Children and Media Research and Practice during the Crises of 2020 Vikki S. Katz, Bradley J. Bond, 2022-10-20

This unique yearbook captures the extraordinary events and effects of 2020 on children and media scholars and practitioners. Contributors reflect on how the compounding crises of 2020—the COVID-19 pandemic, international protests for racial justice, and the climate crisis—have prompted them to re-evaluate some aspects of their research, teaching, or production related to children, adolescents, and media. Crises can be opportunities for clarity, revealing creative ways to address collective challenges. This volume, which began as a special issue of Journal of Children and Media, reveals such insights. Contributors discuss how the crises of 2020 prompted them to reconsider theories and concepts central to research on children, adolescents, and media. Fostered new priorities for how and what they teach. Spurred creative ways to produce high-quality, accessible educational media for children globally. Affected their media engagement with their own children while they researched children's media use during social distancing. Weighed more heavily on scholars and practitioners of color and how professional communities can best respond to those challenges. These 36 international contributions reveal how children and media scholars and professionals worked through the crises of 2020, putting newfound clarity to creative use in the service of children all over the world.

Living with Cerebral Palsy T. T. S. Ingram, Stella Jameson, Jane

Errington, 2014-05-12. Living with Cerebral Palsy correlates studies made in early life in patients with cerebral palsy with the status and social adjustment of the same individuals when they become adult. This book discusses the problem of fitting handicapped patients for life in the community after leaving school. Organized into eight chapters, this book begins with an overview of the fate of patients suffering from cerebral palsy once they outgrow childhood and come to seek employment or vocation in adult life. This text then examines the classification of cerebral palsy. Other chapters consider the likelihood of the handicapped being able to work in open employment or sheltered conditions or of being unemployable. This book discusses as well information about personal relationships and social life of patients. The final chapter deals with the prevalence of cerebral palsy and the types of cerebral palsy encountered in a given community. This book is a valuable resource for teachers, social workers, therapists, psychologists, and physicians.

Interrogating Conceptions of "Vulnerable Youth" in Theory, Policy and Practice Kitty te

Riele, Radhika Gorur, 2015-06-25. Young people who are considered vulnerable or at risk are a particular target of various policies, schemes, and interventions. But what does vulnerability mean? Interrogating Conceptions of Vulnerable Youth explores this question in relation to various policy fields that are relevant to young people as well for how this plays out in practice and how it is experienced by young people themselves. What makes this book unique is that most authors had the opportunity to jointly explore these issues during a two-day workshop, and their chapters are informed by their cross-agency and cross-discipline discussions making for a nuanced and thoughtful set of contributions This collection is highly recommended for researchers and research students in the social sciences as well as professional staff working in youth policy and youth services in government departments and in NGOs Those who are most vulnerable should receive our greatest moral attention However the translation of generalised moral principles into effective policy and programs has never been easy Political interests have invariably intervened leading to complex debates about how vulnerability should be defined classified measured and represented In recent years these debates have become further complicated as nation states around the world have preached austerity This timely book suggests that the responsibility for protecting the vulnerable cannot be left to individuals but demands collective action through institutions such as education health and welfare It examines some of the ways in which public policies and programs represent those who are vulnerable involving a range of assumptions about the social economic and political conditions that produce their vulnerabilities From the Foreword by Professor Fazal Rizvi
