Kovacs, Gianni Jacucci, 2013-06-29 Cooperative working environments and their development are becoming increasingly important and ever more frequent in different industrial sectors and this book provides a scientific approach for managing Team Engineering Meta cognitive knowledge and networks are identified as the key resources enabling engineering teams to work effectively and to reduce engineering time and this book illustrates how computer support can aid cooperative work within the context of practical methodologies and examples The fields covered in the book include State of the art research in cooperative learning tools Practical examples and methodologies illustrating the implementation of cooperative networks and An interdisciplinary approach to team engineering This valuable new book is sponsored by the International Federation for Information Processing IFIP and will be essential reading for researchers engineers technical managers involved in the development of advanced applications for engineering and manufacturing and software design and engineering Design Theory and Methodology, DTM '92 Dean Taylor, Larry A. Stauffer, 1992 Proceedings of the Fourth Workshop on Enabling Technologies: Infrastructure for Collaborative Enterprises, 1995 More consensus seemed apparent than in previous conferences on the direction of collaborative technical research possibly because of the benefits of shared knowledge demonstrated by and experienced on the World Wide Web Working groups summarize their discussions on tools environments and process NSF Workshop on Information Capture and Access in Engineering Design Environments, 1991 Preprints M. B. Zaremba, 1992 1994 IEEE International Conference on Systems, Man, and Cybernetics IEEE Systems, Man, and Cybernetics Society, 1994 Proceedings of the 2000 ASME Design Engineering Technical Conferences and Computers and Information in Engineering Conference: 20th Computers and Information in Engineering Conference Asme Conference Proceedings, 2000 Enhancing the Knowledge Engineering Process Luc Steels, Brice Lepape, 1992 In 1983 the Commission of the European Communities launched an ambitious 10 year programme in information technology called ESPRIT European Strategic Programme for Research and Development in Information Technology The papers in this volume focus on the contributions of the second phase of the programme ESPRIT II to the area of knowledge engineering and more specifically on the trend towards more disciplined knowledge engineering methodologies An attempt has been made to establish a coherent volume that will act as a lasting reference source for experts in the field This has lead to a focus on a small number of projects and topics Further contributions have been sourced primarily from those that have established a significant advance in respect of the international state of the art without losing sight of practical realisability and industrial acceptance The book captures work centering around the concept of knowledge level modelling and its use in structuring the complete life cycle validating expert systems acquiring knowledge enhancing capabilities and achieving genericity and re use It shows the high quality and the advanced nature of the research currently being undertaken and indicates that important innovations of extreme relevance to the industry have been achieved However further research and advanced development clearly continues to be needed because the European information technology has far from reached the level of competitiveness required to acquire a greater international market share It is hoped this publication will play an important role in this movement forwards
