Hermeneutics Richard E. Palmer, 1969 Hermeneutics introduces English speaking readers to a field of increasing importance in contemporary philosophy and theology hermeneutics the theory of understanding or interpretation Hermeneutics is concerned with the character of understanding especially as it is related to interpreting linguistic texts It goes beyond mere philological methodology however to questions of the philosophy of language the nature of historical understanding and ultimately the roots of interpretation in existential understanding Palmer principally treats the conception of hermeneutics enunciated by Heidegger and developed into a philosophical hermeneutics by Hans Georg Gadamer He provides a brief overview of the field of hermeneutics by surveying some half dozen alternate definitions of the term and by examining in detail the contributions of Friedrich Schleiermacher and Wilhelm Dilthey In the Manifesto which concludes the book Palmer suggests the potential significance of hermeneutics for literary interpretation When the context of interpretation is pressed to its limits hermeneutics becomes the philosophical analysis of what is involved in every act of understanding In this context hermeneutics becomes relevant not simply to the humanistic disciplines in which linguistic and historical understanding are crucial but to scientific forms of interpretation as well for it asserts the principles involved in any and every act of interpretation

Consciousness and Reality: Hegel's Philosophy of Subjectivity J.L. Navickas, 2012-12-06 With the rise of analytical philosophy the criticism against Hegelianism has become increasingly shrill and signs of an embarrassment that Hegel's philosophy should ever have arisen are noticeable in such influential works as those of Karl Popper and Hans Reichenbach to mention but a few However many contemporary philosophers stress what is called subjectivity conceiving reality as susceptible of methodical analysis only to the extent that it is in and for the subject What is more they not only insist on the importance of the subject for philosophy but maintain that the subject must be conceived as the principal determinative of true objectivity Since knowledge depends for its possibility on the inseparable correlatives of consciousness and reality they would grant that a proper importance must be given to both subject and object Still exemplifying the relational principle within the unity of a dual structure the subject serves as an exclusive agent that provides ingress into the meaning of the object
