Alternative Dispute Resolution and Peace-building in Africa Ernest E. Uwazie, 2014-06-26 Conflicts in Africa have a great deal in common and striking parallels can be drawn between them at all levels Dynamics affecting the most complex war time conflicts civil unrest and other macro disputes are in play even in the smallest community conflicts The converse is also true lessons learned through community mediation for example in South Africa are applicable to the most complex and largest conflicts to be found on the continent Together the eleven chapters in this publication in addition to the prologue and epilogue suggest that a comprehensive assessment of efforts and investments in conflict resolution and peace studies in Africa since the mid 1990s is due in order to identify lessons and challenges as well as best practices Just as conflict dynamics are comparable between African conflicts whether large or small local or international so are alternative dispute resolution processes Effective approaches to resolving large scale conflicts and civil wars are effective at the community level and ineffectual techniques at the community level are just as likely to be counter productive in mediating international disputes While there may be some differences in mediating macro and micro conflicts such as the time required the need for negotiation teams and the complexities of agenda development or pre negotiations as far as the mediation process is concerned the differences are more like variations on a theme than real substantive dissimilarities This volume provides case studies of programs and policies and legislations on alternative dispute resolution and peace building and examines and proposes some new promising ideas for conflict prevention as well as maintenance of peace justice and security in Africa

Comparative and Transnational Dispute Resolution Shahla Ali, 2023-02-10 This edited volume presents research and policy insights into the theory and practice of dispute systems reform in diverse jurisdictions It highlights how important extra judicial mechanisms are for resolving cross border disputes as evidenced both by the breadth of scholarship dedicated to the issue and the proliferation of parties resorting to non litigious dispute resolution mechanisms in recent years Drawing on selected case studies the book examines the impact of comparative research and policy analysis in advancing reform of dispute resolution institutions at both the regional and global levels It explores the challenges and opportunities of understanding and assessing developments in systems of dispute resolution in diverse social and political contexts through comparative research With a growing number of disputes which have come to involve cross border issues anyone interested in transnational and comparative dispute resolution will find this book a useful reference

Harlow, Richard Rawlings, 2021-07-22 Law and Administration takes a contextual approach to administrative law setting law and legal rules in the context of the social political and economic forces that shape the law and of the complex constitutional framework in which contemporary administrative law operates This book contains a full account of judicial review the traditional heartland of administrative law and adds to this by taking into account the concerns of government officials and agencies who operate and shape the law It also looks at the possible future of administrative law in an increasingly automated and digitalised world A fully revised and updated new edition this book includes new case studies of regulatory agencies and government contracting to develop understanding of law in practice Dispute Resolution in China Weixia Gu, 2021-02-22 China's ever expanding commercial influence has attracted global attention on how its civil and commercial disputes are resolved This compelling new book Dispute Resolution in China offers a detailed examination of the elements in the Chinese legal system and the relevant reforms to the multiplicity of approaches to civil and commercial disputes in China today This book reveals how civil litigation commercial arbitration mediation and their hybrid dispute resolution have distinctly responded to reformed and developed in the context of China's transformational economic growth societal development and international interaction in the last two decades It situates these developments and continued experimentation within a unique hybrid of empirical contextual and comparative analytical framework while paving productive pathways towards the future This book argues that rather than being a legal project China's civil and commercial dispute resolution system is essentially a social development project which distinguishes the Chinese approach to civil justice reform from contemporary civil justice movements elsewhere Among the primary methods of dispute resolution commercial arbitration in China today uniquely transcending the traditional socio political constraints its reform has developed in favor of market oriented considerations and shaped by China's socio economic dynamics and internationalization needs By contrast civil litigation and mediation being more instrumentalist in nature their reform is socio politically embedded and continues to prioritize social stability This book also shines a fresh light on comparative assessments of top down and bottom up changes in China's dispute resolution discourse as well as on how China speaks to international dispute resolution systems Original and rich in its analysis this book will be essential reading and invaluable reference tool for scholars with a focus on Chinese law comparative and international dispute resolution and on broader legal institutional economic social political and cultural dimensions of dispute resolution development Dispute Processing and Conflict Resolution Carrie Menkel-Meadow, 2003 This insightful volume is essential for a clearer understanding of dispute resolution After examining the historical and intellectual foundations of dispute processing Carrie Menkel Meadow turns her attention to the future of conflict resolution
