Cryopreservation Of Plant Germplasm II:

Cryopreservation of Plant Germplasm II L.E. Towill, Y.P.S. Bajaj, 2002-04-11 This volume highlights achievements in cryopreservation chronicles method development and describes relevant literature The provided detailed information helps practitioners develop and improve methods for desired species The volume is divided into four parts I Cryopreservation of Germplasm II Herbaceous Plants Barley celery chamomile chicory garlic ginseng hop horseradish mint taro wasabi III Woody Species Coffee Eucalyptus guazuma horse chestnut neem olive poplar oak Prunus Ribes rose IV Australian Species Initially cryopreservation was driven by the concern for loss of diversity of crops essential for continued improvement of the many plants used for food health and shelter The interest has been expanded by conservationists and their concerns for retaining the diversity of natural populations

Cryopreservation of Plant Germplasm I Y. P. S. Bajaj, 2013-03-09 The germ plasm of numerous plant species especially those of forest trees some agricultural crops and medicinal plants is endangered and threatened with extinction This depletion of germplasm pools and the shrinkage of naturally occurring genetic resources have caused international concern Conventionally the germplasm of plants is conserved through seeds tubers roots corms rhizomes bulbs cuttings etc However the germ plasm of a number of trees and plantation crops such as coconut cacao coffee oil palm rubber mango horse chestnut etc cannot be preserved since their seed are short lived recalcitrant Likewise germplasm of vegetatively propagated crops such as potato and cassava cannot be stored on a long term basis and has to be grown and multiplied periodically in nurseries and fields The plants are thus exposed to unpredictable weather conditions and diseases with the result that instances are known where entire genetic stocks are lost Therefore unconventional methods are being developed for the storage and international exchange of germplasm For this purpose in vitro cultures have been employed but they can only enable short to medium term preservation moreover cell cultures upon repeated subculture undergo genetic erosion In view of the recent developments in the in vitro induction of genetic variability through somaclonal variation somatic hybridization recombinant DNA technology etc new methods need to be employed for the storage of desirable cultures In this regard freeze preservation of cells in liquid nitrogen 196 0q like that of semen enables long term storage theoretically for an indefinite period of time

Plant Development and Biotechnology Robert N. Trigiano, Dennis J. Gray, 2004-07-28 Biotechnology revolutionized traditional plant breeding programs This rapid change produced new discussions on techniques and opportunities for commerce as well as a fear of the unknown Plant Development and Biotechnology addresses the major issues of the field with chapters on broad topics written by specialists The book applies an informal style that addresses the major aspects of development and biotechnology with minimal references without sacrificing information or accuracy Divided into five primary parts this volume explores how the field emerged from its early theoretical base to the technical discipline of today It also covers progress being made with genetically engineered plants providing a snapshot of the field s controversial present Part III discusses methods for preparing media creating solutions and dilutions and accomplishing sterile culture work It investigates common methods for visualizing and documenting studies and quantifying responses of tissue culture in research Part IV delivers the essential foundation of plant tissue culture introducing the three types of commonly used culture regeneration systems Part V integrates propagation techniques with other methodologies for the modification and manipulation of germplasm Part VI concludes with special sections Subjects include in vitro plant pathology recent research into genetic and phenotypic variation the mechanics of commercial plant production and the importance of clean cultures and problems associated with maintaining in vitro cultures The final chapter analyzes entrepreneurship in the field and outlines the do s and don ts to consider when launching an enterprise

Plant Breeding Ibrokhim Y. Abdurakhmonov,2012-01-11 Modern plant breeding is considered a discipline originating from the science of genetics It is a complex subject involving the use of many interdisciplinary modern sciences and technologies that became art science and business Revolutionary developments in plant genetics and genomics and coupling plant omics achievements with advances on computer science and informatics as well as laboratory robotics further resulted in unprecedented developments in modern plant breeding enriching the traditional breeding practices with precise fast efficient and cost effective breeding tools and approaches The objective of this Plant Breeding book is to present some of the recent advances of 21st century plant breeding exemplifying novel views approaches research efforts achievements challenges and perspectives in breeding of some crop species The book chapters have presented the latest advances and comprehensive information on selected topics that will enhance the reader s knowledge of contemporary plant breeding

Cryopreservation of Tropical Plant Germplasm Florent Engelmann,2000 Development of cryopreservation techniques Importance of cryopreservation for the conservation of plant genetic resources Fundamental aspects of cryopreservation Cryopreservation techniques Ongoing cryopreservation projects Research and its application Current status of cryopreservation research and future perspectives of its application in national programmes Advances in Plant Breeding Strategies: Breeding, Biotechnology and Molecular Tools Jameel M. Al-Khayri,Shri Mohan Jain,Dennis V. Johnson,2016-02-02 The basic concept of this book is to examine the use of innovative methods augmenting traditional plant breeding towards the development of new crop varieties under different environmental conditions to achieve sustainable food production This book consists of two volumes Volume 1 subtitled Breeding Biotechnology and Molecular Tools and Volume 2 subtitled Agronomic Abiotic and Biotic Stress Traits This is Volume 1 which consists of 21 chapters covering domestication and germplasm utilization conventional breeding techniques and the role of biotechnology In addition to various biotechnological applications in plant breeding it includes functional genomics mutations and methods of detection and molecular markers In vitro techniques and their applications in plant breeding are discussed with an emphasis on embryo rescue somatic cell hybridization and somaclonal variation Other chapters cover haploid breeding transgenics cryogenics and bioinformatics Omics in Horticultural Crops Gyana Ranjan Rout,K.V.
