Contemporary Architecture In Germany:

Contemporary Architecture Cornelia Dörries, 2016 This publication showcases more than 120 buildings designed by German architects in over 30 countries worldwide Contemporary Architecture Made in Germany accompanies the eponymous exhibition promoted by the Federal Chamber of German Architects BAX that opened in Beijing in October 2016

Contemporary Architecture in Germany 1970-1996 Gerd Bruyn de, 1997-06 In recent years the importance of architecture in Germany has surged There is hardly any other country in the world where internationally acclaimed architects including Tadao Ando Richard Meier James Stirling and Norman Foster to name a few have erected so many major structures And in turn the buildings by German architects e g Gottfried Bohm Thomas Herzog Josef Paul Kleihues and Oswald Mathias Ungers are meriting increasing international attention With its selection of 50 buildings this handsome volume documents the development and diversity of contemporary architecture in Germany since 1970 It deliberately assumes the character of an introduction and therefore is aimed not only at a specialized readership but also and above all at culturally interested readers at home and abroad Gerd de Bruyn opens the work with a sketch of German architectural history since 1945 and Gerd Zimmermann presents the special position of architecture in the former GDR The entries in the main section of this reference work are ordered alphabetically by architect and feature 50 specially chosen buildings each on a double page with photographs ground plans and a project description

Contemporary Architecture in Germany Textbook

Publishers, 2003-01 Contemporary Architecture in Germany, 1962 New German Architecture Ullrich Schwarz, 2002

In this portrait of contemporary architecture in Germany well known authors in the field describe 26 buildings and projects by German architects from 1990 from 11 architectural firms It provides an overview of the most important movements in German architecture since 1975 Colonialism and Modern Architecture in Germany Itohan Osayimwese, 2017-07-19 Over the course of the nineteenth century drastic social and political changes technological innovations and exposure to non Western cultures affected Germany's built environment in profound ways The economic challenges of Germany's colonial project forced architects designing for the colonies to abandon a centuries long highly ornamental architectural style in favor of structural technologies and building materials that catered to the local contexts of its remote colonies such as prefabricated systems As German architects gathered information about the regions under their influence in Africa Asia and the Pacific during expeditions at international exhibitions and from colonial entrepreneurs and officials they published their findings in books and articles and organized lectures and exhibits that stimulated progressive architectural thinking and shaped the emerging modern language of architecture within Germany itself Offering in depth interpretations across the fields of architectural history and postcolonial studies Itohan Osayimwese considers the effects of colonialism travel and globalization on the development of modern architecture in Germany from the 1850s until the 1930s Since architectural developments in nineteenth century Germany are typically understood as crucial to the evolution of architecture worldwide in the twentieth century this book globalizes the history of modern architecture at its founding moment Berlin

Contemporary Julia Walker, 2021-11-18 For years following reunification Berlin was the largest construction site in Europe with striking new architecture proliferating throughout the city in the 1990s and early 2000s Among the most visible and the most contested of the new projects were those designed for the national government and its related functions Berlin Contemporary explores these buildings and plans tracing their antecedents while also situating their iconic forms and influential designers within the spectacular world of global contemporary architecture Close studies of these sites including the Reichstag the Chancellery and the reconstruction of the Berlin Stadtschloss now known as the Humboldt Forum demonstrate the complexity of Berlin's political and architectural rebuilding and reveal the intricate historical negotiations that architecture was summoned to perform The Many Faces of Modern Architecture John Zukowsky, 1994 Such eclectic pluralism gives the lie to two widely held assumptions about modernist architecture in Germany that it was synonymous with Bauhaus style functionalism and that it came to an abrupt end with the Nazis accession to power in 1933 Contemporary Architecture in Germany Werner Marschall, 1962 Contemporary Architecture in Germany Werner Marschall, 1962

German Architecture for a Mass Audience Kathleen James-Chakraborty, 2000 Focusing on the idea of architecture for a mass audience Kathleen James Chakraborty addresses issues of space simplicity spirituality and spectacle Contemporary Architecture and City Planning in West Germany Werner Hebebrand, 1957 Before the Bauhaus John V. Maciuika, 2005-05-05 Publisher Description Modern Architecture in Germany Bruno Erich Werner, 1956

Architecture in Translation Esra Akcan, 2012-07-12 Esra Akcan describes the introduction of modern architecture into Turkey after the Kemalist political elite took power in 1923 and invited German architects to redesign the new capital of Ankara Peter Behrens and a New Architecture for the Twentieth Century Stanford Anderson, 2002-08-23 The complete story of Behrens contribution to the history of twentieth century architecture Modernism as Memory Kathleen James-Chakraborty, 2018-01-15 After World War II West Germans and West Berliners found ways of communicating both their recent sufferings and aspirations for stable communities through buildings that fused the ruins of historicist structures with new constructions rooted in the modernism of the 1910s and 20s As Modernism as Memory illustrates these postwar practices undergird the approaches later taken in influential structures created or renovated in Berlin following the fall of the Wall including the Jewish Museum and the Reichstag the New Museum and the Topography of Terror While others have characterized contemporary Berlin's museums and memorials as postmodern Kathleen James Chakraborty argues that these environments are examples of an architecture of modern memory that is much older more complex and historically contingent She reveals that churches and museums repaired and designed before 1989 in D ren Hanover Munich Neviges Pforzheim Stuttgart and Weil am Rhein contributed to a modernist precedent for the relationship between German identity and the past developed since then in the Ruhr region and in Berlin Modernism as Memory demonstrates that how one remembers can be detached from what one remembers contrasting ruins with recollections of modernism to commemorate German suffering the Holocaust and the industrial revolution as well as new spaces for Islam in the country      World's contemporary architecture Yuichi Ino, Shinji Koike, 1953      National Romanticism and Modern Architecture in Germany and the Scandinavian Countries Barbara Miller Lane, 2000 This book provides a comprehensive examination of one of the most important modernist traditions Offering a new interpretation of its origins Barbara Miller Lane focuses on the movement called National Romanticism which flourished in Germany and Scandinavia from about 1890 to 1920 During this period painters interior designers city planners and architects created a new kind of domestic architecture and interior design as well as monumental architecture Drawing upon local and regional folk traditions and encouraging a simple way of life architects such as Eliel Saarinen Hans Poelzig and Martin Nyrop looked back to medieval and even prehistoric times for their models as they also tried to create a new architecture for the new millennium Their buildings encouraged new kinds of social and political relationships and have had a profound influence in the architecture of Germany and Scandinavia

Contemporary Architecture Marta Tobolczyk, 2021-07-05 This book offers an exciting journey into the most recent architectural achievements seen in their complexity and plurality and described in the most objective and truthful way The development of contemporary architecture is presented as it commenced more than a century ago as it tried to reconcile democratic ideals with the forces of the Industrial Era In contrast to many books on the modern day art of building the development of architecture is not described chronologically here but rather independently for each selective architectural trend This allows a better explanation of some evolutionary processes and the continuity of each trend Thanks to such an approach this book will serve as a convenient tutorial for courses on history of contemporary architecture in all art and architectural schools
