Pyper, 2000-12-21 Embracing the viewpoints of Catholic Protestant or Orthodox thinkers of conservatives liberals radicals and agnostics Christianity today is anything but monolithic or univocal In The Oxford Companion to Christian Thought general editor Adrian Hastings has tried to capture a sense of the great diversity of opinion that swirls about under the heading of Christian thought. Indeed the 260 contributors who hail from twenty countries represent as wide a range of perspectives as possible. Here is a comprehensive and authoritative though not dogmatic overview of the full spectrum of Christian thinking. Within its 600 alphabetically arranged entries readers will find lengthy survey articles on the history of Christian thought on national and regional traditions and on various denominations from Anglican to Unitarian. There is ample coverage of Eastern thought as well as examining the Christian tradition in China, Japan, India and Africa. The contributors examine major theological topics such as resurrection, the Eucharist and grace as well as controversial issues such as homosexuality and abortion. In addition short entries illuminate symbols such as water and wine and there are many profiles of leading theologians of non-Christians who have deeply influenced Christian thinking including Aristotle and Plato and of literary figures such as Dante, Milton and Tolstoy. Most articles end with a list of suggested readings and the book features a large number of cross references. The Oxford Companion to Christian Thought is an indispensable guide to one of the central strands of Western culture. An essential volume for all Christians it is a thoughtful gift for the holidays.

Christianity in Africa Kwame Bediako, 1995. The aim of this book is to teach you to understand and speak Welsh as it is spoken today. In order to achieve this the language introduced is centred on a wide range of realistic everyday situations. The course covers the four basic skills: listening and speaking, reading and writing, with recorded material to accompany your work and provide you with the essential opportunity to listen to native speakers and speak it yourself. Key structures and vocabulary are introduced in 21 thematic units preceded by an alphabet and pronunciation guide, a mutation chart for quick reference and a map of Wales.

Christian Ethics in an African Background Edmund Ilogu, 1974

Issues in African Christian Theology Samuel Ngewa, Mark Shaw, Tite Tienou, 1998. Christian theologians in Africa are faced with three conflicting worlds: Christian faith, African culture and modern culture. In spite of the commitment of Christian theologians to live by biblical teaching there is a tendency for them to become involved with issues in their environments causing tension. The salient issues confronting Christianity in Africa are examined from an evangelical standpoint. Eighteen African scholars from Ethiopia, Ghana, Kenya, Nigeria, Tanzania together with colleagues from the US contribute perspectives grouped into four parts: The Task of African Christian Theology, The Foundations of African Christian Theology, Christ and the Salvation in African Christian Theology and The Spirit, the Church and the Future in African Christian Theology.
