Diy Futures Peoples Ideas And Projects For A Better World:

DIY Futures Nicholas Albery, 1996 Synchronizing Science and Technology with Human Behaviour Ralf

Brand, 2010-09-23 A rare achievement one of the first books to link technological and behavioural change to the sustainability agenda Charles Landry author of The Creative City Any course interested in sustainable development in practice would benefit from the case studies here Dr Adrian Smith SPRU Science and Technology Policy Research Unit University of Sussex UK Two disjointed voices can be identified in the prevailing sustainability discourse one technology focused the other favouring behavioural solutions This new practical text bridges the gap in a co evolutionary framework enabling more sustainable policies and projects to be developed Arguing that technical and social realms are much more connected than most people concerned with sustainability tend to admit the author has developed an innovative and integrated strategy that encourages planners architects and politicians to work with end users in co designing technologies and infrastructures that make socially desired behaviours more attractive Having explained the nature of the problem the author outlines key concepts and shared characteristics of co evolutionary projects and anticipates possible criticisms Through detailed analysis and diverse case studies the reader is presented with a clear picture of a more holistic approach to planning sustainable cities and regions which will be invaluable for students and professionals alike This will be an invaluable textbook and planning tool suitable for students of science and technology studies STS regional policy and planning and practitioners including city and regional planners policy makers and consultants Living Lightly Walter Schwarz, Dorothy Schwarz, 1998

An enthralling account of the authors travels across four continents among people living lightly on the earth more self reliant more neighborly more in tune with their environment less stressed than the majority who strive for success in the consumer economy In Britain and Europe Canada and the USA New England Philadelphia Tennessee Seattle Australia India and Japan the authors share the lives and homes of lifestyle pioneers who believe they have created a better model for the 21st century

Hermeneutics, History, and Technology Armin Grunwald, Alfred Nordmann, Martin Sand, 2023-06-01 For better and worse the future is often conceived in technological terms Technology is supposed to meet the challenge of climate change or resource depletion And when one asks about the world in 20 or 100 years answers typically revolve around AI genome editing or geoengineering There is great demand to speculate about the future of work the future of mobility Industry 4 0 and Humanity 2 0 The humanities and social sciences science studies and technology assessment respond to this demand but need to seek out a responsible way of taking the future into account This collection of papers interviews debates grew out of disagreements about technological futures speculative ethics plausible scenarios anticipatory governance and proactionary and precautionary approaches It proposes Hermeneutic Technology Assessment as a way of understanding ourselves through our ways of envisioning the future At the same time a hermeneutic understanding of technological projects and prototypes allows for normative assessments of their promises Is the future an object of design This question can bring together and divide policy makers STS scholars social theorists and philosophers of history and it will interest also the scientists and engineers who labor under the demand to deliver that future
