Multilevel Regulation of Military and Security Contractors Christine Bakker, Mirko Sossai, 2012-02-10 The outsourcing of military and security services is the object of intense legal debate States employ private military and security companies PMSCs to perform functions previously exercised by regular armed forces and increasingly international organisations NGOs and business corporations do the same to provide security particularly in crisis situations Much of the public attention on PMSCs has been in response to incidents in which PMSC employees have been accused of violating international humanitarian law Therefore initiatives have been launched to introduce uniform international standards amidst what is currently very uneven national regulation This book analyses and discusses the interplay between international European and domestic regulatory measures in the field of PMSCs It presents a comprehensive assessment of the existing domestic legislation in EU Member States and relevant Third States and identifies implications for future international regulation The book also addresses the crucial questions whether and how the EU can potentially play a more active future role in the regulation of PMSCs to ensure compliance with human rights and international humanitarian law Improperly Obtained Evidence in Anglo-American and Continental Law Dimitrios Giannouloupoulos, 2019-02-21 This is the first book to offer an extensive cosmopolitan cross cultural insight into the perennial controversy over the use of improperly obtained evidence in criminal trials It challenges the conventional view that exclusionary rules are idiosyncratic of Anglo American law and highlights the constitutionalisation and internationalisation of criminal evidence and procedure as a cause of rapprochement or divergence beyond the Anglo American and Continental law divide Analysis focuses on confessional evidence and evidence obtained by search and seizure telephone interceptions and other means of electronic surveillance The laws of England and Wales France Greece and the United States are systematically compared and contrasted throughout this study but where appropriate analysis extends to other Anglo American and Continental legal systems The book reviews exclusionary rules vis vis the operation of judicial discretion and explores the normative justifications that underpin them It attempts to reinvigorate the idea of excluding evidence to protect constitutional or human rights the rights thesis arguing that there is significant scope for Anglo American and Continental legal systems to place a renewed emphasis on it particularly in relation to confessional evidence obtained in violation of custodial interrogation rights we can locate an emerging rapprochement and unique potential for European Court of Human Rights jurisprudence to build consensus in this respect In marked contrast remaining divergence with regard to evidence obtained by privacy violations means there is little momentum to adopt a reinvigorated rights thesis more widely Longlisted for the Inner Temple Book Prize 2022 Kyrgyzstan Criminal Laws, Regulations and Procedures Handbook: Strategic Information, Regulations, Procedures IBP, Inc., 2016-06-29

Handbook on Policing in Central and Eastern Europe Gorazd Meško, Charles B. Fields, Branko Lobnikar, Andrej Sotlar, 2013-04-16 Policing in Central and Eastern Europe has changed greatly since the fall of the Berlin Wall. Some Central and Eastern European countries are constituent members of the European Union while others have been trying to harmonize with the EU and international requirements for a more democratic policing and developments in accordance with Western European and international policing standards especially in regard to issues of legality and legitimacy. Changes in the police training system, basic and advanced internationalization of policing due to transnationalization of crime and deviance, new police organizational structures and agencies have impacted new cultures of policing from exclusively state to plural policing. This timely volume examines developments in the last two decades to learn the nature of these changes within Central and Eastern Europe and their impact on police culture as well as on society as a whole. The development of police research has varied widely throughout Central and Eastern Europe; in some countries it has developed significantly while in others it is still in its infancy. This work will allow for a transfer of ideas and models of police organization and policing; it also needs to be studied closely with an aim to provide consistent and comparable data across all of the countries discussed. For the twenty countries covered, this systematic work provides short country-based information on police organization and social control, crime and disorder trends in the last 20 years, with an emphasis on policing, police training and police educational systems, changes in policing in the last 20 years, police and the media, present trends in policing, public and private, multilateral, plural policing, policing urban and rural communities, recent research trends in research on policing, specificities of research on police and policing, researchers and the police, inclusion of police researchers in policy making and police practice and future developments in policing.

Stalking in the Netherlands Suzan van der Aa, 2010 Writing love letters, making phone calls and sending gifts: these are all seemingly innocuous behaviours. This changes when the love expressed in the letters remains unrequited, when the phone calls amount to hundreds a night or when the gifts consist of bullets and funeral wreaths. When attempts to contact another person happen with a certain nature and frequency, the behaviour can be qualified as stalking and it can have a detrimental impact on the life of the person subjected to the unwanted attention. In this book, an account is given of the nature and prevalence of the problem of stalking in the Netherlands, of the effectiveness and the disadvantages of resorting to the police and of the pros and cons of two alternative anti-stalking measures: hiring the services of a private investigation and protection agency and obtaining a civil restraining order.
