Crows And Jays:

Crows and Jays Steve Madge, 2010-08-30 120 species of crows jays and their allies exist in the world today Many are exceedingly beautiful in colour grace and form whereas others are black and somewhat sinister in appearance In no other group of perching birds has evolution produced such a degree of variation from the tiny Hume s Ground Jay of the steppe highlands of Tibet to the huge Thick billed Raven of the mountains of Ethiopia Some have had a long association with people and appear in tales of mythology and superstition while others have been regarded as agricultural pests The great majority however remain largely unknown their only contact with humanity being the destruction of their specialised habitats As a consequence more than 20 species are now regarded as internationally endangered some of which are very poorly known The 30 superb colour plates by Hilary Burn in this book depict them all each plate is accompanied by an informative caption page summarising the criteria required to identify the species alongside colour world distribution maps Some of these birds bearing such evocative names as the Banggai Crow Mesopotamian Crow and Flores Crow have never been illustrated before The authoritative text by Steve Madge treats each species in depth summarising identification techniques and concisely reviewing all aspects of corvid behaviour distribution population and taxonomy The author has had first hand experience of most of the species during his travels throughout the world travels in which he gradually became fascinated by this very special but somewhat ignored group of birds Crows and Jays is a combination of scientifically accurate information and an identification guide planned to give anyone whether a birdwatcher or biologist a greater understanding of the lives of these beautiful yet very complex group of birds It will surely be a standard work of reference for many years to come Life Histories of North American Jays, Crows, and Titmice Arthur Cleveland Bent, 1946 This is the fifteenth in a series of bulletins of the United States National Museum on the life histories of North American birds with previous numbers issued as follows 107 113 121 126 130 135 142 146 162 167 170 174 176 179 This bulletin deals with the Order Passeriformes specifically the Family Corvidae Jays magpies crows ravens and Family Paridae Chickadees titmice bushtits verdins of North America

Bent, 1985-06-01 LIFE HISTORIES OF NORTH AMERICAN JAYS, CROWS, AND TITMICE ARTHUR CLEVELAND. BENT, 2018 Ravens, Crows, Magpies, and Jays MR Tony Angell, 1978-05-01 In the Company of Crows and Ravens John M. Marzluff, Tony Angell, 2008-10-01 Crows and people share similar traits and social strategies To a surprising extent to know the crow is to know ourselves from the Preface From the cave walls at Lascaux to the last painting by Van Gogh from the works of Shakespeare to those of Mark Twain there is clear evidence that crows and ravens influence human culture Yet this influence is not unidirectional say the authors of this fascinating book people profoundly influence crow culture ecology and evolution as well John Marzluff and Tony Angell examine the often surprising ways that crows and humans interact The authors contend that those interactions reflect a process of cultural coevolution They offer a challenging new view of the human crow dynamic a view that may change our thinking not only about crows but also about ourselves Featuring more than 100

original drawings the book takes a close look at the influences people have had on the lives of crows throughout history and at the significant ways crows have altered human lives In the Company of Crows and Ravens illuminates the entwined histories of crows and people and concludes with an intriguing discussion of the crow human relationship and how our attitudes toward crows may affect our cultural trajectory

The Pinyon Jay John M. Marzluff, Russel P. Balda, 2010-10-30 A flock of Pinyon Jays arrive in a flash of blue and leave again just as suddenly This once mysterious bird is now the subject of over 20 years of intensive research involving over one thousand colour marked jays by Russell Balda John Marzluff and their colleagues and helpers This plain blue bird has turned out to be anything but plain in its biology and behaviour Uniquely dependent on the seeds of the Pinyon Pine for food they have developed a number of behavioural and morphological adaptations to best utilise this resource above all caching enough seeds each autumn to supply their needs throughout the winter and fuel their unusual habit of nesting in late winter Fluctuations in pine seed supply both by season and between years poses special problems for these birds and has led to their extremely flexible and complex social system in which learning and memory play an unusually large part They store pine seeds and retrieve them with uncanny accuracy they form lifelong pair bonds and nest colonially occasionally involving younger birds to help established pairs rear the young and they use their large vocabulary to coordinate activities within one of the largest known avian societies This intriguing story will fascinate both the enthusiastic amateur birder and the professional alike Packed with information it presents Pinyon Jay biology in a readable form and places them into the wider context of studies on bird ecology and evolution Fine illustrations by Tony Angell with additional pictures by Caroline Bauder complete this attractive addition to any birder's bookshelf
