Contemporary Caribbean Womens Poetry Making Style:

Contemporary Caribbean Women's Poetry Denise DeCaires Narain, 2002 Contemporary Caribbean Women's Poetry provides detailed readings of individual poems by women poets whose work has not yet received the sustained critical attention it deserves. These readings are contextualized both within Caribbean cultural debates and postcolonial and feminist critical discourses in a lively and engaged way revisiting nationalist debates as well as topical issues about the performance of gendered and raced identities within poetic discourse. Newly available in paperback, this book is groundbreaking reading for all those interested in postcolonialism, Gender Studies, Caribbean Studies, and contemporary poetry. Critical

Perspectives on Indo-Caribbean Women's Literature Joy Allison Indira Mahabir, Mariam Pirbhai, 2013 This book is the first collection on Indo Caribbean women's writing and the first work to offer a sustained analysis of the literature from a range of theoretical and critical perspectives such as ecocriticism, feminist, queer, postcolonial, and Caribbean cultural theories. The essays not only lay the framework of an emerging and growing field but also critically situate internationally acclaimed writers such as Shani Mootoo, Lakshmi Persaud, and Ramabai Espinet within this emerging tradition. Indo Caribbean women writers provide a fresh new perspective in Caribbean literature, be it in their unique representations of plantation history, anti-colonial movements, diasporic identities, feminisms, ethnicity, and race, or contemporary Caribbean societies and culture. The book offers a theoretical reading of the poetics, politics, and cultural traditions that inform Indo Caribbean women's writing, arguing that while women writers work with and through postcolonial and Caribbean cultural theories, they also respond to a distinctive set of influences and realities specific to their positioning within the Indo Caribbean community and the wider national, regional, and global imaginary. Contributors visit the overlap between national and transnational engagements in Indo Caribbean women's literature, considering the writers' response to local or nationally specific contexts and the writers' response to the diasporic and transnational modalities of Caribbean and Indo Caribbean communities. A History of Twentieth-Century British Women's Poetry Jane Dowson, Alice Entwistle, 2005-05-19

Publisher Description Multimodality in Canadian Black Feminist Writing Maria Caridad Casas, 2009-01-01 This book develops a theory of multimodality, the participation of a text in more than one mode, centred on the poetry, poetics of Lillian Allen, Claire Harris, Dionne Brand, and Marlene Nourbese Philip. How do these poets represent oral Caribbean English Creoles (CECs) in writing and negotiate the relationship between the high literary in Canadian letters and the social and historical meanings of CECs? How do the latter relate to the idea of female and black? Through fluid use of code and mode switching, the movement of Brand and Philip between creole and standard English, and written orality and standard writing forms, part of their meanings. Allen's eye spellings precisely indicate stereotypical creole sounds yet use the phonological system of standard English. On stage, Allen projects a black female body in the world and as a speaking subject. She thereby shows that the implication of the written in the literary excludes her body's language as performance and she embodies her poetry to realize a language alternative to the colonizing literary Harris's creole writing helps her project a fragmented personality a range of dialects enabling quite different personae to emerge within one body Thus Harris Brand Philip and Allen both project the identity female and black and explore this social position in relation to others Considering textual multimodality opens up a wide range of material connections Although written this poetry is also oral if oral then also embodied if embodied then also participating in discourses of race gender sexuality and a host of other systems of social organization and individual identity Finally the semiotic body as a mode i.e. as a resource for making meaning allows written meanings to be made that cannot otherwise be expressed in writing In every case Allen Philip Harris and Brand escape the constraints of dominant media refiguring language via dialect and mode to represent a black feminist sensibility

Postcolonial Theory and Autobiography David Huddart, 2008-04-18 Cultural theory has often been criticized for covert Eurocentric and universalist tendencies Its concepts and ideas are implicitly applicable to everyone ironing over any individuality or cultural difference Postcolonial theory has challenged these limitations of cultural theory and Postcolonial Theory and Autobiography addresses the central challenge posed by its autobiographical turn Despite the fact that autobiography is frequently dismissed for its Western masculine bias David Huddart argues for its continued relevance as a central explanatory category in understanding postcolonial theory and its relation to subjectivity Focusing on the influence of post structuralist theory on postcolonial theory and vice versa this study suggests that autobiography constitutes a general philosophical resistance to universal concepts and theories Offering a fresh perspective on familiar critical figures like Edward W Said and Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak by putting them in the context of readings of the work of Jacques Derrida Gilles Deleuze and Alain Badiou this book relates the theory of autobiography to expressions of new universalisms that together with postcolonial theory rethink and extend norms of experience investigation and knowledge
