristic miscellany Dyngley also constructed thirty five indexes for Augustine's works which he copied in tandem with his primary text writer the so called Fish Scribe This richly illustrated monograph considers the people who made the books the network of Cambridge scribes who copied the texts the limners who decorated them and the remarkable man behind the project Dyngley placed here in the context of contemporary life in a Cambridge college is shown to be in charge at every stage of production acquiring exemplars correcting scribal errors storing incomplete quires reassigning texts from one volume copying and revising tables of content and tallying expenses The volume also examines the constituent features of the manuscripts themselves non verbal cues as well as content Overall it sheds considerable new light on manuscript production in the period more generally

A Lancastrian Mirror for Princes Rosemarie McGerr, 2011-11-15 This seminal study addresses one of the most beautifully decorated 15th century copies of the New Statutes of England uncovering how the manuscript's unique interweaving of legal religious and literary discourses frames the reader's perception of the work Taking internal and external evidence into account Rosemarie McGerr suggests that the manuscript was made for Prince Edward of Lancaster transforming a legal reference work into a book of instruction in kingship as well as a means of celebrating the Lancastrians rightful claim to the English throne during the Wars of the Roses A Lancastrian Mirror for Princes also explores the role played by the manuscript as a commentary on royal justice and grace for its later owners and offers modern readers a fascinating example of the long lasting influence of medieval manuscripts on subsequent readers Manuscripta ,2007 Issues for Feb 1957 July 1959 include a Checklist of the Vatican manuscript codices available for consultation at the Knights of Columbus Vatican Film Library at St Louis University pts 1 8 The Papers of the Bibliographical Society of America Bibliographical Society of America,2003 Journal of the Early Book Society for the Study of Manuscripts and Printing History Early Book Society,2005 Medieval Book and a Modern Collector: Essays in Honour of Toshiyuki Takamiya. Thomson,Nigel Guy Wilson,2009 Descriptive catalogue provides a crucial guide to one of the most important repositories of medieval manuscripts Merton College Oxford one of the oldest colleges in the University was founded in 1264 Its library contains some 328 complete medieval manuscript books plus several hundred fragments in or extracted from the bindings of early printed books dating from the ninth to the late fifteenth century Most of them came to the College before the Reformation and are the remains of its medieval collection part of which was chained in the library part in circulation amongst the Fellowship Together with the College s surviving medieval archive which includes no fewer than twenty three book lists this material provides an important window on intellectual life at the University of Oxford between the thirteenth and sixteenth centuries and on the manufacture acquisition and use of the books that supported it This first catalogue of the medieval manuscripts since 1852 offers full and detailed descriptions of each item supported by a colour frontispiece 50 colour plates and 107 black and white plates Its introduction provides the first detailed history of Merton s medieval library including an account of the building and design of the College s Old Library built in the 1370s western Europe s oldest library room still in use today and the volume is completed with four appendices including a comprehensive set of extracts from the College s medieval account rolls referring to its books and library and two indexes RODNEY M THOMSON is Professor of History and Honorary Research Associate in the School of History and Classics University of Tasmania English Manuscript Studies, 1100-1700 Peter Beal,Jeremy Griffiths,1989 A Descriptive Catalogue of the Medieval Manuscripts in the Library of Peterhouse. Cambridge Rodney M. Thomson,2016 Founded in 1284 Peterhouse is the University of Cambridge s oldest college Its stated objective was to forward the study of theology and before the Reformation it was a small community comprising a master and fourteen scholars And yet by the late Middle Ages it had built up a substantial reference library Today the college collection contains 277 manuscripts almost all of which were at the College before the reformation geared to the European university curriculum of the late middle ages Founded in 1284 by Hugh of Balsham bishop of Ely Peterhouse is the University of Cambridge's oldest college The earliest surviving version of its statutes from 1344 declares that its primary function was to forward the study of theology Before the Reformation it was a small community the statutes prescribing a master and fourteen scholars And yet by the late Middle Ages it had built up a substantial reference library out of all proportion to this small fellowship Today the college collection contains 277 complete manuscripts in addition there are more than three hundred fragments in or taken from the bindings of early printed books Almost all of the surviving books were at the College before the Reformation so that the present collection represents the remains of its medieval library not the accumulation of modern donations This gives the collection a very particular character and interest Not many of the books contain extensive or important illumination and this absence has been exacerbated by massive vandalism apparently mainly perpetrated in the late sixteenth century Neither does the collection contain a high proportion of rare or unique texts but rather many geared to the European university curriculum of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries This means that it is dominated by works of Aristotle in Latin and commentaries on them by the philosophical theology of Peter Lombard Thomas Aquinas Albert the Great and John Duns Scotus by Justinian's Corpus Iuris Civilis and the Corpus Iuris Canonici and their commentators and by medical texts The founder is said to have bequeathed to the College many books of theology and some representing the other branches of knowledge None of these can be identified today but in fact the history of the library is fairly opaque before c 1400 The earliest surviving account roll is from 1374-5 and the earliest library catalogue from 1418 Nearly all of the books were acquired by donation and it is mainly by connecting the books to their donors that one can track the growth of the collection prior to the early fifteenth century Fortunately Peterhouse books are rich in information about their previous owners particularly those who brought or gave them to the College thanks in some measure to the habit of recording the gifts by a pious inscription in them About sixty names of owners and donors appear in the surviving books and donors appear in the surviving books and documents

A Critical Edition of John Mirk's Festial, Edited from British Library MS Cotton Claudius A.II John Mirk, Susan Powell, 2009 The Festial most probably composed in the late 1380s by the Augustinian canon John Mirk of Lilleshall Abbey Shropshire was the most popular and influential collection of sermons in English in the late medieval and early Tudor period surviving in many copies and printed by Caxton and his successors The collection was designed to be accessible and entertaining as well as orthodox to counter the success of Lollard preaching and taught both the priests who used the sermons as well as their audiences the fundamentals of the Christian faith and doctrine illustrated by many stories The Festial is the only English sermon collection to be printed in England before the Reformation and is probably the most frequently printed work of its time before religious change made it unacceptable This new edition in two volumes with full editorial apparatus supersedes the incomplete EETS edition by Theodor Erbe E S 96 1905 Volume 1 contains the Introduction and the first half of the text Volume 2 to be published in 2010 will contain the

H. Bowman, 2007 Art of Documentation Jessica Berenbeim, 2015 The later Middle Ages was a time of profound connection between the spheres of bureaucracy and art By discussing the two together this book argues that art historical methods offer an important contribution to diplomatics and that works of art are important sources for the cultural reception of documentary practices Documents are also an important model for representation and an understanding of the paradigmatic role of the document suggests alternative dimensions to the interpretation of late medieval art Ultimately the ways documents appeared functioned and were perceived have implications for objects of all kinds The discourses of documentation suggested an essential and consequential connection between objects and events documents offered a powerful and widely disseminated model for how ephemeral actions and relationships could find enduring material form With the broad diffusion of administrative records this idea came to manifest itself in other forms of visual culture Medieval monks inventoried documents alongside the contents of their treasuries set them on the altar and wrote about fantastical charters of gold Documents can still be a person's or a nation's most treasured possessions As powerful objects of veneration and instruments of control they connect medieval society and our own testing modern perceptions of the Middle Ages as an entirely lost world
