

K-T Mass Extinction: Sea Level Fall

Late Mesozoic

- sea level high
- land areas separated (despite fairly close proximity of continents to one another)
- lots of "shelf" area for shallow marine organisms

Early Cenozoic

- sea level lower
- continents further apart (but perhaps more land bridges)
- less "shelf" area for shallow marine organisms

Cretaceous Tertiary Mass Extinctions:

Catastrophic Events and Mass Extinctions Christian Koeberl, Kenneth G. MacLeod, 2002 Mass Extinctions and Their Aftermath, 1997-09-11 Why do mass extinctions occur The demise of the dinosaurs has been discussed exhaustively but has never been put into the context of other extinction events This is the first systematic review of the mass extinctions of all organisms plant and animal terrestrial and marine that have occurred in the history of life This includes the major crisis 250 million years ago which nearly wiped out all life on Earth By examining current paleontological geological and sedimentological evidence of environmental changes the cases for explanations based on climate change marine regressions asteroid or comet impact anoxia and volcanic eruptions are all critically evaluated Cretaceous-Tertiary Mass Extinctions Norman MacLeod, Gerta Keller, 1996-01 Cretaceous Tertiary Mass Extinctions Biotic and Environmental Changes is a fascinating new study that combines the most current research on mass extinction with the theoretical perspectives of the leaders in the field In twenty engaging essays more than thirty leading paleobiologists and paleontologists uncover a wealth of data from the fossil record about changes in species survival and physical environments across the Cretaceous Tertiary K T boundary Together these papers present a much awaited global perspective on the biological and environmental changes taking place during this critical period in the history of life Anyone interested in the K T boundary controversy and how research scientists interpret the relationship between climate change and mass extinction will find this work essential

The Mass-Extinction Debates William Glen, 1994 This book examines the arguments and behavior of the scientists who have been locked in conflict over two competing theories to explain why 65 million years ago most life on earth including the dinosaurs perished The Cretaceous-Tertiary Event and Other Catastrophes in Earth History Graham Ryder, David E. Fastovsky, Stefan Gartner, 1996-01-01 This volume attempts to explore and clarify the relationship among the geological records the extinctions and the causes of catastrophes for life in Earth's history Most of the papers address the geological record and the extinctions across the Cretaceous Tertiary boundary and the buried Chicxulub structure that is now consensually deemed to be of impact origin and to be intimately related to that boundary GSA website Catastrophes and Lesser Calamities Anthony Hallam, 2004 Uses the geological record to trace historical and modern views on five mass extinction events including the disappearance of dinosaurs The Great Dinosaur Extinction Controversy Charles Officer, Jake Page, 1996-06-30 In 1980 Nobel Laureate Luis Alvarez announced his theory of the dinosaurs final demise a gigantic meteorite crashed into the earth and raised a cloud of dust that caused darkness for years suppressing photosynthesis which impeded plant growth and eventually starved the dinosaurs This idea exploded into common awareness with almost unprecedented speed and was instantly embraced by the media and the public Almost without question it quickly became the hottest scientific fact Unfortunately for Alvarez many in the scientific community did not support this theory and in fact later research showed the impossibility of such an idea The Great Dinosaur Extinction Controversy chronicles the fantastic story of how this hypothesis became so widespread the way it became common knowledge from the pages of Science to The New York Times to Parade Magazine the controversy it caused and the ample scientific research that proves the theory wrong Officer and Page also present an attractive and carefully investigated alternative explanation for the mass extinctions that occurred at the end of the Cretaceous period Through this account they show the ways that sound science should be performed and the findings transmitted

Volcanism, Impacts, and Mass Extinctions: Causes and Effects Gerta Keller, Andrew C. Kerr, 2014-09-16 Comprises articles stemming from the March 2013 international conference at London's Natural History Museum Researchers across geological geophysical and biological disciplines present key results from research concerning the causes of mass extinction events

Comparison of the Cretaceous-Tertiary Boundary Impact Events and the 0.77-Ma Australasian Tektite Event E. C. T. Chao, 1993 Reinterpretation of iridium anomalies shocked quartz and microtektites attributed to cratering events in Cretaceous Tertiary boundary sections Evidence from the Ries crater of Germany and Australasian tektites is essential to understanding giant craters and mass extinction

Mass Extinctions, Volcanism, and Impacts Thierry Adatte, David P.G. Bond, Gerta Keller, 2020-04-13 This volume covers new developments and research on mass extinctions volcanism and impacts It addresses the following topics the Central Iapetus magmatic province thermogenic degassing in large igneous provinces global mercury enrichment in Valanginian sediments Guerrero Morelos carbonate platform response to the Caribbean Colombian Cretaceous large igneous province implications for the Cretaceous Paleocene boundary event in shallow platform environments and correlation to the deep sea environmental effects of Deccan volcanism on biotic transformations and attendant Cretaceous Paleogene boundary mass extinction in the Indian subcontinent Deccan red boles and factors leading to the collapse of producers during the Chicxulub impact and Deccan Traps eruptions

The Last Extinction Gerta Keller, 2025-09-09 The story behind Dr Gerta Keller's world shattering scientific discovery that dinosaur extinction was NOT caused by asteroid impact but rather by volcanic eruptions on the Indian peninsula a discovery that highlights today's existential threat of greenhouse gasses and climate change and one that sparked an all out war waged by the scientific establishment Part scientific detective story part personal odyssey The Last Extinction is the definitive account of a radical theory that has reshaped how we understand our planet's past and as we face the possibility of a sixth extinction how we might survive its future For decades the dominant theory held that an asteroid impact caused the dinosaurs extinction But Princeton Geologist Dr Gerta Keller followed the evidence to the truth Deccan volcanism a series of massive volcanic eruptions in India triggered a long term climate catastrophe and Earth's fifth mass extinction Her findings upended the field and ignited a bitter feud in modern science what became known as the Dinosaur Wars Raised in poverty on a Swiss farm and told she could never be a scientist Keller defied expectations earning her PhD at Stanford and battling her way into the highest ranks of Geology eventually becoming a Professor of Paleontology and Geology at Princeton University Her refusal to back down in the face of ridicule sabotage and sexism makes her story as thrilling as her science which offers urgent insight into today's climate crisis Sustained planetary upheaval not a single cataclysmic event can plunge the planet into an age of death Extinction and Radiation J. David Archibald, 2011-03-15 This study identifies the fall of dinosaurs as the factor that allowed mammals to evolve into the dominant tetrapod form It refutes the single cause impact theory for dinosaur extinction and demonstrates that multiple factors massive volcanic eruptions loss of shallow seas and extraterrestrial impact likely led to their demise While their avian relatives ultimately survived and thrived terrestrial dinosaurs did not Taking their place as the dominant land and sea tetrapods were mammals whose radiation was explosive following nonavian dinosaur extinction The author argues that because of dinosaurs Mesozoic mammals changed relatively slowly for 145 million years compared to the prodigious Cenozoic radiation that followed Finally out from under the shadow of the giant reptiles Cenozoic mammals evolved into the forms we recognize today in a mere ten million years after dinosaur extinction Death of the Dinosaurs and Other Mass Extinctions, 1987 Dinosaurs, Diamonds, and Things from Outer Space David Brez Carlisle, 1995 Presents a new explanation of the Cretaceous-Tertiary Boundary event Special Publication, 1991 T. rex and the Crater of Doom Walter Alvarez, 2013-06-25 Sixty five million years ago a comet or asteroid larger than Mount Everest slammed into the Earth inducing an explosion equivalent to the detonation of a hundred million hydrogen bombs Vaporized detritus blasted through the atmosphere upon impact falling back to Earth around the globe Disastrous environmental consequences ensued a giant tsunami continent scale wildfires darkness and cold followed by sweltering greenhouse heat When conditions returned to normal half the plant and animal genera on Earth had perished This horrific chain of events is now widely accepted as the solution to a great scientific mystery what caused the extinction of the dinosaurs Walter Alvarez one of the Berkeley scientists who discovered evidence of the impact tells the story behind the development of the initially controversial theory It is a saga of high adventure in remote locations of arduous data collection and intellectual struggle of long periods of frustration ended by sudden breakthroughs of friendships made and lost and of the exhilaration of discovery that forever altered our understanding of Earth's geological history The End of the Dinosaurs Charles Frankel, 1999-09-23 The End of the Dinosaurs gives a detailed account of the great mass extinction that rocked the Earth 65 million years ago and focuses on the discovery of the culprit the Chicxulub impact crater in Mexico It recounts the birth of the cosmic hypothesis the controversy that preceded its acceptance the search for the crater its discovery and ongoing exploration and the effect of the giant impact on the biosphere Other mass extinctions in the fossil record are reviewed as is the threat of asteroids and comets to our planet today The account of the impact and its aftermath is suitable for general readers The description of the crater geology is in enough detail to interest students of the earth sciences A detailed index and bibliography are included Hiatus distributions and mass extinctions at the Cretaceous/Tertiary boundary N. Macleod, G. KELLER, 1991 Biological Modeling of the Cretaceous-Tertiary Boundary Extinctions Using Extant Photosynthetic Microorganisms Kathleen Griffis, 1986 Host Bibliographic Record for
