Crosslinguistic Structures In Simultaneous Bilingualism Studies In Bilingualism:

Cross-Linguistic Structures in Simultaneous Bilingualism Susanne Döpke, 2001-02-12 This volume explores the implications of cross linguistic structures in simultaneous bilingualism It aims to find cognitive explanations for the presence or absence of cross linguistic structures that go beyond the debate of one system or two The contributors present syntactic morphological and phonological features that are found in bilingual children but are untypical of monolingual development and discuss pertinent methodological issues The orientation of this volume stands out from competing volumes in the field in that the focus is not limited to similarities between monolingual and bilingual first language acquisition The volume will be of interest to researchers in the field of bilingualism and primary language acquisition language theorists and professionals working with bilingual populations

Cross-linguistic Influence in Bilingualism Elma Blom, Leonie Cornips, Jeannette Schaeffer, 2017-12-15 This book presents a current state of affairs regarding the study of cross linguistic influence in bilingualism Taking Hulk and M ller s 2000 and M ller and Hulk s 2001 hypotheses on cross linguistic influence as a starting point the book exemplifies the shift from the original focus on syntax proper to interfaces and discourse phenomena in the study of bilingualism It also reflects the enormous increase in different language combinations including dialects being investigated and the use of new methodologies Moreover the volume illustrates the growing interdisciplinarity of cross linguistic influence research considering extra linguistic cognitive and social factors besides linguistics It demonstrates that the time is ripe for a more integrated approach from different disciplines such as theoretical linguistics psycholinguistics and sociolinguistics to obtain a better understanding of bilingual child acquisition As such it is of interest to psycho socio linguists psychologists and education specialists who study or want to learn about child bilingualism

Cognitive Aspects of Bilingualism Istvan Kecskes, Liliana Albertazzi, 2007-08-19 A unique feature of this book is that chapters favor that line of cognitive linguistics which makes a clear distinction between real world and projected world Information conveyed by language must be about the projected world Both the experimental results and the systematic claims in this volume call for a weak form of whorfianism Also chapters add some relatively unexplored issues of bilingualism to the well known ones such as gender systems in the bilingual mind context and task synergic concepts blending the relationship between lexical categorization and ontological categorization among others

(In)vulnerable Domains in Multilingualism Natascha Müller, 2003-01-01 The focus of this collection of essays is on the acquisition of so called vulnerable and invulnerable grammatical domains in multilingualism Language acquisition is studied from a comparative perspective mostly in the framework of generative grammar Different types of multilingualism are compared the existence of multiple grammars in L1 acquisition simultaneous L2 acquisition balanced and unbalanced bilingualism and successive L2 acquisition child and adult L2 acquisition Evidence from the language pairs French German Italian Swedish Spanish English Spanish German Spanish Basque Portuguese Japanese English Portuguese German English German Turkish German is brought to bear on grammatical issues pertaining to the morphology and syntax of the noun phrase pronoun use and the null subject property clause structure verb position non finite clauses agreement at the clause level and on issues like code mixing and language dominance

Language Mixing in Infant Bilingualism Elizabeth Lanza, 2004 This book addresses the issue of language contact in the context of child language acquisition Elizabeth Lanza examines in detail the simultaneous acquisition of Norwegian and English by two first born children in families living in Norway in which the mother is American and the father Norwegian She connects psycholinguistic arguments with sociolinguistic evidence adding a much needed dimension of real language use in context to the psycholinguistic studies which have dominated the field She draws upon evidence from other studies to support her claims concerning language dominance and the child's differentiation between the two languages in relation to the situation interlocutor and the communicative demands of the context She also addresses the question of whether or not the language mixing of infant bilingualism is conceptually different from the codeswitching of older bilinguals thus helping to bridge the gap between these two fields of study

Information Structure and the Dynamics of Language Acquisition Christine Dimroth, Marianne Starren, 2003-09-18 The papers in this volume focus on the impact of information structure on language acquisition thereby taking different linguistic approaches into account They start from an empirical point of view and examine data from natural first and second language acquisition which cover a wide range of varieties from early learner language to native speaker production and from gesture to Creole prototypes The central theme is the interplay between principles of information structure and linguistic structure and its impact on the functioning and development of the learner's system The papers examine language internal explanatory factors and in particular the communicative and structural forces that push and shape the acquisition process and its outcome On the theoretical level the approach adopted appeals both to formal and communicative constraints on a learner's language in use Two empirical domains provide a testing ground for the respective weight of grammatical versus functional determinants in the acquisition
