Clark,Kent Mountford,2008 Captain John Smith s voyages throughout the new world did not end or for that matter begin with the trip on which he was captured and brought to the great chief Powhatan Partly in an effort to map the region Smith covered countless leagues of the Chesapeake Bay and its many tributary rivers and documented his experiences In this ambitious and extensively illustrated book scholars from multiple disciplines take the reader on Smith s exploratory voyages and reconstruct the Chesapeake environment and its people as Smith encountered them Beginning with a description of the land and waterways as they were then the book also provides a portrait of the native peoples who lived and worked on them as well as the motives and the means the recently arrived English had at their disposal for learning about a world only they thought of as new Readers are then taken along on John Smith s two expeditions to map the bay an account drawn largely from Smith's own journals and told by the coauthor an avid sailor with a complete reconstruction of the winds tides and local currents Smith would have faced The authors then examine the region in more detail the major river valleys the various parts of the Eastern Shore and the head of the Bay Each area is mapped and described with added sections on how the Native Americans used the specific natural resources available how English settlements spread and what has happened to the native people since the English arrived The book concludes with a discussion on the changes in the region's waters and its plant and animal life since John Smith's time some of which reflect the natural shifts over time in this dynamic ecosystem others the result of the increased human population and the demands that come with it Published by the University of Virginia Press in association with Chesapeake Bay Gateways Network and the U S National Park Service Virginia Department of Historic Resources and Maryland Historical Trust     Carnivorous Plant Newsletter ,2002     The Washington Post Index ,1989     American Book Publishing Record ,2000-07     Bibliography of Agriculture with Subject Index ,2000     Subject Guide to Books in Print ,2001     Chesapeake Bay Resources Directory ,1990     Books In Print 2004-2005 Ed Bowker Staff,Staff Bowker, Ed,2004     Encyclopedia of Marine Science C.
