Innovations in Teaching and Learning for Health Professions Educators Roger Edwards, Bobbie Ann Adair White, Ardi Findyartini, 2025-06-02. The health professions continue to evolve and change rapidly as more opportunities and challenges emerge. Hence, health professions educators are required to be adaptive and nimble in their creation and adoption of teaching and learning innovations. These innovations have included teaching with technologies like virtual reality, gamification, online applications, and artificial intelligence. Innovations also include know-how such as emotional intelligence and ways of approaching the learning process through student-centered learning experiences grounded in the cognitive science of learning. Scholarship related to identification of the best uses of different innovations is difficult. The same innovations have proven to be engaging in some contexts and burdensome in others. Additionally, simulation-based education continues to incorporate innovations in how health professions educators are taught, with more focus on effectiveness of the simulation educator, including applications with distance simulation. Training and development for health professions and simulation educators is becoming more formalized, yet gaps on effectiveness of training and development efforts persist. Faculty effectiveness, especially as it relates to educational innovation adoption, is difficult to measure, and demonstration of related competencies is in its infancy. The goal of this Research Topic is to bring together state-of-the-art examples of scholarship in health professions education related to the awareness and appropriate adoption of innovation, which is broadly defined as an idea, practice, technology, and know-how.

Evidence about the current state of emerging innovations effectiveness of innovations and evidence about the competencies needed for teaching in our evolving environments are all areas of interest for this collection All types of scholarship can support this focus including analyses based on primary quantitative and qualitative data collection secondary data analyses literature reviews and methodological infrastructure tool development Additionally scholarship investigating how these innovations have influenced health professions educators including their training and development is part of the goal of the collection The scope of this collection covers any innovations that are applicable to professional development and implementation for health professions educators More specifically we invite scholarship related to how educators prepare themselves for meeting the needs of their students given the changing roles and innovations available to both faculty and students across learning environments worldwide Examples of topics of interest include Analyses of innovation related to the evolving roles of health professions educators Reviews of educational innovation adoption by health professions education faculty especially related to artificial intelligence linked applications Exploring factors associated with professional development training and effective educational innovation adoption by faculty Simulation based educational innovation applications for faculty development Faculty innovation in resource constrained environments in low and middle income countries Methodological challenges associated with studying educational innovations by faculty in health professions education and critical research needs associated with generating and evaluating educational innovations Methodological considerations associated with health professions education faculty competencies Theoretically focused analyses are welcome as long as they are linked to applications

The profound truths of Scripture often require spiritual discernment to fully grasp and appreciate. They may not resonate with those who have not yet come to faith or experienced a personal relationship with God. 1Co 2:14 acknowledges this concept: "The person without the Spirit does not accept the things that come from the Spirit of God but considers them foolishness and cannot understand them because they are discerned only through the Spirit." This verse highlights that spiritual understanding is a gift of the Holy Spirit, and without that spiritual discernment, the truths of God may seem incomprehensible or even foolish to those who are not yet believers.

Recognizing and acknowledging our sinful condition is a crucial step in becoming a child of God. This acknowledgment is foundational to the process of salvation and reconciliation with God. Here are some key elements of this process:

- Recognizing Sin: The first step is to acknowledge that we have all fallen short of God's perfect standard. Ro 3:23 states, "We must come to terms with our sinfulness and realize that it separates us from a holy and righteous God."
- Repentance: Once we recognize our sinful condition, we should be moved to repentance. Repentance involves a genuine sorrow for our sins and a turning away from them. It is a change of heart and mind that leads us to seek forgiveness and a new way of living.
- Faith in Jesus Christ: Accepting our sinful condition is only part of the equation. We also need to place our faith in Jesus Christ as our Savior and Lord. It is through faith in Jesus that we receive forgiveness of sins and become children of God. Joh 1:12 states, "Confession: Confessing our sins to God is an important aspect of the process. When we confess our sins, we are agreeing with God about our need for forgiveness and cleansing. God is faithful and just to forgive us when we confess our sins. 1Jo 1:9 states, "Receiving God's Grace: Salvation is a gift of God's grace. We cannot earn it through our efforts or good works. It is by God's grace that we are saved through faith. Eph 2:8-9 states, "New Life in Christ: Once we accept our sinful condition, repent, place our faith in Christ, and receive God's forgiveness, we are born again as children of God. This new birth transforms us, and the Holy Spirit comes to dwell within us, empowering us to live a life that is pleasing to God.

Accepting our sinful condition is the starting point of a journey toward becoming a child of God. It is an acknowledgment of our need for a Savior and a recognition of God's abundant love and grace that provides the way for us to be reconciled to Him.
