Constraints on the Success of Structural Adjustment Programmes in Africa Charles Harvey, 2016-07-27 This book reports why orthodox structural adjustment measures do not have the expected results in Africa Orthodox measures may be necessary but are frequently not sufficient because of structural factors some peculiar to individual countries some found more widely Six chapters report on extensive fieldwork in Kenya Tanzania Zambia and Zimbabwe three chapters compare countries in Africa recovery from disaster labour markets new financial markets and one makes comparisons with Asia and Latin America of employment policies

Constraints on the Success of Structural Adjustment Programmes in Africa, 1996 Africa's Experience with Structural Adjustment Kapil Kapoor, 1995-01-01 Annotation World Bank Discussion Paper No 288 Summarizes the proceedings of a seminar held in Harare May 1994 that assessed the extent to which policy reforms related to structural adjustment have been implemented and examined their results SAIS Review, 1997

Industrial Development and Policy in Africa Hossein Jalilian, Michael A. Tribe, John Weiss, 2000 This book surveys the current state of industry in sub Saharan Africa and examines claims that Africa is de industrialising It focuses on the challenge for economic policy to find ways to reverse this trend The contributors begin by analysing general issues relating to industrialisation in Africa including the question of Africa's comparative advantage in industry the role of small scale enterprises and the scope for infant industry promotion They then focus on issues such as evidence of de industrialisation within Africa comparative industrial performance between African countries and economies outside Africa the role of regional trade integration lessons to be learnt from industrialisation in East Asia policies of major lending institutions towards industrial loans The authors then consider evidence from country studies including export performance in Nigeria protection and transport costs in Uganda public enterprises in Tanzania enterprise reform in South Africa and the impact of free trade policies in Southern Africa They find that the diversity of experience in the region and the complexity of the issues caution against accepting simple generalisations on African industrialisation Industrial Development and Policy in Africa will be required reading for scholars of economic development and industrial economics Rural Development Abstracts, 1995

IMF - World Bank and Labor's Burdens in Africa Kwamina Panford, 2001-08-30 Globalization the return to a multi party system of government and the policies advocated by the IMF and the World Bank have led to near revolutionary labor relations in Ghana As Panford shows these new social and economic forces have unleashed new and even contradictory labor policies and practices which are having profound social political and economic consequences Panford examines how the Ghana Constitution of 1992 led for the first time to new workers rights including the right to affiliate with any local national or international union In response to globalization and policies advocated by the IMF and the World Bank the Ghana government sought to resist worker demands for improved working and living conditions The situation was worsened by the privatization of state owned businesses and severe cuts in public employment In this environment of tense labor relations government hostility and weak employment Panford traces the ways workers are revitalizing unions and developing new sources of jobs and finances These include relatively aggressive systematic organization of women senior staff and the informal agricultural sector One of the most important initiatives of the unions is the creation of a workers trust to establish and finance worker owned enterprises The evidence presented by Panford indicates the failure of IMF and World Bank policies and he calls for new and viable policy alternatives with emphasis on enhancing Ghana s global competitiveness and meeting genuine development needs A thoughtful analysis that will be of interest to scholars and researchers involved with development and international economics labor relations in the developing world and the increased involvement of international financial institutions
