The Radical Case for Teaching Skim Reading in First-Year Writing Ellen C. Carillo, 2025-10-15 The Radical Case for Teaching Skim Reading in First Year Writing encourages faculty particularly in writing studies to check internal biases toward deep reading and teach skim reading in first year writing courses Written by Ellen C Carillo who has previously published on the importance of teaching deep reading this small book is a controversial prompt for further discussion and exploration Data from studies of the lived experiences of undergraduates indicate that students do not need deep reading practices in the majority of their classes across the disciplines and moreover that students succeed in their classes by skim reading Rather than imagining an idealized set of circumstances that allow for sustained deep reading as does a great deal of the scholarship on reading in writing studies The Radical Case for Teaching Skim Reading in First Year Writing argues for teaching students reading practices that will support their success in their college writing assignments rather than those strategies the field believes should support their success In our information landscape and our fragile democracy encouraging skimming as opposed to deep reading may seem like a gamble this very tendency toward the quick rather than the critical has undoubtedly contributed to the current crisis of mass misinformation However teaching students to use skim reading as a strategic tool for purposeful engagement and efficient yet thoughtful information filtering better equips them to navigate the rapidly changing information landscape and manage the fast paced flow of content from diverse media sources

How to Enhance Learning Efficiency When Online Learning is Popular and Indispensable: Theory, Research and Practice Rong Lian, Chang Liu, Juzhe Xi, 2024-07-17 Online learning has become more and more common globally whether for comfort adapting to work hours or just having the freedom to study from anywhere And now under the coronavirus pandemic as people are having to stay at home it has become more important than ever Although the popularity of wireless network and portable smart device makes it possible for people to acquire and learn knowledge anytime and anywhere it does not necessarily mean an increased learning performance Relevant research in cognitive science has revealed possible limitations in online learning For example the knowledge acquired through online learning tends to be fragmented and lacks guidance for integrated thinking among different subjects which makes it difficult for learners to form a systematic knowledge structure Learners may experience cognitive overload metacognitive illusion and low learning efficiency in self regulated learning It follows that in the post COVID 19 era online learning puts forward new requirements and challenges to the contemporary students not only to their learning strategies but positive character traits in learning Most of the current learning theories were developed in the early 20th century and may not fit in well with the current situation then possibly leading to inefficient learning and increased learning burden Therefore it is necessary and important to reexplore the influencing factors and mechanisms that affect the learning efficiency of students at all levels nowadays based on which we could construct a theoretical model of efficient learning model
