Dissertation Skills Brian White, Stephen Rayner, 2014-02-07 A dissertation is often a crucial part of a Business and Management degree and can heavily influence the final mark. It can be extremely daunting; it requires a lengthy piece of writing and forms a major component for assessment. In fact, when faced with this task, the first word that comes to mind for many students is simply Help. This new and updated edition provides the necessary help covering all the stages from the initial choice of subject through to the final writing. Stephen Rayner joins Brian White in this excellent guide to dissertations which is equally useful to both undergraduates and postgraduates. It includes support on all aspects of the dissertation from the student-supervisor relationship to evaluation and analysis of data.

Dissertation Skills Brian White, 2003 Final year dissertations often constitute a major part of a student's degree. This work aims to maximise the potential of its readers, guiding them clearly and calmly through the steps involved in putting together a successful piece of work.

Management Consulting at Faculties of Design - Opportunities and Limitations Waltraud Gerda Lassner, 2006-02-14 Inhaltsangabe Abstract This dissertation deals with reforms in the German system of higher education and investigates whether these processes could be facilitated by management consultants. The main focus is placed on design faculties. The investigation of the subject is based on a case study approach. The starting point within this three-part work is an introduction into the system of higher education in Germany by providing information on the political, legal and financial background, the structure and types and present challenges. The second part moves the investigation towards the design faculties. An analysis of design practice and education reveals both the situation design faculties find themselves in and initial reform attempts. How the policy of reform could be followed through successfully is answered in part three by presenting relevant consulting activities and projects in the field of higher education. Opportunities and limitations which can be expected from an involvement of management consultants round off this part. German higher education seemed to be in a continuous cycle of crises and is still seen as having need of reforms in the face of future challenges. As statistical data reveal, institutions had and still have to cope with a decrease in federal funding and with an increase of students. In the face of future challenges such as internationalisation and globalisation, they need to position themselves effectively by keeping in mind their strengths The new General Act on Higher Education encourages this step by granting higher education institutions more autonomy In turn these are expected to evolve into target oriented entrepreneurial institutions This requires a fundamental reform such as described in two current concepts for future higher education institutions The Unchained University and Guide for the Knowledge Based Society In the second part design faculties are looked at in more detail and also aspects of design practice and education are examined based on statistical data The overall picture shows that major changes occurred in the area of design This is reflected in the high unemployment rate Also expectations from the industry are way beyond the capabilities of a design student who has studied for four years This has consequences for design education In this context higher education conferences are mentioned which addressed the current need for reforms A fundamental change in the way that design is      Research Methods for Accounting and Finance Audrey Paterson, David Leung, 2016-10-04 Research Methods for Accounting and Finance is an essential text for accounting and finance students undertaking research for the first time It demystifies the research process by providing the novice researcher with a must have guide through all of the stages of the research process from identifying a research topic to the finished project
