Contaminated Soils Volume 4:

Contaminated Soils Edward J. Calabrese, Paul T. Kostecki, 1992-05-12 Contaminated Soils offers state of the art technologies for detection and remediation of diesel contaminated soils that can be used by environmental professionals to maximize the practical application of theory. The book covers all aspects of assessment of soils contaminated by diesel fuel and discusses the most successful remediation techniques currently available. These techniques include the use of hydrocarbon analyses for environmental assessment and remediation, physical and biological treatments, and vent walls for enhancing biodegradation of contaminated soils. The development of a monoclonal antibody immunoassay for detecting gasoline and diesel fuel in the environment and a comparison of the purge and trap procedure versus the extraction procedure for detecting kerosene and diesel fuel No 2 are examined as well. The book concludes with a chapter discussing human health based soil cleanup guidelines for diesel fuel No 2. Contaminated Soils is a must for professionals concerned with the quality of groundwater and hazardous waste cleanup, regulators, oil company officials, and libraries. Features:

Remediation of Petroleum-contaminated Soils David J. Friend, 1996 This synthesis will be of interest to state transportation personnel involved with project planning and location, administrative and regulatory personnel, design staff, general civil, geotechnical, and environmental engineers, and project managers, construction and maintenance engineers, and staff. It will also be of interest to federal and state environmental agencies and to environmental consultants and contractors as well as to trainers in the field of petroleum contaminated soil remediation. This synthesis describes the remedial technologies that may be available to transportation agencies faced with the regulatory responsibility to clean or remediate petroleum contaminated soils in the vadose zone, unsaturated soils above the groundwater table at a particular site, as well as the state of the practice within the agencies. This report of the Transportation Research Board describes the applicability and cost effectiveness of alternate technologies to remediate petroleum contaminated soil. Practices currently being used by state transportation agencies to remediate petroleum contaminated soils both on site and off site are also described. This summary of transportation agency practice complements the limited telephone survey of soil remediation techniques that was performed in preparing NCHRP Report 351, Hazardous Wastes in Highway Rights of Way. Encyclopedia of Environmental Analysis and Remediation, Volume 4 Robert A. Meyers, 1998-03-23 This encyclopedia is composed of an eight volume set that provides an overview of the field of environmental analysis. The contents are divided into major content areas including air pollution control, environmental law, and environmental sampling. The volumes are organized alphabetically with each article signed by the author. The individual articles begin with a summary of the topic heading and then divide the text into subtopics indicated by boldface headings. The articles are written clearly; however, the authors assume a basic knowledge of chemistry and math on the part of the reader. For example, the acid mine drainage article refers to the Arrhenius equation but does not clarify this statement in the text. Each article contains graphs as well as pictures to illustrate points made in the text.

The articles are long and provide a detailed explanation of each topic The authors also provide a bibliography at the end of each article Special features of the encyclopedia include a list of contributors a table of conversion factors and a list of abbreviations and acronyms The preface outlines the general contents of the encyclopedia The preface also includes sections that suggest the target audience and recommended usages for the set The final volume of the set contains an alphabetic index to the topics contained in the volumes Catalog of Superfund Program Information Products 1994 United States.
