Scientific American, 1899 American Carbonator and American Bottler, 1920 Big Mind Geoff Mulgan, 2018 A new field of collective intelligence has emerged in the last few years prompted by a wave of digital technologies that make it possible for organizations and societies to think at large scale This bigger mind human and machine capabilities working together has the potential to solve the great challenges of our time So why do smart technologies not automatically lead to smart results Gathering insights from diverse fields including philosophy computer science and biology Big Mind reveals how collective intelligence can guide corporations governments universities and societies to make the most of human brains and digital technologies Geoff Mulgan explores how collective intelligence has to be consciously organized and orchestrated in order to harness its powers He looks at recent experiments mobilizing millions of people to solve problems and at groundbreaking technology like Google Maps and Dove satellites He also considers why organizations full of smart people and machines can make foolish mistakes from investment banks losing billions to intelligence agencies misjudging geopolitical events and shows how to avoid them Highlighting differences between environments that stimulate intelligence and those that blunt it Mulgan shows how human and machine intelligence could solve challenges in business climate change democracy and public health But for that to happen we ll need radically new professions institutions and ways of thinking Informed by the latest work on data web platforms and artificial intelligence Big Mind shows how collective intelligence could help us survive and thrive
