Crime And Insecurity:

Crime and Insecurity Adam Crawford, 2013-01-11 Concerns over insecurity and questions of safety have become central issues in social and political debates across Europe and the western world. Crucial changes have followed as a result such as a redefinition of the role of the state in relation to policing a central theme of this book and an explosion in the growth of private policing. These developments have in their turn heightened feelings of insecurity and safety particularly where populations have become increasingly mobile and societies more socially fragmented, culturally diverse and economically fragmented. Responses to insecurity now increasingly inform decisions made by governments, organisations and ordinary people in their social interactions. This book makes a key contribution to an understanding of these developments approaching the subject from a range of perspectives across several different disciplines. The three parts of the book look at broader theoretical and thematic issues then at cross national and pan European developments and debates in European governance and finally explore specific examples of local issues of community safety and the broader implications these have. Leading figures in the field draw upon criminological, legal, social and political theory to shed new light on what has become one of the most intractable problems facing western societies.

Violent Crime and Insecurity in Latin America and the Caribbean Paul M Bisca, Vu Chau, Mr. Paolo Dudine, Mr. Raphael A Espinoza, Jean-Marc Fournier, Pierre Guérin, Mr. Niels-Jakob H Hansen, Jorge Salas, 2024-11-11 Violent crime and insecurity remain major barriers to prosperity in Latin America and the Caribbean. LAC With just 8 percent of the global population LAC accounts for a third of the world's homicides. Building on the existing literature this paper aims to support economic policymakers and development partners by exploring the interplay between insecurity and macroeconomic outcomes with emphasis on the relationship between violent crime and growth, the business climate and public finances. The analysis shows that national level crime indicators mask huge internal disparities and that municipalities with 10 percent higher homicide rates have lower economic activity by around 4 percent. The paper develops an innovative measure of insecurity, the share of crime related news, and shows its association with lower industrial production. Using firm level data it also estimates that the direct costs of crime for firms are around 7 percent of annual sales and these are much higher when gangs and drug trafficking organizations are present. Violent crime rises with macroeconomic instability, inequality and governance problems. Using a large cross country panel the analysis finds that homicides increase when a country is affected by negative growth, high inflation or a worsening of inequality. Victimization surveys indicate that where populations are concerned with the rule of law, impunity and police corruption only one in five victims file their case with the police. Lack of trust and crime can be mutually reinforcing. Finally the paper documents the fiscal burden of security provision and finds that spending tends to be inelastic to crime and that spending efficiency could be improved. The paper concludes with policy lessons and areas for additional collaboration between national authorities, international partners and key stakeholders. These focus on data collection and analysis, economic policies that may address the root causes and manifestations of crime strengthening rule of law institutions and intensifying regional exchanges on security and public finance issues Taxonomy and Anatomy of Crime and Insecurity in West Africa Sam Obadiah Smah, Deborah Hembafan Smah, 2023 The Latin American Voter Ryan E Carlin, Matthew M Singer, Elizabeth J Zechmeister, 2015-07-21 In this volume experts on Latin American public opinion and political behavior employ region wide public opinion studies elite surveys experiments and advanced statistical methods to reach several key conclusions about voting behavior in the region s emerging democracies In Latin America to varying degrees the average voter grounds his or her decision in factors identified in classic models of voter choice Individuals are motivated to go to the polls and select elected officials on the basis of class religion gender ethnicity and other demographic factors substantive political connections including partisanship left right stances and policy preferences and politician performance in areas like the economy corruption and crime Yet evidence from Latin America shows that the determinants of voter choice cannot be properly understood without reference to context the substance specific cleavages campaigns performance and the structure fragmentation and polarization that characterize the political environment Voting behavior reflects the relative youth and fluidity of the region s party systems as parties emerge and splinter to a far greater degree than in long standing party systems Consequently explanations of voter choice centered around country differences stand on equal footing to explanations focused on individual level factors Mysteries of Police and Crime Arthur Griffiths, 1899 Community and household shocks and coping strategies: Findings from the eighth round of the Myanmar Household Welfare Survey (July - December 2024) van Asselt, Joanna, Aung, Zin Wai, 2025-06-23 The eighth round of the Myanmar Household Welfare Survey MHWS a nationally and regionally representative phone survey was conducted between October and December 2024 This round follows seven previous rounds carried out since December 2021 and reflects conditions during July December 2024 This report presents updated insights on the conflict climatic service and economic shocks households faced as well as the coping mechanisms they employ in response Security conditions were difficult throughout the recall period Seventeen percent of households reported feeling insecure in their communities while 19 percent reported low levels of trust Crime and violence affected 17 percent and 8 percent of communities respectively Insecurity remained highest in Kayah Chin and Kachin while Rakhine became more insecure and isolated Lawlessness was also widespread 17 percent of households reported gambling and 14 percent reported drug use in their communities especially in urban areas Thirty five percent of households express concerns over conscription particularly in urban centers like Yangon and Nay Pyi Taw as well as states like Shan and Rakhine Additionally 13 percent of respondents reported feeling unsafe while moving around and carrying out everyday tasks in their communities and 3 percent reported risks of kidnapping Climatic shocks further compounded hardship Nineteen percent of farming households experienced climatic shocks with severe flooding reported by 45 percent of households in Kayah 35 percent in Kayah and 36 percent in Rakhine Intense winds affected 14 percent of households in Chin These events like conflict have contributed to the destruction of homes infrastructure and services further deepening vulnerability Service disruptions further undermine wellbeing Among households connected to the national power grid 78 percent experienced daily power cuts lasting at least one hour In urban Rakhine households face up to 16 hours of outages daily Internet access was limited for 55 percent of households with near total internet blackouts in Rakhine and Kachin and over 30 percent without access in Sagaing and Kayah Although school enrollment and access to medical services rose modestly it remained low in conflict affected areas especially in Rakhine Economic pressures continue to mount Food inflation reached 39 percent between September and December 2024 Prices rose sharply for leafy greens potatoes and chicken Although rice prices also increased their contribution to overall food inflation was the lowest since 2022 at 19 percent Petrol prices rose by 7 percent in the quarter and 54 percent year on year Non food essentials such as soap 25 percent increase paracetamol 26 percent and toothpaste 128 percent also saw steep price increases Households have resorted to increasingly desperate measures to cope By late 2024 only 20 percent of households had any cash savings or bank deposits just 7 percent in Kayah Migration remains a key strategy with about 10 percent of households reporting a migrant in Q4 2024 Borrowing played a central role 64 percent of loans came from informal sources like friends and relatives and were largely used to cover food health and daily expenses Amid these challenges 52 percent of households reported giving to social services and one in four provided direct assistance to vulnerable neighbors or local food initiatives However if shocks continue to intensify households ability to cope may further erode leaving many without the resources needed to meet even basic needs

Mobility Patterns and Experiences of the Middle Classes in a Globalizing Age Monica Laura Vazquez Maggio, 2017-05-11 The book presents insights from a mixed methodology study that examines recent mobility patterns exhibited by the middle classes Its major contributions are two fold theoretically it advances the conceptualisation of middle class migration empirically it analyses the migratory motivations of a relatively new Latin American group in Australia The accelerated insertion of the Mexican society into globalisation processes is strongly linked not only to the growing participation in migration phenomena but also to people s outflow to new destinations Although studies of Mexican emigration are vast research on Mexican skilled migration is scarce and research that focuses on mobility to non USA destinations is even scarcer Mexicans are a relatively new addition to Australia s multicultural society and little is known about this group s profile and why they choose to migrate to Australia Employing a mixed methodology approach the book provides a comprehensive portrait of migration in a new group

The Ideas and Influence of Alan Williams Anne Mason, Adrian Towse, 2008 BE REASONABLE DO IT MY WAY The sign on Alan Williams desk revealed his sense of humour a man who invited and relished debate but always recognising that intellectual pursuits were a means to a practical end Perhaps best known for his work within cost benefit analysis Alan Williams was a man of principles who developed guiding values in healthcare economics that embraced and encouraged active intellectual engagement and progression He was concerned with the philosophical and ethical issues that underpin decision making and his courageous intellectual battles bore new ideas and revised ideology This compilation of papers and further discussions arising from the Alan Williams tribute conference provides an analysis of the evolution and current status of key concepts in the field It is highly recommended for health economics professionals and students

Reflections on the Revolution in Europe Christopher Caldwell, 2009-07-28 In light of cultural crises such as the Danish cartoon controversy and the terrorist attack on the Charlie Hebdo newspaper in Paris Christopher Caldwell's incisive perspective has never been more timely or indispensable Reflections on the Revolution in Europe is destined to become the classic work on how Muslim immigration permanently reshaped the West This provocative and unflinching analysis of Europe's unexpected influx of immigrants investigates the increasingly prominent Muslim populations actively shaping the future of the continent Muslims dominate or nearly dominate many important European cities including Amsterdam and Rotterdam Strasbourg and Marseille the Paris suburbs and East London and in those cities Islam has challenged the European way of life at every turn becoming in effect an adversary culture In Reflections on the Revolution in Europe Caldwell examines the anger of natives and newcomers alike He exposes the strange ways in which welfare states interact with Third World customs the anti-Americanism that brings European natives and Muslim newcomers together and the arguments over women and sex that drive them apart He considers the appeal of sharia resistance and jihad to a second generation that is more alienated from Europe than the first and addresses a crisis of faith among native Europeans that leaves them with a weak hand as they confront the claims of newcomers
