Sermons on Some of the Distinguishing Doctrines of Divine Revelation ,1814 The Bible as a Human Witness to Divine Revelation Randall Heskett,Brian Irwin,2010-11-04 This work represents the attempts of several major scholars to respond to the historical problems presented throughout the biblical testimony and their description of what this means for reading scripture Walter Brueggemann for example has written a wonderful article on various historical problems within the book of Genesis beginning with Von Rad s and Noth s use of source criticism and his own understanding of how historically dissimilar texts can function within scripture This book honors the work and life of Gerald Sheppard who broke ground in biblical studies by describing what it means to read the Bible as Jewish and Christian

Scripture It distinguishes between the original historical dimensions of the text or mere redaction levels of tradition history and what Sheppard regarded as the Scriptural Form of the biblical testimony It provides new and fresh ways for describing scripture as both a human testimony and also divine revelation The Bible as a Human Witness to Divine Revelation provides examples of how major scholars have responded to the limits of the older modern criticisms within the framework of still applying a variety of historical criticisms and paying attention to the later formation and context of the biblical book It also helps readers understand how to hear the word of God through biblical text that are filled with historical dissimilarities or even contradictions The book shows scholarly examples that respond to crises of both the pre modern and modern eras as unfinished projects because pre modernity tended to ignore the human dimensions of scripture and modernity tended to limit its inquiry only to that single dimension
