Creeping Conformity Richard Harris,2004-12-15 Creeping Conformity the first history of suburbanization in Canada provides a geographical perspective both physical and social on Canada s suburban past Shaped by internal and external migration decentralization of employment and increased use of the streetcar and then the automobile the rise of the suburb held great social promise reflecting the aspirations of Canadian families for more domestic space and home ownership After 1945 however the suburbs became stereotyped as generic physically standardized and socially conformist places By 1960 they had grown further away physically and culturally from their respective parent cities and brought unanticipated social and environmental consequences Government intervention also played a key role encouraging mortgage indebtedness amortization and building and subdivision regulations to become the suburban norm Suburban homes became less affordable and more standardized and for the first time Canadian commentators began to speak disdainfully of the suburbs or simply suburbia Creeping Conformity traces how these perceptions emerged to reflect a new suburban reality Electronic Format Disclaimer Two images removed at the request of the rights holder Research in Urban Sociology Mark Clapson,Ray Hutchison,2010-12-14 Presents contributions in comparative suburban studies for urban regions not just in Europe and the United States but also metropolitan regions in China India and other areas of the world This title examines the patterns of suburban development in metropolitan regions around the globe A People's History of Civilization John Zerzan,2018-04-10 The American anarchist primitivist philosopher and author John Zerzan critiques agriculture based civilization as inherently oppressive and advocates drawing upon the life of hunter gatherers as an inspiration for what free society should look like Subjects of his criticism include domestication language symbolic thought and the concept of time This book includes sixteen essays ranging from the beginning of civilization to today s general crisis Zerzan provides a critical perspective about civilization A People s History of Civilization includes chapters about Patriarchy The City and its Inmates War Enters the Picture The Bronze Age The Axial Age The Crisis of Late Antiquity Revolt and Heresy Modernity Takes Charge Who Killed Ned Ludd Cultural Luddism Industrialism and Resistance Decadence WWI Civilization s Pathological Endgame In recent years John Zerzan co editor of Black and Green Review has successfully toured Europe to speak from his primitivist perspective regarding contemporary civilization Zerzan calls Eugene Oregon War Junk Alex Souchen,2020-04-15 During the Second World War Canadian factories produced mountains of munitions and supplies including some 800 ships 16 000 aircraft 800 000 vehicles and over 4 6 billion rounds of ammunition and artillery shells Although they were crucial to winning the war these assets turned into peacetime liabilities when hostilities ended in 1945 Drawing on comprehensive archival research Alex Souchen provides a definitive account of the disposal crisis triggered by Allied victory and shows how policymakers implemented a disposal strategy that facilitated postwar reconstruction Canadians responded to the unprecedented divestment of public property by reusing and recycling military surpluses to improve their postwar lives War Junk recounts the complex political economic social and environmental legacies of munitions disposal in Canada by revealing how the tools of war became integral to the making of postwar Canada The Beaches Richard White,2024-05-01 The Beaches is one of Toronto s best known and most admired neighbourhoods It has no striking works of architecture or splendid public spaces no must see galleries or public institutions and no associations with historic events or great celebrities the sort of things that create neighbourhood reputations and draw visitors It does however have an attractive character and it is this character that Richard White seeks to understand offering insights into how it came to be and why it has endured With an eye to the broader historical context The Beaches recounts the neighbourhood s initial colonial settlement its development as a lakeside recreational community in the late nineteenth century its emergence as a streetcar suburb after 1900 its maturation in the 1920s and 1930s its relative decline in the 1950s and 1960s and its revival in the 1970s and beyond Utilizing a wide range of archival records including council minutes plans of subdivision newspapers public land records city directories assessment rolls and historical photographs as well as the present day landscape The Beaches reveals the various forces public and private local and international that shaped this cherished urban neighbourhood
