Consumption and Everyday Life Hugh Mackay, 1997-08-11 Reviewing key contemporary issues and debates about consumption this accessible textbook portrays and assesses the varied and complex intersections of consumption and everyday life The rich and idiosyncratic nature of local consumption practices is illustrated through cases from different parts of the world The contributors show the varying balance between constraint and creativity links between consumption and production and the patterns which shape access to symbolic and material resources The Historical Consumer Penelope Francks, 2011-12-15 This book explores the rise of consumerism and the expanding variety of goods available in Japan Japan is placed within the comparative context of the consumer revolution in Europe and North America contributing to the analysis of the ways in which consumption and everyday life change in the course of economic development Time, Consumption and the Coordination of Everyday Life Dale Southerton, 2020-08-30 Time pressure speed and the desire for instant consumption pervade accounts of contemporary lives Why is it that people feel pressed for time in what ways have societies changed to create this condition and with what implications This book examines critical contentions in the field of time and society ranging from the emergence and dominance of clock time and time discipline the time pressures associated with consumer culture through to technological innovation and the acceleration of everyday lives Through extensive analysis of empirical studies of the changing ways in which people organise and experience home work leisure consumption and personal relationships time pressure is shown to be a problem of the coordination and synchronization of activities Appreciation of temporal rhythms formed and reproduced through the organisation and performance of social practices is necessary to tackle the challenges of coordination and offers new avenues for analysing social issues such as sustainable consumption health and well being This book is essential reading for all of those interested in social change consumption and time including researchers and students from across the social sciences Media Consumption and Everyday Life in Asia Youna Kim, 2008-06-30 This book explores people s everyday experience of the media in Asian countries in confrontation with huge social change and transition and the need to understand this phenomenon as it intersects with the media It argues for the centrality of the media to Asian transformations in the era of globalization The profusion of the media today with new imaginations new choices and contradictions generates a critical condition for reflexivity engaging everyday people to have a resource for the learning of self culture and society in a new light Media culture is creating new connections new desires and threats and the identities of people are being reworked at individual national regional and global levels Within historically specific social conditions and contexts of the everyday the chapters seek to provide a diversity of experiences and understandings of the place of the media in different Asian locations This book considers the emerging consequences of media consumption in people s everyday life at a time when the political socio economic and cultural forces by which the media operate are rapidly globalizing in Asia Media in History Jukka Kortti,2019-04-17 Since media is omnipresent in our lives it is crucial to understand the complex means and dimensions of media in history and how we have arrived at the current digital culture Media in History addresses the increasing multidisciplinary need to comprehend the meanings and significances of media development through a variety of different approaches Providing a concise accessible and analytical synthesis of the history of communications from the evolution of language to the growth of social media this book also stresses the importance of understanding wider social and cultural contexts Although technological innovations have created and shaped media Kortti examines how politics and the economy are central to the development of communication Media in History will benefit undergraduate and graduate history and media studies students who want to understand the complex structures of media as a historical continuum and to reflect on their own experiences with that development Innovation by demand Andrew McMeekin,Mark Tomlinson,Ken Green,Vivien Walsh,2013-07-19 The structure and regulation of consumption and demand has recently become of great interest to sociologists and economists alike and at the same time there is growing interest in trying to understand the patterns and drivers of technological innovation This book brings together a range of sociologists and economists to study the role of demand and consumption in the innovative process The book starts with a broad conceptual overview of ways that the sociological and economics literatures address issues of innovation demand and consumption It goes on to offer different approaches to the economics of demand and innovation through an evolutionary framework before reviewing how consumption fits into evolutionary models of economic development Food consumption is then looked at as an example of innovation by demand including an examination of the dynamic nature of socially constituted consumption routines The book includes a number of illuminating case studies including an analysis of how black Americans use consumption to express collective identity and a number of demand innovation relationships within matrices or chains of producers and users or other actors including service industries such as security and the environmental performance of companies The involvement of consumers in innovation is looked at including an analysis of how consumer needs may be incorporated in the design of high tech products The final chapter argues for the need to build an economic sociology of demand that goes from micro individual through to macro structural features An electronic edition of this book is freely available under a Creative Commons CC BY NC ND licence Ecological Modernisation Around the World Arthur P.J. Mol,David A. Sonnenfeld,2014-04-08 The idea of ecological modernisation originated in Western Europe in the 1980s gaining attention around the world by the late 1990s At the core of this social scientific and policy oriented approach is the view that contemporary societies have the capability of dealing with their environmental crises Experiences in some countries demonstrate that modern institutions can incorporate environmental interests into their daily routines Elsewhere economic and political interests dominate development trajectories and environmental deterioration continues challenging the premises of ecological modernisation This volume brings together research on ecological modernisation practices around the world Studies on Western Central and Eastern Europe the USA and Southeast Asia examine the applicability of this approach to advanced industrial countries transitional economies and developing countries respectively Authors critically examine the premises of ecological modernisation theory assess its value for understanding past and present environmental transformations and outline paths for designing future sustainable development Taken together the studies in collected this volume offer significant refinements extensions and critiques of ecological modernisation theory and suggest important directions for future research on social and policy dimensions of environmental change

Gender and Consumption Lydia Martens, Emma Casey, 2016-04-15 Drawing upon anthropological sociological and historical perspectives this volume provides a unique insight into women s domestic consumption The contributors argue that domestic consumption represents an important lens through which to examine the everyday production and reproduction of socio economic relations Through a variety of case studies such as gambling wedding day consumption and bedroom d cor the essays explore and reconsider the nature of public and private spaces and the subsequent nature of domestic space often by challenging traditional notions of what constitutes the domestic The volume demonstrates the broad range of experiences that domestic consumption offers women and reveals some of the complex meanings and motivations underpinning women s consumption practices

Consumption, Sustainability and Everyday Life Arve Hansen, Kenneth Bo Nielsen, 2023-01-01 This open access book seeks to understand why we consume as we do how consumption changes and why we keep consuming more and more despite the visible damage we are doing to the planet The chapters cover both the stubbornness of unsustainable consumption patterns in affluent societies and the drivers of rapidly increasing consumption in emerging economies They focus on consumption patterns with the largest environmental footprints including energy housing and mobility and engage in sophisticated ways with the theoretical frontiers of the field of consumption research in particular on the practice turn that has come to dominate the field in recent decades This book maps out what we know about consumption questions what we take for granted and points us in new directions for better understanding and changing unsustainable consumption patterns

Cultural Studies and the Study of Popular Culture John Storey, 2003 This book introduces the study of contemporary popular culture Organised around a series of case studies each chapter focuses on a different media form and presents a critical overview of the methodology for the actual study of popular culture
