Jean H. P. Paelinck, J. H. Kuiper

Consumer Spatial Theory:

Consumer Spatial Behaviour Robert William Bacon, 1984 A theoretical book on the locational aspects of consumer behaviour

Social Psychology and Theories of Consumer Culture Matthew McDonald, Stephen Wearing, 2013-04-02 Social Psychology and Theories of Consumer Culture A Political Economy Perspective presents a critical analysis of the leading positions in social psychology from the perspective of classical and contemporary theories of consumer culture The analysis seeks to expand social psychological theory by focusing on the interface between modern western culture consumer culture and social behaviour McDonald and Wearing argue that if social psychology is to play a meaningful role in solving some of society's most pressing problems e.g. global warming obesity addiction alienation and exclusion then it needs to incorporate a more comprehensive understanding and analysis of consumer culture Wide ranging and challenging the book offers a fresh insight into critical social psychology appropriate for upper undergraduate and postgraduate courses in personality social psychology critical and applied psychology It will also appeal to those working in clinical counselling abnormal and environmental psychology and anyone with an interest in the integration of social psychology and theories of consumer culture

Towards a Theory of Consumer Spatial Behaviour Raymond Hudson, 1971

Gender and Food in Transnational East Asia Eric Ping Hung Li, Chikako Nagayama, Jooyeon Rhee, 2021-10-12 Gender and Food in Transnational East Asia illustrates how the production and consumption of food impacts the changing social positions of individuals and their relationships with their families the state and their work as well as shapes their gender sexual ethnic and national identities The transnational movement of food and people between East Asia and the rest of the world is increasingly visible forming various forces behind the cultural and political constructions of gender politics among and beyond Asian diasporas It argues that a critical engagement with practices and representations of food from gender perspectives can enhance our understanding of the society and culture of transnational East Asia

Consumers' Spatial Choice Behavior Angelika Eymann, 1995-03-10 The formation of spatial alternatives and the representation of agent specific heterogeneity are prime issues in empirical studies of location choice This study surveys microeconomic and microeconomic models of individual location choice that permit to analyze the determinants of individual choice among various combinations of location specific goods At the example of tourist's destination choice it is shown how the market segmentation process can be endogenized and implemented in nested multinomial and universal logit models

Spaces of Consumption Jon Stobart, Andrew Hann, Victoria Morgan, 2013-01-11 A key theme is eighteenth century studies Authors come from fresh urban studies geography perspective Fits with older titles e.g. by John Brewer that Routledge have historically been well known for
