Dayton Comes Of Age Through The Eyes Of John H Patterson:

Lost Dayton, Ohio Andrew Walsh, 2018-06-11 Many of the places that helped make Dayton a center of innovation were lost to history while others survived and adapted representing the city's spirit of revitalization. Some of the city's distinctive and significant structures such as Steele High School and the Callahan Building were demolished while others including the Arcade and Centre City Building saw hard times but now await redevelopment. Entire neighborhoods such as the Haymarket and commercial districts such as West Fifth Street vanished and show no traces of their past. Others including the popular Oregon District narrowly escaped the wrecking ball. From the Wright Brothers Factory to the park that hosted the first NFL game, Andrew Walsh explores the diverse selection of retail, industrial, entertainment, and residential sites from Dayton's disappearing legacy.

Jump Back, Paul Sally Derby, 2015-09-22 Did you know that Paul Laurence Dunbar originated such famous lines as "I know why the caged bird sings" and "We wear the mask that grins and lies"? From his childhood in poverty and his early promise as a poet through his struggles to find acceptance as a writer and his tumultuous romance with his wife to his immense fame and his untimely death, Dunbar's story is one of triumph and tragedy. But his legacy remains in his much beloved poetry told in both Standard English and in dialect which continues to delight and inspire readers today. More than two dozen of Dunbar's poems are woven throughout this volume, illuminating the phases of his life and serving as examples of dialect imagery and tone. Narrating in a voice full of admiration and respect, Sally Derby introduces Paul Laurence Dunbar's life and poetry to readers young and old, aided by Sean Qualls's striking black and white illustrations. Discover the breadth and depth of Paul Laurence Dunbar's poetry and learn how it reflects his singular life as a late nineteenth-century black man.
