Can Equity Be Organized Equity Development Analysis And Planning:

Can Equity be Organized? Bernard Schaffer, G. B. Lamb, Unesco, 1981 UNESCO pub Monograph dealing with the politics of equity in relation to social policy and practice emanating from a meeting illuminates connections between equality and state action from the point of view of political ideology institutional framework jurisprudence economic and social development public interest and social participation etc and appends the conference report incl Recommendations Bibliography pp 151 to 156 List of participants Conference held in Brighton 1978 Sep 11 to 15 Community-based Water Law and Water Resource Management Reform in Developing Countries Barbara C. P. Koppen, Mark Giordano, John Butterworth, 2007 The lack of sufficient access to clean water is a common problem faced by communities efforts to alleviate poverty and gender inequality and improve economic growth in developing countries While reforms have been implemented to manage water resources these have taken little notice of how people use and manage their water and have had limited effect at the ground level On the other hand regulations developed within communities are livelihood oriented and provide incentives for collective action but they can also be hierarchal enforcing power and gender inequalities This book shows how bringing together the strengths of community based laws rooted in user participation and the formalized legal systems of the public sector water management regimes will be more able to reach their goals Advances in Environment, Behavior, and Design Erwin H. Zube, Gary T. Moore, 2013-03-08 This third volume in Advances in Environment Behavior and Design follows the conceptual framework adopted in the previous two volumes see the Preface to Volume 1 1987 It is organized into five sections advances in theory advances in place user group and sociobehavioral research and advances in research utilization The authors of this volume represent a wide spectrum of the multi disciplinary environment behavior and design field including architecture environmental psychology facility management geography human factors sociology and urban design The volume offers international perspectives from North America Carole Despres from Canada several authors from the U S Europe Martin Krampen from Germany Martin Symes from England and New Zealand David Kernohan More so than any of the previous volumes they are drawn from both academia and professional practice While there continues to be a continuity in format in the series we are actively exploring new directions that are on the cutting edges of the field and bode well for a more integrated future This volume will further develop the themes of design and professional practice to complement the earlier emphases on theory research and methods Handbook of Sustainability and Social Science Research Walter Leal Filho, Robert W. Marans, John Callewaert, 2017-10-26 In this handbook social science researchers who focus on sustainability present and discuss their findings including empirical work case studies teaching and learning innovations and applied projects As such the book offers a basis for the dissemination of information ideas and experiences acquired in the execution of research projects especially initiatives which have influenced behavior decision making or policy Furthermore it introduces methodological approaches and projects which aim to offer a better understanding of sustainability across society and economic sectors This multidisciplinary overview presents the work of researchers from across the spectrum of the social sciences It stimulates innovative thinking on how social sciences influence sustainable development and vice versa

Water Security Bruce Lankford, Karen Bakker, Mark Zeitoun, Declan Conway, 2013-10-15 The purpose of this book is to present an overview of the latest research policy practitioner academic and international thinking on water security an issue that like water governance a few years ago has developed much policy awareness and momentum with a wide range of stakeholders As a concept it is open to multiple interpretations and the authors here set out the various approaches to the topic from different perspectives Key themes addressed include Water security as a foreign policy issue The interconnected variables of water food and human security Dimensions other than military and international relations concerns around water security Water security theory and methods tools and audits The book is loosely based on a masters level degree plus a short professional course on water security both given at the University of East Anglia delivered by international authorities on their subjects It should serve as an introductory textbook as well as be of value to professionals NGOs and policy makers

Development Policy and Planning Pradip K. Ghosh, University of Maryland, College Park. Center for International Development, World Academy of Development and Cooperation, 1984-09-21 This volume examines the experiences of a number of Third World countries in implementing development plans in the 1970s and offers some guidelines for research development and analysis of policy Some chapters focus on theoretical issues such as the place of development on the policy agenda and the institutionalization of development policy planning Other chapters detail global and national strategies for employment reducing poverty and developing human resources The use of various economic indicators as tools for planning and analysis is also discussed

Political Economy of Human Rights Bas de Gaay Fortman, 2011-06-15 The plethora of literature produced over the past decade in response to the perceived failure of the human rights project to deliver results for billions of people living in adverse environments has usually focused on international legal standards and mechanisms with little regard for the root structural realities that constrain their implementation Hence a text that primarily focuses on the major challenge of realisation of human rights in the context of diverse realities is urgently needed This book then provides an analytical as well as inspirational text on human rights from a contextual perspective it offers a reconceptualisation of human rights as not merely legal resources but political tools as well After an introduction that familiarizes the reader with some of the key concepts used throughout the book is divided into six chapters The first two combine a critique of the overly legal use of human rights with a reconceptualisation of their potential as powerful tools outside of the legal context The next two chapters examine the nature of the structural challenges that face realisation both on the global and on the local level The last two chapters analyse two major areas of the human rights deficit the structural non implementation of the rights of the poor and the failing protection of non dominant collectivities Finally a concluding chapter elaborates on the main findings and insights gained The book combines rigorous juridical study with a focus on political economic analysis of rights in context Hence it aims at an interdisciplinary treatment of human rights as opposed to current texts that have a tendency to be monodisciplinary The book should be of interest to students of human rights political economy law and conflict studies as well as those who work or research in these areas Can Equity be Organised B. B. Schaffer, G. B. Lamb, 1979

Liquid Relations Dik Roth, Rutgerd Boelens, Margreet Zwarteveen, 2005-11-29 Water management plays an increasingly critical role in national and international policy agendas Growing scarcity overuse and pollution combined with burgeoning demand have made socio political and economic conflicts almost unavoidable Proposals to address water shortages are usually based on two key assumptions 1 water is a commodity that can be bought and sold and 2 states or other centralized entities should control access to water Liquid Relations criticizes these assumptions from a socio legal perspective Eleven case studies examine laws distribution and irrigation in regions around the world including the United States Nepal Indonesia Chile Ecuador India and South Africa In each case problems are shown to be both ecological and human made The essays also consider the ways that gender ethnicity and class differences influence water rights and control In the concluding chapter the editors draw on the essays findings to offer an alternative approach to water rights and water governance issues By showing how issues like water scarcity and competition are embedded in specific resource use and management histories this volume highlights the need for analyses and solutions that are context specific rather than universal Popular Participation and Development Hugh Dow, Jonathan Barker, University of Toronto.
