Controlling Human Heredity, 1865 to the Present Diane B. Paul, 1995 In Controlling Human Heredity Professor Paul aims to bridge the gap between expert and lay understandings of the history of eugenics and thereby enrich the debate on the perplexing contemporary choices in genetic medicine Routledge Handbook of Science, Technology, and Society

Daniel Lee Kleinman, Kelly Moore, 2014-06-05 Over the last decade or so the field of science and technology studies STS has become an intellectually dynamic interdisciplinary arena Concepts methods and theoretical perspectives are being drawn both from long established and relatively young disciplines From its origins in philosophical and political debates about the creation and use of scientific knowledge STS has become a wide and deep space for the consideration of the place of science and technology in the world past and present The Routledge Handbook of Science Technology and Society seeks to capture the dynamism and breadth of the field by presenting work that pushes the reader to think about science and technology and their intersections with social life in new ways The interdisciplinary contributions by international experts in this handbook are organized around six topic areas embodiment consuming technoscience digitization environments science as work rules and standards This volume highlights a range of theoretical and empirical approaches to some of the persistent and new questions in the field It will be useful for students and scholars throughout the social sciences and humanities including in science and technology studies history geography critical race studies sociology communications women s and gender studies anthropology and political science Explaining Cancer Anya Plutynski, 2018-07-18 In Explaining Cancer Anya Plutynski addresses a variety of philosophical questions that arise in the context of cancer science and medicine She begins with the following concerns How do scientists classify cancer Do these classifications reflect nature s joints How do cancer scientists identify and classify early stage cancers What does it mean to say that cancer is a genetic disease What role do genes play in mechanisms for cancer What are the most important environmental causes of cancer and how do epidemiologists investigate these causes How exactly has our evolutionary history made us vulnerable to cancer Explaining Cancer uses these questions as an entrance into a family of philosophical debates It uses case studies of scientific practice to reframe philosophical debates about natural classification in science and medicine the problem of drawing the line between disease and health mechanistic reasoning in science pragmatics and evidence the roles of models and modeling in science and the nature of scientific explanation Building a Better Race Wendy Kline, 2001-11-20 Wendy Kline s lucid cultural history of eugenics in America emphasizes the movement s central continuing interaction with popular notions of gender and morality Kline shows how eugenics could seem a viable solution to problems of moral disorder and sexuality especially female sexuality during the first half of the twentieth century Its appeal to social conscience and shared desires to strengthen the family and civilization sparked widespread public as well as scientific interest Kline traces this growing public interest by looking at a variety of sources including the astonishing morality masque that climaxed the 1915 Panama Pacific

International Exposition the nationwide correspondence of the influential Human Betterment Foundation in Pasadena California the medical and patient records of a model state institution that sterilized thousands of allegedly feeble-minded women in California between 1900 and 1960 the surprising political and popular support for sterilization that survived initial interest in and then disassociation from Nazi eugenics policies and a widely publicized court case in 1936 involving the sterilization of a wealthy young woman deemed unworthy by her mother of having children Kline's engaging account reflects the shift from negative eugenics preventing procreation of the unfit to positive eugenics which encouraged procreation of the fit and it reveals that the golden age of eugenics actually occurred long after most historians claim the movement had vanished The middle class passion for parenthood in the 50s had its roots she finds in the positive eugenics campaign of the 30s and 40s Many issues that originated in the eugenics movement remain controversial today such as the use of IQ testing the medical ethics of sterilization the moral and legal implications of cloning and genetic screening and even the debate on family values of the 1990s Building a Better Race not only places eugenics at the center of modern reevaluations of female sexuality and morality but also acknowledges eugenics as an essential aspect of major social and cultural movements in the twentieth century Biology and Ideology from Descartes to Dawkins Denis R. Alexander, Ronald L. Numbers, 2010-05-15 Over the course of human history the sciences and biology in particular have often been manipulated to cause immense human suffering For example biology has been used to justify eugenic programs forced sterilization human experimentation and death camps all in an attempt to support notions of racial superiority By investigating the past the contributors to Biology and Ideology from Descartes to Dawkins hope to better prepare us to discern ideological abuse of science when it occurs in the future Denis R. Alexander and Ronald L. Numbers bring together fourteen experts to examine the varied ways science has been used and abused for nonscientific purposes from the fifteenth century to the present day Featuring an essay on eugenics from Edward J. Larson and an examination of the progress of evolution by Michael J. Ruse Biology and Ideology examines uses both benign and sinister ultimately reminding us that ideological extrapolation continues today An accessible survey this collection will enlighten historians of science their students practicing scientists and anyone interested in the relationship between science and culture Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2004 Scientists and the Development of Nuclear Weapons Lawrence Badash, 1995 This work deals with the history of the development of nuclear weapons from 1939 to 1963 On Moral Medicine M.
