Consumerist Encounters Sreedeeep

Bhattacharya, 2020-08-14 Economic liberalization and globalization in India in the early 1990s resulted in a whirlwind of consumerist activities New material and visual temptations swamped the markets Expanding field of commodification infiltrated consumer minds through media imageries New objects of desire aroused inhibited cravings This engendered an accelerated and intensified relationship with things and images that permeate our everyday lives Consumerist Encounters elucidates how our all consuming relationship with objects and their representations have transformed rapidly over the last few decades in contemporary urban India It argues that ephemerality frivolousness and multiplicity of choice regulate our flirtatious encounters with commodities and their images as we restlessly use exhaust dispose and move on Such a trend is illustrated by examining a plethora of commodity centric phenomena such as exclusion through apparel eroticization of body images population of the T shirt surface with graphics and text rise of business process outsourcing instantaneous seeing and sharing of images and rejection of material goods in junkyards and ruins These explorations collectively shed light on the constant negotiation of our identities statuses and mobilities in the image saturated commodity landscape

Neither Villain nor Victim Tammy Anderson, 2008-01-22 Female drug addicts are often stereotyped either as promiscuous lazy and selfish or as weak scared and trapped into addiction These depictions typify the pathology and powerlessness narrative that has historically characterized popular and academic conversations about female substance abusers Neither Villain Nor Victim attempts to correct these polarizing perspectives by presenting a critical feminist analysis of the drug world By shifting the discussion to one centered on women s agency and empowerment this book reveals the complex experiences and social relationships of women addicts Essays explore a range of topics including the many ways that women negotiate the illicit drug world how former drug addicts manage the more intimate aspects of their lives as they try to achieve abstinence how women tend to use intervention resources more positively than their male counterparts and how society can improve its response to female substance abusers by moving away from social controls such as the criminalization of prostitution and rehabilitative programs that have been shown to fail women in the long term Advancing important new perspectives about the position of women in the drug world this book is essential reading in courses on women and crime feminist theory and criminal justice

The Hermetic and Alchemical Writings of Aureolus Philippus Theophrastus Bombast, of Hohenheim, Called Paracelsus the Great Paracelsus, 1894 Re-Reading Leavis G. Day, 1996-10-11 This book offers a much needed reassessment of F R Leavis Gary Day argues that post structuralist theory has defined itself in opposition to Leavis when in fact there are certain parallels between the two types of criticism Day also draws attention to the connections between Leavis s early work and the emergent discourses of consumerism and scientific management In particular he notes how at the centre of each is an image of the body and he analyses what this means for Leavis s conception of reading By situating Leavis in relation to the concerns of post structuralism and by locating him firmly in his historical context Day is able to chart how far criticism can justly claim to be oppositional At the same time Day is able to recuperate from Leavis s work a notion of value a topic which is becoming increasingly important in literary and cultural studies today
