

SAFETY TRAINING CREDENTIALS

Those who successfully complete a prescribed set of modules from the NCCER safety curricula receive a certificate, transcript and wallet card with one of NCCER's three safety training designations. These designations are:

- Construction Site Safety Orientation \(CSSO\)
- Construction Site Safety Supervisor (CSSS)
- Construction Site Safety Technician (CSST)

For entry into the NCCER Registry and issuance of credentials, these courses must be taught by the appropriate level of safety instructor under an Accredited Training Sponsor (ATS).

Standard certificates of completion (Blue background) are issued for completion of a level in the NCCER curriculum. When a required set of levels have been earned towards a craft completion, a certificate of craft completion (Silver background) is issued. The CSSO, CSSS and CSST credentials earn standard certificates of completion, while the CSSS and CSST also earn certificates of craft completion. As curricula are constantly being revised and updated, these credentialing policies are subject to change at the discretion of NCCER.
