Businessmen and Politics A. D. D. Gordon, 1978 During the Non Cooperation and Civil Disobedience movement of the 1920s and 1930s Bombay came to be known as the keep of Gandhism Its businessmen were seen as the front line troops and backroom financiers of the nationalists But it was principally among merchants and traders that this commitment to Gandhian nationalism was deepest the great industrialists tended to stand aloof and sometimes even actively opposed the nationalists Yet in terms of the boycott of foreign trade it was they who apparently had most to gain from the economic doctrines of the Indian National Congress In quiet times indeed the industrialists were capable of switching allegiance and supporting the Congress in its attempt to win independence by constitutional means Dr Gordon sets out to explain this seeming paradox between the economic interests of the industrialists and their political activity He examines politics in relation on the one hand to the forced modernization of the market sector of the economy and on the other to the profound financial and economic changes following the First World War Using a wide range of sources many of them hitherto unexplored Dr Gordon argues that the politics of businessmen in a developing colonial economy can only be understood when related to the tensions inherent in the process of economic modernization This book will interest not only historians of modern India but also the students of colonial economies throughout the world A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles James Augustus Henry Murray, Henry Bradley, Sir William Alexander Craigie, Charles Talbut Onions, 1888
