British Book News, 1986 Scottish Literary Journal, 1984 Books in Series, 1876-1949 R.R. Bowker Company, 1982 Writing Double Bette London, 2002-01-01 Although Roland Barthes and Michel Foucault announced the death of the author several decades ago, critics have been slow to abandon the idea of the solitary writer. Bette London maintains that this notion has blinded us to the reality that writing is seldom an individual activity and that it has led us to overlook both the frequency with which women authors have worked together and the significance of their collaborative undertakings as a form of professional activity. In Writing Double, the first full-length treatment of women's literary partnerships, she goes to the heart of issues surrounding authorial identity. What is an author? Which forms of authorship are sanctioned and which forms marginalized? Which of these forms have particularly attracted women? Such questions are central to London's analysis of the challenge that women's literary collaboration presents to accepted notions of authorship. Focusing on British texts from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, she considers a fascinating variety of works by largely noncanonical and in some instances highly unconventional authors: from the enormously popular novels composed by writing teams at the turn of the century to the Brontë juvenilia and the occult scripts of Georgie Yeats and W.B. Yeats to automatic writings produced by mediums purporting to be in communication with the spirit world. Books in Scotland, 1985

Twentieth Century Scottish Classics Edwin Morgan, 1987 The British Library General Catalogue of Printed Books, 1986 to 1987 British Library, 1988 Janeites Deidre Lynch, 2000-09-17 This study explores the phenomenon of the Janeite: the zealous reader and fan of Jane Austen whose devotion to her novels has been frequently invoked and often derided by the critical establishment. The text asks what Janeites do and explores the myriad appropriations of Austen.

Library Journal, 1986 Womanspeak, 1986 Books in Print, 1991 Women Artists News, 1986 Cindie Jean Devanny, 1986 In August 1896 Randolph Biddow's family join him on the sugar cane plantations of North Queensland. For his wife Blanche it is an exile in the wilderness, but for their maid Cindie it is an exciting world of tropical forests, rewarding work, and new relationships with white people, Pacific Islanders, and Aborigines alike. Teaching herself the sugar trade Cindie rises from servant to independent woman By the early 1900s she is the indispensable manager of Biddow's expanded property but her complete happiness is marred by the jealousy and hatred of Blanche First published in 1949 this is a chronicle of plantation life and its challenges of the racial tensions among workers and the politicking of landowners faced with the economic impact of the Commonwealth Bill Back cover Bibliography of Scotland, 1986 Women's Review, 1985 Books in Print Supplement, 1988 Choice, 1986 An Introduction to Women's Writing Marion Shaw, 1998 This volume is a survey of writing by women from the Middle Ages to the late 1990s It comprises nine essays by women scholars who are experts in a particular period of literary history and who have an interest in feminist criticism The book also establishes characteristics belonging to each period and also suggests ways in which continuities and developments have emerged Although this text is informed by feminist criticism it is also designed to be accessible to readers unacquainted with feminist literary theory and caters to both a general and an undergraduate readership
