Consuming Television Television And Its Audiences:

Consuming Television Bob Mullan, 1997-04-03 Consuming Television is a textbook designed to introduce students to the role of television in contemporary society and to encourage an understanding of what contemporary audiences are all about. Written clearly and simply and devoid of jargon. Covers both the empirical and theoretical ground in a lively manner. Unlike most books on the television audience, this volume looks at the programmes themselves as well as the production process, including policies which affect television production.

Making Audiences Hideaki Fujiki, 2022 In Making Audiences, author Hideaki Fujiki offers a social history of a century of Japanese cinema and considers the relationships between audience collectivity and belonging.

TV Living David Gauntlett, Annette Hill, 2002-01-04 TV Living presents the findings of the BFI Audience Tracking Study in which 500 participants completed detailed questionnaire diaries on their lives, their television watching, and the relationship between the two over a five-year period. Gauntlett and Hill use this extensive data to explore some of the most fundamental questions in media and cultural studies, focusing on issues of gender identity, the impact of new technologies and life changes. Opening up new areas of debate, the study sheds new light on audiences and their responses to issues such as sex and violence on television. A unique study of contemporary TV audience behaviour and attitudes, TV Living offers a fascinating insight into the complex relationship between mass media and people's lives today.

An Introduction to Television Studies Jonathan Bignell, Faye Woods, 2022-12-21 This comprehensive textbook, now substantially updated for its fourth edition, provides students with a framework for understanding the key concepts and main approaches to Television Studies, including audiences, representation, industry, and global television, as well as the analytical study of individual programmes. This new edition reflects the significant changes the television industry is undergoing in the streaming era, with an explosion of new content and providers, whilst also identifying how many existing practices have endured. The book includes a glossary of key terms with each chapter, suggesting further reading. New and updated material includes: Chapters on style and form, narrative, industry, and representation and identity; Case studies on Bon Appétit's YouTube channel, Insecure, British youth television, ABC and Disney+, fixed-rig observational documentary, streaming platforms, use of data to shape audience experience, Chewing Gum, Korean drama, and The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel; Sections on medical drama, YouTube creators, Skam, and scripted format sales; the global spread of streaming platforms, prestige TV, and period drama. With individual chapters addressing television style and form, narrative, histories, industries, genres, and formats, realities, production, audiences, representation, and identity, and quality, this book is essential reading for both students and scholars of Television Studies.

Arab TV-audiences Ehab Galal,2014 Today the relations between Arab audiences and Arab media are characterised by pluralism and fragmentation More than a thousand Arab satellite TV channels alongside other new media platforms are offering all kinds of programming Religion has also found a vital place as a topic in mainstream media or in one of the approximately 135 religious satellite channels that broadcast guidance and entertainment with an Islamic frame of reference How do Arab audiences make use of mediated religion in negotiations of identity and belonging The empirical based case studies in this interdisciplinary volume explore audience media relations with a focus on religious identity in different countries such as Egypt Tunisia Algeria Morocco Great Britain Germany Denmark and the United States Television and Its Audience Patrick Barwise,Andrew Ehrenberg,1988-11-24 This book by two leading experts takes a fresh look at the nature of television starting from an audience perspective It draws on over twenty years of research about the audience in the United States and Britain and about the many ways in which television is funded and organized around the world The overall picture which emerges is of a medium which is watched for several hours a day but usually at only a low level of involvement an audience which views mainly for relaxation but which actively chooses favourite programmes a flowering of new channels but with no fundamental change in what or how people watch programmes costing millions to produce but only a few pennies to view a wide range of programme types apparently similar to the range of print media but with nothing like the same degree of audience segmentation a global communication medium of dazzling scale speed and impact but which is slow at conveying complex information and perhaps less powerful than generally assumed The book is packed with information and insights yet is highly readable It is unique in relating so many of the issues raised by television to how we watch it There is also a highly regarded appendix on advertising as well as technical notes a glossary and references for further reading
